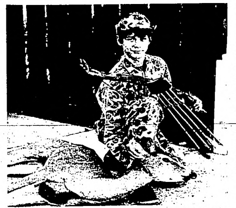
INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE



DEER SEASON for this bow and arrow hunter ended almost as soon as it began. Steve Giauque, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giauque of Thief River Falls, bagged this two-year-old doe from a tree stand north of Middle River about 6 p.m. Saturday—opening day of the season. He was hunting with his father who had seen the same deer earlier in the day. Steve missed his first shot, then hit perfectly behind the front shoulder. The deer traveled about 100 yards before it fell. This is Steve's second year of bow and arrow hunting for deer. His dad collected a deer with bow and arrow in 1973.

Police Report Six Accidents

Six automobile accidents causing total estimated damage of $2,580 to vehicles were reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

At 3:27 p.m. Friday, Debra Trontvet of the city was traveling north on Knight av. N. when she stopped for a stop sign, proceeded across the intersection and collided with a car driven by Theresa Hagman of the city which was driving west on Third street. Estimated damages were $600 to the Hagman car and $300 to the Trontvet vehicle.

In the first of two accidents reported Saturday, James Harbott, Thief River Falls, was driving on Davis Avenue South of Eighth street at 11:43 a.m. when he collided with a load of steel that was protruding into the street from a parked forklift. No damage was reported to the forklift, owned by Evans Seed, Wool and Fur, but an estimated $500 damage was reported to the Harbott car.

At 6:18 p.m., Ralph Hamlin of Red Lake Falls was driving north on Knight avenue and Steven Lerol of Gilbert was traveling west on Seventh st. when their cars met at the intersection. Damages were estimated at $250 to the Lerol car and $5 to the Hamlin vehicle.

Brian Peterson of the city was traveling north on Horace avenue at 12:50 a.m. Sunday when he stopped for a stop sign, proceeded through the intersection and collided with a car driven by Kenneth Larochelle of Crookston which was traveling west on Third street. Estimated damages were $100 to the Peterson car and $150 to the Larochelle vehicle.

Two mishaps were reported Monday afternoon. At 3:49 p.m. Mrs. Albert Johnson of Argyle was traveling south on Knight avenue when she stopped for a stop sign, proceeded across the intersection and met a city truck driven by Daniel Rivera, Thief River Falls, which was traveling west on Third street. Damage estimated at $450 was reported on the Johnson vehicle, but the truck was not damaged.

At 5:15 p.m. Michael Tuura of the city was traveling down the 200 block of Main Av. n. when, after changing to the right lane, he struck the open door of a properly parked vehicle driven by Sally Gehrke of Cass Lake. Estimated damages were $125 to the Tuura car and $100 to the Gehrke vehicle.

In other incidents, Tim Peterson of Newfolden reported Wednesday, October 1 that turkeys he had left at the Tilman Peterson residence in the city had been stolen on two different occasions. The five birds taken were valued at $25. The case is currently under investigation.

Thursday, Rob Swenson of the city said that during the night his tool box containing plumber's tools were taken from his pickup while it was parked on the 100 block of Main av. S. The value of the loss was set at $100.

Don Grabanski of the Model barbershop reported Friday that during the night, or possibly immediately after opening that morning, someone had taken the change box and money from each barber's drawer. The same day Clayton Molstad, Thief River Falls, told police his son's bicycle had been vandalized.

In one of two incidents reported Saturday, Dean Wolf of the city said that on two occasions within a week gasoline had been taken from his vehicles while parked in the alley of 314½ LaBree av. N. The loss was valued at $35.

Jon Weiner of the city reported at 8:30 p.m. that his car was taken from the Northland Foods parking lot. It was found north of St. Hilaire at 10:30 p.m., driven by a 14-year-old juvenile.

Monday, Loren Flom, Thief River Falls, told police that the back window of his vehicle had been broken with a rock, causing $50 damage. Bob Thompson of the city said four squares of shingles valued at $80 had been taken from his residence in the last two weeks. Northland Foods apprehended a male juvenile shoplifter, 14, for allegedly taking items valued at a total of $2.03.

SECOND AWARD as a Paul Harris Fellow in the Thief River Falls Rotary club was made Monday at the regular meeting in the Elks club rooms. Bill Duckworth, president of the club for 1974-75, received the award from Fred Kegel, right, District 558 president of Rotary International. At left is Bob Poissant, president of the local club for the current year. Paul Harris Fellow awards are presented to persons who contribute $1,000 or more to the Rotary Foundation international scholarship program. Duckworth received the award as a result of a club project. L.B. Hartz was the club's first Paul Harris Fellow. District Governor Kegel, Detroit Lakes, was making his official visit to the Thief River Falls club on Monday when he made the presentation.

FU President Criticizes Butz On Milk Prices

Agriculture secretary Earl Butz' recent announcement about increased price supports for milk is politically motivated at a time when both farmers and the public are fed up with his farm policies, a Minnesota farm leader said recently.

Cy Carpenter, Minnesota Farmers union president, said that "The announcement by the agriculture secretary only continues his behavior of dishonesty and deceitfulness to farmers and consumers."

The four-cent increase per gallon in the price support for manufacturing milk raises the prices from $7.24 to $7.71 per hundred wight, or, according to secretary Butz, 80 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity price for milk based on mid-September data. USDA experts noted that farmers were averaging $8.03 a hundredweight for manufacturing grade milk on the open market in mid-September.

"That doesn't hold much water with our farmers in Minnesota who are receiving around $7.70 per hundredweight. Try to explain to our farmers about averages when in most cases they are receiving below cost of production," Carpenter said.

"The 'fair earning power parity' Butz uses is parity and no amount of deceptive comment can change this."

Carpenter also stated that Butz is deceiving the consumer as well as the farmer, when he says this four-cent increase will have no immediate effect on the impact of retail prices.

"With his typical split-tongue technique, he says he is taking this action because farmers need incentives to stay in dairying and insure adequate supplies. With Minnesota dairymen quitting at a faster rate this year than last and with production estimates for this year at the lowest since 1952, the consumer will face a definite shortage of dairy supplies and much higher prices."

While the 80 per cent of parity referred to is not enough for farmers, Butz is still violating the law by not technically maintaining this price to farmers, Carpenter contends. "We are anxious to bring Butz into court and demand at least the bare minimum that farmers are entitled to."

Marshall ASC Gives Committee Vote To Farmers

A change in the upcoming ASC committeeman election procedure has been adopted, according to Einar Strandquist, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee.

All counties are now considered one-community counties and will no longer have community committeemen. Prior to this change, Marshall county had eight communities with 24 committeemen. The 24 community committeemen met to elect the county committeeman and the first and second alternate. In the upcoming election, which will be by mail ballot, producers will now vote directly for the county committeemen.

Nominations will be accepted through October 28 and from this list of nominees producers will elect a county committeeman and a first and second alternate.

The opportunity to nominate, vote and be elected to office is guaranteed to all farmers regardless of race, religion, sex, color or national origin, Strandquist said.

YESTERDAY TODAY and FOREVER

Christopher Columbus had trouble recruiting sailors for his early voyages. Men were afraid, but the bravest enlisted and sailed off to the wonders of a new world.

Most of us are afraid of the unknown. We have our qualms and doubts about a new job, moving to a strange city, beginning a marriage, or simply facing the uncertainties of tomorrow. We do not know what lies ahead, and we worry about being able to cope with it. In this ever-changing world, we instinctively yearn for that which does not change.

Whatever tomorrow brings, we can have the peaceful conviction that the love of God for His children is trustworthy and everlasting.

Discover an abiding security. Worship this Sunday.

"Where Your Business Is Appreciated"

Minn. Tourist, Travel Industry Registers Gains

Second quarter 1975 tourist-travel industry for Minnesota shows the effects of increased summer demand for recreational activities. Although business travel appears to have remained stable, recreational and vacation travel registered healthy gains in Minnesota during April, May and June over the same period in 1974.

Nationally, according to a recently released survey by the U.S. travel data center (USTDC), more people seem to be traveling together, i.e. travel party size. These people are traveling greater distances for longer duration. Also increasing is the number of weekend pleasure trips. However, there has been a cutback in medium-distance trips in favor of the long-distance and shorter weekend pleasure trips.

According to USTDC, national automobile travel has rebounded in 1975 from the depressed level of 1974. This appears to correspond with the trend in Minnesota when automobile usage increased substantially in most regions of the state in the second quarter. Traffic on all state trunk highways was up approximately 3.4 per cent for the second quarter as compared with the same quarter last year.

Only one of the six tourist regions, Pioneerland in southwestern Minnesota, showed a decrease during the second quarter. The Arrowhead region in Minnesota's northeast showed the largest growth with an 11.3 per cent increase over this quarter in 1974.

Minnesota highway information centers on the interstate highways reported an increase of 22.3 per cent for the quarter over last year. June figures were up 30.4 per cent from a year ago indicating renewed interest in Minnesota by out-of-state travelers.

Gasoline delivered for highway use to licensed distributors was up four per cent for the quarter.

Business trips changed very little in Minnesota during the second quarter. Nationally, the major change noted was a shift from air travel to greater use of the automobile as reported by USTDC. Figures released by the metropolitan airports commission (MAC) indicate this may be the case in Minnesota where airline passenger service was off 3.6 per cent for the second quarter. Car rental receipts from MAC showed only a slight 1.6 per cent increase indicating a curtailed growth in contrast to the boom in rentals during the past four years.

State park attendance for the quarter was up 6.5 per cent. This increased usage of Minnesota state parks was primarily due to the increased popularity of Minnesota destination trips by Minnesotans. Camping at selected state parks increased 11.3 per cent in the quarter.

Accommodation tax receipts were up substantially for the quarter in Duluth where an increase of 40.3 per cent was recorded. Some of this can be attributed to higher room rates, but the major portion is due to increased hotel-motel business activity in the area. Minneapolis also showed a 5.7 per cent increase.

Second quarter employment in eating and drinking places in Minnesota showed an increase of 5.3 per cent although employment in Minnesota's lodging industry declined 2.2 per cent.

In summary, the second quarter activities in the travel industry for Minnesota indicate that although business trips seem to have remained relatively stable, the recreational trips have increased in frequency, putting more people on Minnesota highways.

Generally, pleasure travel has increased throughout Minnesota, notably across the northern sections of the state; whereas, last year's traffic showed monthly decreases for this period. It appears that the consistent availability of gasoline over the last year has made this state a more popular destination for both out-of-state travelers and Minnesotans.

COLUMBUS DIDN'T TURN BACK

Discovering places and things can be pretty discouraging. When Columbus arrived on this continent nearly 500 years ago his crew was sick, disheartened and ready to turn back. Even the medicines they carried were primitive and not sufficient to help with their problems.

Another more modern group of explorers are those who toil in research laboratories, looking for and testing new drugs. Fortunately, these pioneers did not turn back either and today many once feared diseases have been cured. Hopefully, in the not too distant future more new disease fighting medicines will be appearing in our pharmacy laboratory.

Viking Mission Searches For Life On Mars

by Bill Hafling, Writer
University of Minnesota Science

"Whatever it is, it will be microscopic in size and able to live in extreme cold and to get along on little or no oxygen or water. Exactly what life on Mars might look like—if any exists at all—stirs the Earth-bound imagination.

"We don't expect to find elephants or alligators," said Alfred O.C. Nier, regents' professor of physics at the University of Minnesota. "But we might find some very primitive life at present, or that there was life in the past, for instance, or that, chemically the conditions on Mars are ripe for having life."

Nier, who is head of the National aeronautics and space administration's (NASA) entry science team for the recently launched Viking flight to Mars (September 9), said that a central theme for the Viking program has been to look for life.

"Thus, there's a whole set of experiments relating to the planetology and geology that you might expect to find associated with life. The whole project has about a dozen teams of scientists devoted to different problems".

Three of the Viking experiments will be direct biology experiments, involving studies of photosynthesis and metabolism with materials sampled on Mars. These studies will be supplemented with molecular analysis of the Martian surface and atmosphere.

Another experiment will look for organic compounds of "likely kinds" using sophisticated analytical instruments, including a mass spectrometer developed after some 40 years of research at the University of Minnesota.

"Nobody will stick out his neck one way or another on this, but it does appear if there is life anywhere else in our solar system, Mars is the most likely place that you'll find it," Nier said.

"It is quite a bit colder than here, sort of like Antarctica, but things do live in Antarctica. As you know, there's a tremendous range of living forms existing under different conditions. Some things can live in practically boiling water, such as at Yellowstone. And things will live way down deep in the ocean where there's high pressure."

Summing up, Nier said that there "is a finite chance we might find something. It would be one of the greatest discoveries of all time, if we did. We're playing for awfully big stakes here."

Nier said that such a discovery on Mars would raise the next "interesting philosophical question."

"At the present time, the Earth is the only place that we know of on which anything is living, in the sense that we know living things. Of course, we know that there are many millions of billions of suns elsewhere that must have satellites around them, just like our sun and its planets. Why couldn't you have life on these?

"It's going to be a long time before anybody can get out of our solar system to go someplace else. Surely, if you could find life elsewhere in our solar system, such as Mars, that would add considerably to the idea—much more likely—that you'd find life somewhere else."

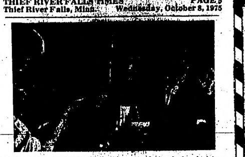
The Mariner 9 orbiter of 1971-72 (still orbiting Mars) took more than 7,000 pictures of the planet. These pictures showed huge volcanoes, long, deep valleys and a geology that looks as if it were carved by water action. If there was water action, the mystery remains: what became of this water? If there was not, what forces could have cut Mars' surface in ways only water does on Earth?

"We know now that there is very little loose water on Mars," Nier said. "There's a little bit of water in the atmosphere and apparently some in the polar caps. The polar area is mostly dry ice (carbon dioxide), but there must be ordinary water mixed in with this in small amounts. People have speculated that maybe there's a lot of permafrost with water buried there right now."

Scientists hope to solve some of these mysteries beginning in June 1976, when Viking 1 reaches Mars after a voyage of 505 million miles (815 million kilometers). The entry science equipment on the unmanned craft will measure the atmospheric composition of Mars from the time the lander and orbiter separate until the lander touches down on Mars' surface.

Nitrogen, believed essential to life-forms as known on earth, will be especially looked for. So far, this chemical has yet to be detected on Mars. Scientists believe that further knowledge of the general chemical composition of other planets will help them understand the process of planetary evolution.

Lander 1 is expected to touch down in July 1976, followed by Lander 2 coming from a separate orbiter (Viking 2) sometime in September 1976. The two instrument packages, located on different parts of Mars' surface, will allow scientists to learn much more about the planet's biology, chemistry, geology and physical and magnetic properties. They believe this knowledge will ultimately be useful in understanding the Earth better, as well.



Michael Caine (right) is surprised by a guard when he breaks into a plant in this scene from "The Wilby Conspiracy," which will open Oct. 10 at the Falls Twin Theatre, downtown. Sidney Poitier is co-starred.

Viking Mission Searches For Life On Mars

by Bill Hafling, Writer
University of Minnesota Science

Whatever it is, it will be microscopic in size and able to live in extreme cold and to get along on little or no oxygen or water. Exactly what life on Mars might look like—if any exists at all—stirs the Earth-bound imagination.

"We don't expect to find elephants or alligators," said Alfred O.C. Nier, regents' professor of physics at the University of Minnesota. "But we might find some very primitive life at present, or that there was life in the past, for instance, or that, chemically the conditions on Mars are ripe for having life."

Nier, who is head of the National aeronautics and space administration's (NASA) entry science team for the recently launched Viking flight to Mars (September 9), said that a central theme for the Viking program has been to look for life.

"Thus, there's a whole set of experiments relating to the planetology and geology that you might expect to find associated with life. The whole project has about a dozen teams of scientists devoted to different problems"

Three of the Viking experiments will be direct biology experiments, involving studies of photosynthesis and metabolism with materials sampled on Mars. These studies will be supplemented with molecular analysis of the Martian surface and atmosphere.

Another experiment will look for organic compounds of "likely kinds" using sophisticated analytical instruments, including a mass spectrometer developed after some 40 years of research at the University of Minnesota.

"Nobody will stick out his neck one way or another on this, but it does appear if there is life anywhere else in our solar system, Mars is the most likely place that you'll find it," Nier said.

"It is quite a bit colder than here, sort of like Antarctica, but things do live in Antarctica. As you know, there's a tremendous range of living forms existing under different conditions. Some things can live in practically boiling water, such as at Yellowstone. And things will live way down deep in the ocean where there's high pressure."

Summing up, Nier said that there "is a finite chance we might find something. It would be one of the greatest discoveries of all time, if we did. We're playing for awfully big stakes here."

Nier said that such a discovery on Mars would raise the next "interesting philosophical question."

"At the present time, the Earth is the only place that we know of on which anything is living, in the sense that we know living things. Of course, we know that there are many millions of billions of suns elsewhere that must have satellites around them, just like our sun and its planets. Why couldn't you have life on these?

"It's going to be a long time before anybody can get out of our solar system to go someplace else. Surely, if you could find life elsewhere in our solar system, such as Mars, that would add considerably to the idea—much more likely—that you'd find life somewhere else."

The Mariner 9 orbiter of 1971-72 (still orbiting Mars) took more than 7,000 pictures of the planet. These pictures showed huge volcanoes, long, deep valleys and a geology that looks as if it were carved by water action. If there was water action, the mystery remains: what became of this water? If there was not, what forces could have cut Mars' surface in ways only water does on Earth?

"We know now that there is very little loose water on Mars," Nier said. "There's a little bit of water in the atmosphere and apparently some in the polar caps. The polar area is mostly dry ice (carbon dioxide), but there must be ordinary water mixed in with this in small amounts. People have speculated that maybe there's a lot of permafrost with water buried there right now."

Scientists hope to solve some of these mysteries beginning in June 1976, when Viking 1 reaches Mars after a voyage of 505 million miles (815 million kilometers). The entry science equipment on the unmanned craft will measure the atmospheric composition of Mars from the time the lander and orbiter separate until the lander touches down on Mars' surface.

Nitrogen, believed essential to life systems as known on earth, will be especially looked for. So far, this chemical has yet to be detected on Mars. Scientists believe that further knowledge of the general chemical composition of other planets will help them understand the process of planetary evolution.

Lander 1 is expected to touch down in July 1976, followed by Lander 2 coming from a separate orbiter (Viking 2) sometime in September 1976. The two instrument packages, located on different parts of Mars' surface, will allow scientists to learn much more about the planet's biology, chemistry, geology and physical and magnetic properties. They believe this knowledge will ultimately be useful in understanding the Earth better, as well.

"An education isn't how much you have committed to memory, or even how much you know. It's being able to differentiate between what you know and what you don't. It's knowing where to go to find out, and it's knowing how to use the information once you get it."

A Tougher Approach

Only a few years ago Thief River Falls area residents could look on violent crime as something which only happened someplace else. In just the last several years there have been armed robberies, alleged attempted murder, rapes and attempted rapes within the community. Along with the violent and potentially fatal crimes, there has been a marked increase in burglaries, thefts and shoplifting.

Thief River Falls, sad to say, is following the state and national trend as crime shows an increase in report after report.

One of the people calling for "a tougher and more modern approach to corrections" is Sen. Mel Frederick, a state legislator from the Owatonna and Rochester area of Minnesota. He has called on the governor to take that approach "before the people of the state rise up and demand it."

Whether Sen. Frederick knows it or not, the people have already demanded some changes. The public can rise up without having an uprising, and we feel that Minnesotans in all walks of life are dissatisfied with the so-called criminal justice system in the state.

"The people in my district are fed up with story after story of parolees committing violent crimes shortly after they are released," Sen. Frederick said.

He cited the instance of a parolee from the St. Cloud reformatory being charged with rape the same day he was released, although his probation officer, county sheriff and county attorney all had said he was too dangerous to be paroled.

"The previous approaches obviously haven't worked," he said, "and reasonable people see the folly of continuing them . . . The people in Minnesota are bewildered. The state discourages them from owning guns yet has no qualms about paroling hardened and unreformed criminals to prey on them. It's sheer lunacy."

And while Frederick's comments may be highly politically-motivated, he speaks the truth about the need for a tougher approach.

Pay and Productivity

Following commentary was written by Neal R. Peirce, a reporter and writer on American politics and government:

Out of the pain of this recession year are coming the first signs that the spiraling wage and fringe-benefit demands of public employees can be curbed. But the job can only be done where a governor or mayor successfully dramatizes the issue by making it clear to the public that any further union gains will be paid directly out of taxpayers' pockets and that the issue may really be who's in charge—elected officials or the unions.

Pennsylvania provides a striking test case. Almost 50,000 state employees struck in July, the biggest strike of state or local workers in U.S. history. The union demanded a 30-per cent pay increase, later scaling its demand down to 10 per cent. But Democratic Gov. Milton Shapp said it was a year to hold the line and stuck with the state's offer of 3.5 per cent. Weakened by court orders sending many essential employees back to work, the union quickly settled for what amounted to only 1.25 per cent more than the state's offer.

In Seattle, members of the politically potent firefighters local launched a recall movement against Democratic Mayor Wes Uhlman after a dispute about management of the fire department. Uhlman was able to frame the issue quite simply—"Whether elected officials or public employees are going to manage the city's business." Support for the handsomely paid firemen quickly evaporated, and Uhlman won the recall election with 63.2 per cent of the vote.

Not all tests of union power have come out this way. In Illinois, Democratic Gov. Dan Walker vetoed a bill pushed by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) to give each state employee a $100 monthly raise. But the union stormed the Legislature and got Walker's veto overridden.

At the Mayors Conference in Boston in July, Uhlman said many mayors had told him they wished they could have a plebiscite like Seattle's so that they could bargain with the unions knowing the public stood behind them.

What those officeholders may realize, of course, is that there's no way to balance their budgets without absolutely unpalatable tax increases—unless they're tough with government employees. Before them stands the model of New York, now threatened with municipal insolvency because it pays (if you include fringe benefits) $21,359 a year to its average policeman, $18,558 for a garbage man, $24,481 for a teacher. In Uhlman's Seattle, the total pay, overtime and pension cost of a policeman or fireman is almost $25,000.

But if highly visible, elected top officeholders can resist union pressures, the same isn't necessarily true of state legislators. They can be subjected to heady political pressure generally outside the public's view. In state after state, legislators who buck the unions are pinpointed for defeat—and often retired involuntarily.

The public-employee unions are succeeding so brilliantly because they can deliver the two most needed components of campaigns—money and manpower (not to mention the votes of their members, members' families and friends). Last year in California, government-employee groups contributed $1.7 million, making them the biggest single contributor to elections in the nation's largest state. Moreover, government workers are literate, dedicated, go-to-meeting folks who can provide hard-pressed candidates with expert research, mailings and door-to-door canvasses. According to an official of the Colorado Education Association, "We play to our strength—and our strength is 22,000 teachers whom we have at the same place, six hours every day, nine months of the year." (Those teachers are so nicely assembled, of course, at the taxpayers' expense.)

The dividends government workers accrue in influencing a legislature don't stope at state salaries; they extend to terms of employment, pensions and bargaining rules clear down to the city and county level. This year the unions even persuaded the Connecticut Legislature to force local officials to submit unresolved disputes with government workers to binding arbitration—thus removing final decision over pay from the hands of elected officials.

Union pressures are a major reason the average pay of state and local government workers went up 28 per cent faster than those in private industry between 1955 and 1973. In that process, a lot of inequities, including almost subhuman wages in a number of states and cities, where corrected—a major accomplishment of AFSCME and other public-worker unions.

One can still find islands of inequitably low government pay, particularly in rural states and areas. Starting pay in New Mexico government is so low, for instance, that many workers qualify for food stamps. But in the larger states and in all but a handful of big metropolitan areas, government workers have been transformed from an underprivileged segment of society to one that is frequently overpaid.

As long as the national economy was expanding each year, all but a few jurisdictions could easily bear the burden of added salary and fringe benefits for their work forces. But now recession has reversed that picture, and energy shortages suggest that our economy may never return to the expansionist days of the '60s and early '70s. Added government-worker benefits will require new taxes, reducing the real income of everyone else.

To add more light than heat to the debate about public salaries, there's a need for careful comparisons of pay for similar jobs in government and private industry. Government workers should be adequately paid, but it's hard to justify their salaries and fringe benefits leaping ahead of those of the general public that foots the bill. Beyond that, there's the question of getting more efficient service out of sluggish bureaucracies. In Uhlman's words, "As the demands (of the unions) grow, if productivity does not grow with pay, then every city is in trouble."

Until better productivity and pay-comparison studies are done for (and by) the taxpayers, they'll find that raw pressure-group politics, rather than what's fair for government worker and taxpayer alike, will decide the issue of who gets how much of the income pie in their states and cities.

Borrowed Nonsense

For more than a year a man had eaten in a small restaurant whose sign read, "Mary's Home Cooking," But never once had he seen Mary.

Finally his curiosity got the best of him and he said to the waitress, "I've been having lunch in here for a long time and Mary is never around. Where is she?"

"She's just where the sign says she is," the waitress answered. "Home Cooking."

Uncle Buckle sez his wife had plastic surgery. He cut off her credit cards.

Restaurant patron: "Two eggs, please. Don't fry them a second after the white is cooked. Don't turn them over. Not too much grease. Just a pinch of salt. No pepper. Well, waitress, what are you waiting for?"

Waitress: "The hen's name is Eleanor—is that all right?"

MINNESOTA REPORT

WALTER F. MONDALE

If we are to have the healthy competition needed to continue strong, noninflationary economic growth, we must do all we can to keep family farms from being taken over by huge corporate farming operations, and to keep independent and innovative small businesses from being taken over by large outside corporations.

Our estate and gift tax laws are intended in part to prevent excessive concentrations of wealth. Yet, in their application to small businesses and family farms, they may inadvertently be increasing it.

At a hearing held in Minneapolis on August 26 before the Senate Small Business Committee and the Joint Economic Committee, we heard from a number of small businessmen and farmers about the problems they face in paying federal estate taxes and of the severe burden this could place on their estate and their heirs.

In some cases, our witnesses testified, it could prove necessary to sell part or all of a family farm or business in order to pay estate taxes.

I have just this week introduced a bill that will help ease this problem by increasing the state tax exemption to $150,000, allowing farms to be valued for estate tax purposes at no more than their value for farming, and liberalizing the provisions which allow the estate tax to be paid in installments over 10 years.

The present $60,000 estate tax exemption has not been changed since 1942, and increasing it to $150,000 would help to make up for the enormous increase in prices during that period.

When farms are located near rapidly growing areas, the value of the land for purposes other than farming often far exceeds its farm value. If the property is valued for estate tax purposes at its non-farm value, the heavy estate tax could well force heirs to sell the farm to pay the tax. The bill I've proposed would allow the land to be valued for estate tax purposes at its value for farming as long as the land is ke[illegible] the family and continues to be used for farming.

These changes would substantially ease the growing burden of the federal estate tax on family farms and businesses. They should be an important part of any package of comprehensive estate and gift tax reforms.

Take not from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned.

Drivers Warned Of Fog Danger During Autumn

Cool autumn nights coming soon in Minnesota will occasionally be leaving heavy ground fog in the morning as the latest in seasonal driving hazards according to the Minnesota state patrol.

Troopers in the northern lake areas of the state have already reported fog thick enough to provide a reduced visibility driving hazard, particularly near rivers, lakes and lowland areas during the early morning and evening.

According to records of the Minnesota department of public safety, fog was an influencing weather condition in over 700 crashes last year, 14 of which resulted in fatalities. Potential crash danger in fog is heightened by the possibility of a chain reaction crash in which a number of vehicles traveling a little too fast and a little too close together end up in one large crash when the lead vehicle stops suddenly and the following vehicles pile up behind it.

The patrol offered the following tips to drivers who find themselves confronted with foggy limited visibility situation: —In any fog, day or night, use full headlamps, not just parking lights, so other drivers will see you. High beams may create excessive glare, and should not be used exclusively in fog, but it may help to occasionally flick beams onto high for a moment to reveal reflectorized danger in the distance ahead of you. —Before entering patches of fog, flash your brake lights to let drivers behind you know you are slowing down. As fog cuts visibility, slow down and increase the cushion of space between you and the traffic ahead, thus further reducing the chances of a chain reaction crash. —If the fog is so thick that you decide to cease driving, pull well off the roadway and activate your four-way flashers. If possible, get completely off the road via an exit ramp or rest area. A parking lot is a better place to wait than on the roadway. —If you should be involved in an accident, get everyone out of the car and off the roadway immediately. If stalled or disabled on the highway in fog, you may become the starting point for the chain reaction crash as other cars continue to travel toward you unaware that the road is blocked ahead.

If you're thinking about buying your own phone system, ask the salesman these four questions.
His answers may change your mind.

1. Listen, you say my monthly cost would be a little less if I owned my equipment, but what about the total cost over the long run? Like maintenance—does your price include repair labor costs after the guarantee expires? And how long am I going to have to hold on to the system before it pays for itself? Do you really think it'll last that long?

2. If I should move my business to a new location, how long is it going to take you to hook up my phone system and get it working again? What am I supposed to do all that time without service?

3. If the size of my business should change and my phone system can't adapt to the new size, what will that cost? Is there really any market for an outgrown and used phone system?

4. What about taxes? Is your contract written so costs are fully deductible as an operating expense, or do they fall under capital investment? How about sales tax—wouldn't that wipe out my investment credit?

There are a lot of other important questions you should ask before you make your decision. Give us a call at 218-847-3142 and [illegible] be glad to fill you in on all of them.

If you're thinking about buying your own phone system, ask the salesman these four questions.
His answers may change your mind.

1. Listen, you say my monthly cost would be a little less if I owned my equipment, but what about the total cost over the long run? Like maintenance—does your price include repair labor costs after the guarantee expires? And how long am I going to have to hold on to the system before it pays for itself? Do you really think it'll last that long?

2. If I should move my business to a new location, how long is it going to take you to hook up my phone system and get it working again? What am I supposed to do all that time without service?

3. If the size of my business should change and my phone system can't adapt to the new size, what will that cost? Is there really any market for an outgrown and used phone system?

4. What about taxes? Is your contract written so costs are fully deductible as an operating expense, or do they fall under capital investment? How about sales tax—wouldn't that wipe out my investment credit?

There are a lot of other important questions you should ask before you make your decision. Give us a call at 218-847-3142 and [illegible] be glad to fill you in on all of them.

Fall Silhouettes Flatter All Women — For a Change

NEW YORK, N.Y.—American designers have come to recognize that all women are not created perfect—or even equal. No matter. Whatever size a woman is, she wants to look her best and now there are many flattering styles for fall from which to choose.

Take dresses. The loose dress, now more defined, can be gathered at the waist to flatter any size, from slim to full. Even layered looks can be achieved without adding bulk to larger figures, by means of simple jumper dresses worn over thin turtlenecks.

Sportswear, artfully styled, makes classic good sense for women with problem figures. Straight pants, cuffed or uncuffed, can be flattering if they fit correctly. Country Set cuts a straight-legged pant with pleating detail at the waist and teams it with a classic shirt jacket hitting at the hips (photo right). Besides creating a long, lean look, the suit has a hidden asset. It's Wear-Dated, which means it is warranted for a full year's normal wear, refund or replacement when returned with tag and sales slip to Monsanto.

Two good looks that give all women a headstart on a good-looking season in the mainstream of American fashion!

Don't Smoke Day Is Scheduled Oct. 21st

Although most smokers are generally aware of the health hazards of smoking, many do not fully realize the extent of the consequences to which their habit exposes them, Tom Cousins, Minneapolis, state chairman of Minnesota D-Day, said recently.

Minnesota D-Day, that Don't Smoke Day on October 21, will zero in on those hazards, Cousins said. Its aim: To get smokers throughout the state to quit for that day, and to encourage them to quit smoking for good.

Cigarette smoking has been branded as the greatest single cause of preventable death in the U.S.A. today. It is, in the words of a former surgeon general, "a chronic form of suicide" on the installment plan.

Facts bear this out:

The death rate from lung cancer for cigarette smokers is 10 times that of non-smokers. An estimated 81,000 die of lung cancer annually in the U.S. Chances of being cured of lung cancer are about one in 20, since most cases are incurable at the moment of discovery.

The lung cancer death rate for women has doubled in the past 10 years, reflecting the sharp rise in women's smoking.

Male smokers between 45-64 have death rates from coronary heart disease three times those of non-smokers. Among Americans of all ages, 20 per cent of all heart attack deaths can be blamed on cigarette smoking. An estimated 120,000 men who smoke cigarettes die prematurely in the U.S. each year from heart attacks and strokes.

Emphysema, a relatively rare disease a few years ago, is now a major cause of disability. It is a crippler and a killer. Cigarette smoking is the primary cause of emphysema as well as chronic bronchitis. Together they kill approximately 30,000 Americans each year.

Cigarette smokers' death rates from cancer of the upper respiratory tract (lips, tongue, mouth, pharnyx, larnyx and esophagus) are six times that of non-smokers, age 45-64. Pipe and cigar smokers had death rates from these causes about four times greater than non-smokers. Pipe and cigar smokers also experience an increased risk of lung cancer than non-smokers—plus a slightly higher incidence of coronary heart disease.

The life expectancy of a man of 25 who is a non-smoker is more than eight years greater than that of a man who smokes one or more packs of cigarettes a day. Twice as many 25-year-old men who are heavy smokers (two packs or more a day) will die before reaching 65 as compared to non-smokers. Each cigarette smoked takes 14.4 minutes off the smoker's life.

Women smokers who are pregnant have a 30 per cent higher rate of stillbirths than non-smoking mothers. An estimated 4,600 stillbirths each year in the U.S. are attributed to women's smoking habits during pregnancy. In addition, their babies weigh less on the average. One study showed a doubled risk of congenital heart defects among the babies of women who smoked while pregnant. Furthermore, an increased rate of infertility has been found among would-be mothers who consume cigarettes.

Teen-age smoking among girls has caught up with smoking among boys. If the present rate of smoking continues, an estimated 1,000,000 American children now in school will die of lung cancer alone.

Statistically, these are hard facts on smoking. And they are alarming.

But statistics alone do not reveal the wide range of the health perils and problems caused by smoking. For example:

Acute illnesses, mostly respiratory, are twice as prevalent among children in homes where parents smoke. And if parents smoke, there's a greater likelihood that their children will, too.

A study showed an automotive accident rate for smokers to be nearly twice as high as that of non-smokers.

Smoking has been linked to premature wrinkling, and to balding among men. And in more than one independent study, smoking has been indicated as having an adverse effect on a person's sexual vigor, even to the point of causing impotency and infertility in heavy smokers.

Though not directly a health problem, fires in buildings and homes caused by smoking kill and injure people just as surely as smoking-related diseases. An estimated 1,800 deaths occur annually from fires as the result of careless smoking.

The actual health of a non-smoker can be affected adversely by other people's smoking, scientific evidence has shown.

"With its emphasis on the health consequences of smoking, Minnesota D-Day could be the impetus for smokers to make the personal decision to quit." Cousins, who heads the state special educational endeavor sponsored by 16 state agencies, said. "In kicking the habit, smokers will not only free themselves of a habit that is messy, costly, and an incendiary threat to themselves and their families, but also will virtually assure themselves of healthier and longer lives."

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE—That's what agricultural scientists are practicing these days to guard U.S. crops against possible invasion from foreign plant diseases. Plant Pathologist Chris Schmitt checks corn leaves for evidence of downy mildew fungus in a special dew chamber that simulates environmental conditions under which the fungus develops and spreads.

Senior Citizen News

It was a lovely sunny day Thursday, Sept. 25, when the Senior Citizens met for their weekly meeting. Some were absent, as only 20 registered in our guest book.

Martin Eskildsen got a ride West, so he left for his home in Phoenix, Ariz., otherwise he had planned to visit our center before leaving for home.

Wendell Lindgren and Albin Wikholm of Karlstad came to visit and joined the men at the whist table. Other visitors were Mrs. Elsie Donarski of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Vance Lefrooth, Mrs. Anthony Kozmierczah, Jeffrey and Juanita, Kevin Nelson and Melanie Lefrooth.

Polly was kept busy wrapping and pricing items, some ladies had made at home. Ruth brought a pair of pillow cases she had crocheted on. A few ladies pulled fluff and stuffed sofa pillows. Others were busy sewing and a couple of ladies made some owl sets.

It was our bingo day but we plan to have a fall sale October 25, so we must work, work, work.

We hope to put in some extra working days to prepare items for this sale. Besides there were just a few bingo prizes on hand, not enough for many bingo games. Let's remember to bring some prizes anytime. We can save them until our next bingo day.

A special meeting was called for Wednesday at 5 p.m. when Laverne Swan of Hallock was here to speak on meals for senior citizens. There were five ladies present at this meeting. More on this later.

Bertha Holmstrom was hostess.

Irene Larson, reporter

Fall Silhouettes Flatter All Women — For a Change

NEW YORK, N.Y.—American designers have come to recognize that all women are not created perfect—or even equal. No matter. Whatever size a woman is, she wants to look her best and now there are many flattering styles for fall from which to choose.

Take dresses. The loose dress, now more defined, can be gathered at the waist to flatter any size, from slim to full. Even layered looks can be achieved without adding bulk to larger figures, by means of simple jumper dresses worn over thin turtlenecks.

Sportswear, artfully styled, makes classic good sense for women with problem figures. Straight pants, cuffed or uncuffed, can be flattering if they fit correctly. Country Set cuts a straight-legged pant with pleating detail at the waist and teams it with a classic shirt jacket hitting at the hips (photo right). Besides creating a long, lean look, the suit has a hidden asset. It's Wear-Dated, which means it is warranted for a full year's normal wear, refund or replacement when returned with tag and sales slip to Monsanto.

Two good looks that give all women a headstart on a good-looking season in the mainstream of American fashion!

Don't Smoke Day Is Scheduled Oct. 21st

Although most smokers are generally aware of the health hazards of smoking, many do not fully realize the extent of the consequences to which their habit exposes them, Tom Cousins, Minneapolis, state chairman of Minnesota D-Day, said recently.

Minnesota D-Day, that Don't Smoke Day on October 21, will zero in on those hazards, Cousins said. Its aim: To get smokers throughout the state to quit for that day, and to encourage them to quit smoking for good.

Cigarette smoking has been branded as the greatest single cause of preventable death in the U.S.A. today. It is, in the words of a former surgeon general, "a chronic form of suicide" on the installment plan.

Facts bear this out:

The death rate from lung cancer for cigarette smokers is 10 times that of non-smokers. An estimated 81,000 die of lung cancer annually in the U.S. Chances of being cured of lung cancer are about one in 20, since most cases are incurable at the moment of discovery.

The lung cancer death rate for women has doubled in the past 10 years, reflecting the sharp rise in women's smoking.

Male smokers between 45-64 have death rates from coronary heart disease three times those of non-smokers. Among Americans of all ages, 20 per cent of all heart attack deaths can be blamed on cigarette smoking. An estimated 120,000 men who smoke cigarettes die prematurely in the U.S. each year from heart attacks and strokes.

Emphysema, a relatively rare disease a few years ago, is now a major cause of disability. It is a crippler and a killer. Cigarette smoking is the primary cause of emphysema as well as chronic bronchitis. Together they kill approximately 30,000 Americans each year.

Cigarette smokers' death rates from cancer of the upper respiratory tract (lips, tongue, mouth, pharnyx, larnyx and esophagus) are six times that of non-smokers, age 45-64. Pipe and cigar smokers had death rates from these causes about four times greater than non-smokers. Pipe and cigar smokers also experience an increased risk of lung cancer than non-smokers—plus a slightly higher incidence of coronary heart disease.

The life expectancy of a man of 25 who is a non-smoker is more than eight years greater than that of a man who smokes one or more packs of cigarettes a day. Twice as many 25-year-old-men who are heavy smokers (two packs or more a day) will die before reaching 65 as compared to non-smokers. Each cigarette smoked takes 14.4 minutes off the smoker's life.

Women smokers who are pregnant have a 30 per cent higher rate of stillbirths than non-smoking mothers. An estimated 4,600 stillbirths each year in the U.S. are attributed to women's smoking habits during pregnancy. In addition, their babies weigh less on the average. One study showed a doubled risk of congenital heart defects among the babies of women who smoked while pregnant. Furthermore, an increased rate of infertility has been found among would-be mothers who consume cigarettes.

Teen-age smoking among girls has caught up with smoking among boys. If the present rate of smoking continues, an estimated 1,000,000 American children now in school will die of lung cancer alone.

Statistically, these are hard facts on smoking. And they are alarming.

But statistics alone do not reveal the wide range of the health perils and problems caused by smoking. For example:

Acute illnesses, mostly respiratory, are twice as prevalent among children in homes where parents smoke. And if parents smoke, there's a greater likelihood that their children will, too.

A study showed an automotive accident rate for smokers to be nearly twice as high as that of non-smokers.

Smoking has been linked to premature wrinkling, and to balding among men. And in more than one independent study, smoking has been indicated as having an adverse effect on a person's sexual vigor, even to the point of causing impotency and infertility in heavy smokers.

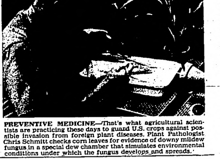
Though not directly a health problem, fires in buildings and homes caused by smoking kill and injure people just as surely as smoking-related diseases. An estimated 1,800 deaths occur annually from fires as the result of careless smoking.

The actual health of a non-smoker can be affected adversely by other people's smoking, scientific evidence has shown.

"With its emphasis on the health consequences of smoking, Minnesota D-Day could be the impetus for smokers to make the personal decision to quit." Cousins, who heads the state special educational endeavor sponsored by 16 state agencies, said. "In kicking the habit, smokers will not only free themselves of a habit that is messy, costly, and an incendiary threat to themselves and their families, but also will virtually assure themselves of healthier and longer lives."



PREVENTIVE MEDICINE—That's what agricultural scientists are practicing these days to guard U.S. crops against possible invasion from foreign plant diseases. Plant Pathologist Chris Schmitt checks corn leaves for evidence of downy mildew fungus in a special dew chamber that simulates environmental conditions under which the fungus develops and spreads.

STRANDQUIST . .

Senior Citizen News

It was a lovely sunny day Thursday, Sept. 25, when the Senior Citizens met for their weekly meeting. Some were absent, as only 20 registered in our guest book.

Martin Eskildsen got a ride West, so he left for his home in Phoenix, Ariz., otherwise he had planned to visit our center before leaving for home.

Wendell Lindgren and Albin Wikholm of Karlstad came to visit and joined the men at the whist table. Other visitors were Mrs. Elsie Donarski of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Vance Lefrooth, Mrs. Anthony Kozmierczah, Jeffrey and Juanita, Kevin Nelson and Melanie Lefrooth.

Polly was kept busy wrapping and pricing items, some ladies had made at home. Ruth brought a pair of pillow cases she had crocheted on. A few ladies pulled fluff and stuffed sofa pillows. Others were busy sewing and a couple of ladies made some owl sets.

It was our bingo day but we plan to have a fall sale October 25, so we must work, work, work. We hope to put in some extra working days to prepare items for this sale. Besides there were just a few bingo prizes on hand, not enough for many bingo games. Let's remember to bring some prizes anytime. We can save them until our next bingo day.

A special meeting was called for Wednesday at 5 p.m. when Laverne Swan of Hallock was here to speak on meals for senior citizens. There were five ladies present at this meeting. More on this later.

Bertha Holmstrom was hostess.

Irene Larson, reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Brekke and family visited on Sunday at the Floyd Blawat Jr. home at Greenbush.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dewos of International Falls visited Mrs. Anna Brekke on Wednesday.

Mrs. Gotfrid Berggren and Mrs. Ruth Anderson visited Irene Larson last Monday evening and brought her belated birthday greetings. Mildred Nelson joined the ladies for coffee.

Mrs. Donna Donarski visited at Ella Thuns on Sunday evening.

Thursday evening visitors at the Andrew Rud home were Roger Larson, Mrs. Wesley Rud and family and Mabel Stromberg.

OPEN HOUSE will be held Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. at the new Newfolden post office. The 24x60 building was put into use earlier this year, but the open house is being sponsored by postmaster Harvey Stokke to permit his patrons to inspect the building. The open house follows final inspection and approval by the area real estate and buildings office of the U.S. postal service.

Newfolden Post Office Open House Set Tuesday

To permit patrons to inspect facilities at the new Newfolden post office, postmaster Harvey Stokke will sponsor an open house Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Clarence Cook, who was postal clerk in Newfolden for many years, will assist with the open house.

Stokke said that free cake and coffee will be served and registration held for free door prizes for men, women and students. All patrons of the Newfolden post office are encouraged to visit the facility during the open house hours.

The new 28x60 building is of wood frame and brick construction, with interior sheetrock walls covered with a vinyl covering. The rear of the building has a 45x50 surfaced parking area for use in sending and receiving mail and for use by rural carriers. The building is air conditioned as well as centrally heated.

According to postmaster Stokke, the building is owned by Leisure Development company of Marshall and leased to the postal service for 30 years. The initial lease is to be re-negotiated after 10 years and each five years thereafter until the 30-year period has lapsed.

Final inspection was recently

Five-Day Plan To Stop Smoking Is Offered Here

Month of October has been selected by the Minnesota D-Day committee for an intensive statewide campaign to get all 850,000 Minnesotans who smoke to quit for one day—October 21. A great deal of time and effort is being exerted by state, local and other health agencies to make smokers aware of the hazards of this harmful practice.

The American Cancer society and the Minnesota Heart association have endorsed the program and have added their efforts to publicize this and to work with all interested communities in this giant effort.

In cooperation with this program, the "Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking" will again be offered in this community for those who want to quit. This plan has helped more people to "kick the habit" than all other organized methods that have been available. It has been used throughout most countries of the world and found successful if full cooperation and application by the participant is made.

The Five-Day plan is a community service that is offered by the Seventh-day Adventist church and will be conducted by trained professional personnel. It will be offered only one time this fall and will begin on October 19 and will be conducted for five consecutive nights.

The program will be conducted in the new community service center located at 1004 Tindolph ave. S. in Thief River Falls.

There is usually a charge made to cover materials received during the course, however, this particular program will be entirely free for those that will complete the requirements of attending the full five nights.

Enrollment can be made by writing to "Stop Smoking", Box 001, Thief River Falls, Minn., or by attending the first night.

28 New Citizens Naturalized At Courthouse

A total of 28 applicants officially became citizens of the United States during annual naturalization proceedings conducted Thursday at the Pennington county courthouse by district judge Warren A. Saetre.

Ten males and 18 females from such national origins as Korea, the Philippines, Canada, France, Ireland, Germany and China were naturalized. The number of applicants was much higher than in preceding years because Thief River Falls is now the only city in northern Minnesota where the ceremony is held.

One district court and four federal courts in the entire state conduct the proceedings, according to clerk of court Ardith Johnson.

Six Thief River Falls residents were naturalized. Other applicants resided in Bemidji, Moorhead, Baudette, Fosston, Swan River, Cross Lake, Park Rapids, East Grand Forks, Fosston, International Falls, Fertile, Shevlin, Roseau and Clearbrook. Including relatives and friends, over 100 people packed the district courtroom during the ceremonies.

Following opening of the court, Laura Haraldson and Nancy Noreen of the Thief River Falls junior American Legion Auxiliary presented the flags. Judge Saetre gave the opening announcements and clerk Johnson called the roll.

Lindahl O. Johnson, naturalization examiner, administered the oath and Judge Saetre offically declared each applicant a citizen of the United States.

After official naturalization, the "Mothers Three" trio consisting of Mrs. Janet Peterson, Mrs. Janice Lindbloom (both of whom are parents of children naturalized that day) and Mrs. Melba Penning sang "God Bless America."

Eastby Family Has Roots Set In Times Area

TIMES BICENTENNIAL FEATURE

(Editor's Note: Following is another article written for inclusion in the Pennington county history book being published by the county historical society. It is being printed here because of its general interest in keeping with the historical theme of the American Revolution Bicentennial observance.)

by John Eastby

Ole J. Eastby and Berthe Eastby with sons Ray and John immigrated to the United States from Tydal, Norway, in 1904. They came by train as far as Thief River Falls, which was the end of the railroad at that time. It was later extended to Middle River and farther north.

They stayed with the Sivert Severson family in Thief River Falls four nights until word could be sent to Mrs. Eastby's brother Peder L. Aune, Rollis P. O. in Rollis township, for him to meet them. Peder Aune emigrated from Norway in the 1890's, settled in Norman county in Twin Valley where he operated a shoe repair shop for a number of years and also served as policeman.

He came to Marshall county and filed for homestead right on the SE¼ of Sec. 28, Rollis township. This farm later became the home of another brother, Erik L. Aune, and his family.

The trip from Thief River Falls via Ringbo some 35-40 miles by horse-drawn vehicle was long and tedious. It was not easy to get through in places even with horses. There were no roads, only trails laid out on the highest areas, but occasionally had to cross stretches of swamp, water areas and floating bogs which had been re-inforced with logs or poles laid crosswise for long stretches to keep horses and vehicles from cutting through. This type of road was called a "corduroy road" and was very rough.

They stayed with the brother Peder Aune the first winter. The next year, 1905, Mr. Eastby filed a contest claim for the rights to the NW¼ Sec. 36 in Rollis township, which had a small tar-paper shack on it, and in order to keep his rights he had to live on

Universal Menu Offered Wed. To Local Students

Students in the Thief River Falls school system will be among 25 million U.S. students eating the same school lunch during Universal Menu day Wednesday.

Schools across the country participating in the national school lunch program will serve a cheeseburger, french fries, coleslaw, chilled peaches and milk. It is estimated that 521,008 number 10 cans of peaches, 3,515,625 pounds of French fries, 937,500 pounds of cabbage, 937,500 pounds of carrots, 260,000 pounds of butter or fortified margarine and 25 million and ½ pints of milk will be consumed.

The special nationwide menu highlights activities during national school lunch week, October 12-18. During the week, schools will be promoting a five-year "You Are What You Eat" theme developed by American school food service association and the department of agriculture, co-sponsors of the lunch.

February, 1975, reports from the USDA indicated a total of 88,025 schools and 25.1 million children participating in the program, with more than 4.5 billion meals a year served.

Ag Outlook Meet Slated October 21

A fall agricultural outlook meeting is scheduled at Northland Community college, room A-16 in Thief River Falls beginning at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, October 21, according to Pennington county extension agent Terry Courneya.

At a time when public attention is focused on large export sales of feed grains and wheat, extension economist Paul Hasbargen and animal scientist Bob Jacobs of the University of Minnesota will attempt to assess the impact of these developments and other factors on future farm price prospects.

Of particular importance to farmers in this area are feed grains, wheat, beef, hogs and dairy.

"Our farmers need to make selling and other economic decisions in the months ahead and they can gain some idea of what might be in store by attending this session," said Courneya.

GOOD CUSTOMERS have been the heart of operating the Hartz grocery store in Viking for Mrs. Myrtle Sackett. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yutrzenka have farmed near Viking for 14 years and have always bought all of their groceries at the store. "We appreciate having the store close by and believe we should help keep it operating," Mrs. Yutrzenka said. Watching Mrs. Sackett bag some of the groceries is Leonard Chapin, new owner of the store.

Mrs. Sackett Sells Viking Hartz Store

ISSUING CREDIT to customers has been one service provided by Mrs. Myrtle Sackett at her Hartz store in Viking. Throughout the 32 years the Sacketts operated the store, Myrtle's job included keeping the charge books in order and current. Now that the store has been sold, most of her customers have already stopped by to pay up their accounts. "They have really been wonderful," Mrs. Sackett says.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"I'm going to miss it; I'm really going to miss it," mused Mrs. Myrtle Sackett as she considered the sale of her Hartz grocery store in Viking after 32 years of operation. "The people have been so good to us."

In appreciation for patronage over the years, Mrs. Sackett hosted an appreciation day on Saturday, serving coffee, doughnuts and ice cream to more than 100 customers. She received flowers from her family and an arrangement of roses from L. B. Hartz among recognition gifts presented.

"I went out with tears in my eyes," Myrtle told the Times this morning.

New owners of the store are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Chapin who formerly operated a store at Littlefork and several other small grocery stores in other communities.

"We had the store for sale off and on for the past 10 years," said Mrs. Sackett, whose husband Alton died about four years ago. "There were several people who wanted to buy it, but they couldn't raise the money or something else came up. And every time somebody backed out of a deal we actually felt relieved."

The Sacketts bought the store in 1943 from Otto Fiskum, but not without a good deal of forethought. Alton worked at L. B. Hartz wholesale in Thief River Falls, and it was Hartz himself who encouraged the Sacketts to buy the store. "We sat up and talked until midnight one night before they finally convinced me to take over the store," Myrtle said.

She had operated Al's Cafe in a building next to the store for three years, then sold that business and had gone back to working at the co-op store when the offer to buy the Hartz business came along. The building is 24x50 feet and includes living quarters in the back of the store. Three years ago Mrs. Sackett moved into a house in Thief River Falls, where her son Roger and daughter Lenelle (Mrs. Orville Peters) live. Another son, Charles, lives at Winona.

"Charles' son Alan didn't want me to sell the store," she said. "He always had such a good time when he came to visit here. All of the grandchildren did. But Alan always said he wanted to buy the store when he was 18."

World War II was in progress when the Sacketts bought the store in 1943. They came into business handling ration stamps and Myrtle left the business handling food stamps. Several foods were received in bulk in 1943, including brown sugar and cookies. "I remember I had to watch an occasional customer then and take out the cookies he had handled and throw them away. I couldn't sell them to somebody else."

Although the type of business has changed over the years, the volume of business has been fairly steady. In the early years the Viking cooperative creamery would take cream on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the store benefited from the farmers

Jean Marie Skoglund And Mitchell Borneman Wed

Miss Jean Marie Skoglund, daughter of Mrs. Kermit Skoglund of this city and the late Rev. Kermit Skoglund, became the bride of Mitchell Leon Borneman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Borneman of Karlstad, at an evening ceremony held recently at the First Baptist church in this city.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Rev. Frank Armstrong and Rev. Donald Peterson of Karlstad.

For the ceremony, the chancel was graced with two white wrought iron candelabra featuring hurricane lamps and cascading sprays of blue carnations and greens. White carnations and streamers marked the front pews.

Mrs. Peter Jonnson, the church organist, played "Trumpet Voluntary," for the processional and "March Pontificale" as the recessional. She also accompanied Jan Nordin as she sang "Wedding Song," during the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar. As the bride entered the santuary with her mother, the groom sang "A Time For Us."

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her mother, was attired in white sheer nylon over taffeta gown with a full chapel-length train. The fitted bodice with a pearl trimmed lace overlay, was styled with a stand-up collar and long sheer sleeves with wide lace cuffs. Corresponding lace motifs were scattered across the skirt and accented the deep ruffle at the hemline. Her triple layered veil of nylon illusion, edged in lace, was held by a small cap topped with a bow. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli, blue daisies and yellow mums.

The bride's personal attendant was Jeanette McKean of Minneapolis. Maid of honor was Lois Molskness of Thief River Falls, a friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Nancy Skoglund of Lake Norden, S.D., a cousin, Denise Sundem of LaSalle, Colo., Diane Engel of Thief River Falls, friends of the bride, and Meridith Borneman of Karlstad, sister of the groom. All wore identical Victorian styled, long-sleeved gowns of light blue double knit polyester, featuring stand-up collars edged with lace. An overlay of blue nylon floral sheer enhanced the bib, the front panel of the skirt and the deep ruffle that encircled the skirt. Each carried a bouquet of blue, pink, yellow and white daisies and babies' breath.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Leslie Borneman. Groomsmen were Orlin Anderson of Karlstad, a friend; Jeff Fournier of Thief River Falls, another friend, and Robert and James Skoglund of this city, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Robert Hanson and Rodney Ernst of Thief River Falls, friends of the couple. For his attire, the groom selected a light blue tuxedo with navy blue trim, white ruffled shirt and a white carnation boutonniere. The other men of the wedding party wore light blue tuxedos with navy trousers, white ruffled shirts and yellow carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a light blue polyester, short sleeved, floor-length gown with white lace trim on the stand-up collar and yoke. The mother of the groom wore a sleeveless, floor-length gown of green and white polyester. Both had identical corsages of yellow daisies.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flathaug of Karlstad, godparents of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Olson, friends of the couple, as host and hostess. The guests were greeted by Sheryl Kuznia and Sandy Peterson, cousins of the groom. Mrs. Rick Matthews, another cousin, presided at the guest book, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, aunt of the bride, and Rose Donarski served the punch.

Complementing the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake featuring a flowing fountain containing blue water. Topping the cake which was decorated with blue, yellow and pink daisies, was a heart-shaped wedding bell ornament. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Leland Juhl of Lake Bronson, a friend of the family. It was cut and served by Mrs. Shirley Skoglund and Mrs. George Skoglund, aunts of the bride. At the coffee service were Mrs. Harold Flathaug, godmother of the groom, and Mrs. Vincent Kuznia, aunt of the groom.

Carrying the gifts were Mrs. Gordon Skoglund, aunt of the bride, and Valerie and Karen Skoglund, cousins of the bride. Friends of the bride's family were in charge of serving the reception.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

The neighboring school was packed that night, during the depression, with residents from the area who had gathered for a basket social. Word had traveled throughout the countryside that the congregation that had been holding services in that school needed money to purchase a church and move it into the community. People, regardless of church affiliations, gathered to assist in raising the funds. The auctioneer was a silver-haired deacon of the congregation, who delighted the group with his descriptions of the baskets and the aromas that he claimed were escaping from the decorated boxes.

Basket socials were fun. They were one of the great events of the year. Hours were spent in decorating a box and filling it with lunch for two, or if a double basket, lunch for four. The majority of the boxes were shoe boxes or overshoe boxes covered with crepe paper and decorated with crepe paper roses and sweet peas. Some, using hat boxes as bases, fashioned drums, ladies' bonnets or men's derbys. In one instance, a girl, who decided at the last minute to attend the social, sewed together the tails of her brother's shirt, placed the lunch in a box and buttoned it inside the shirt, put a tie around the neckline and hung the whole thing on a hanger. Since I have no artistic ability, my basket for that church social was made by my younger brother. Using a small apple box, he made a replica of the church purchased by the congregation.

At times, bidding on the baskets was very lively, especially if two young men were vying for the privilege of eating lunch with a particular girl. It was a well-known practice for young men to bribe the girl's younger brothers or sisters in revealing which basket was hers. Without that information the owner of the basket remained a secret until the owner purchased the box and found the name in an envelope on top of the lunch. The girls would often out-smart their suitors. After much conspiring with their girl friends, they would arrive at the social with duplicate baskets. In the case of double baskets, the first purchaser ate with the girl whose name appeared first in the basket.

The lunches prepared for the baskets revealed the girls' culinary arts. (Or as in my case, my mother's.) Included were sandwiches using light and dark bread, homemade buns, lefse, flat bread, potato salad, homebaked beans, (kept hot by wrapping the container in many, many layers of newspaper) crisp dill pickles and beet pickles (in case the purchaser didn't like cucumber pickles) and a variety of cookies and cake. Fried chicken and apple pie were a must. The coffee was generally furnished by the organization sponsoring the social. Sack lunches were also available for those who failed in buying a basket.

Basket socials were basically money, making projects. The funds were used for painting the town hall, replacing the school's out-dated maps or encyclopedias, or to assist some family that had lost their home by fire or had had an unusually large doctor or hospital bill.

The basket socials also provided sociability with neighbors and friends working together for a common cause. Those were the days before television and government grants.

Incidentally the congregation bought the church and moved it to a spot among the pines. Regular services have been held there since.

Today's recipe, from the American Heart Association, is for Southern Meat loaf. Baked potatoes, squash and bread pudding would complete the meal.

1 tablespoon parsley
2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon black pepper

1 pound can tomato sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

HHH Announces Minn. Energy Hearing Tues.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey announced recently that the Joint economic committee will conduct a hearing on energy problems of the upper midwest, particularly Minnesota, on Tuesday. It will be held in the Hennepin county government center, Minneapolis, at 9:30 a.m.

"This hearing," according to Humphrey, "will focus on two major energy problems facing Minnesota: the economic impact of oil price decontrol and Canada's plans to reduce both oil and natural gas exports to the United States."

Humphrey, who is chairman of the committee, warned that oil decontrol would eventually lead to the elimination of 400,000 to 600,000 jobs "in the midst of our most severe post-war recession."

"Oil decontrol," he said, "will raise the average price of oil $3.75 per barrel, a 35 per cent jump. The Congress has been able thus far to prevent decontrol by the President, but his continued vetoes of oil price control legislation could result in complete oil decontrol in mid-November."

The Senator expressed the view that "oil decontrol would have a disastrous impact on consumers.

"It would force gasoline prices up 10 cents per gallon at the pump. It would push the consumer price level up three per cent, and it would mean that the typical Minnesota family will be burdened with about $800 in higher oil and related costs over the next 12 months.

Pointing out that Canada plans to eliminate her oil and natural gas exports by 1981, Humphrey noted that it "will leave our three oil refineries high and dry.

"With no feedstock, they will shut down and Minnesota will face a $100 million annual jump in oil and gasoline transportation costs. Gasoline prices, for example, will rise about three cents per gallon, because this product will have to come from Texas rather than Canada," he added.

Humphrey indicated that the Canadian natural gas curtailment would have a greater impact than the oil cutoff. He stated that it would create an "energy wasteland" in Northern Minnesota that would force some of the state's most important industries to raise prices and use propane, "or even to shut down."

Witnesses at the hearing will include Dr. John Hill, deputy administrator, Federal energy administration; former Governor Karl Rolvaag, chairman of the Minnesota public service commission; and John Millhone, director of the Minnesota energy agency.

Women Suffer From Arthritis More Than Men

Over 20 million people are victims of arthritis—and nearly 14 million are women, many in their early twenties, or younger. Women are also the prime targets of the most serious form of the disease, rheumatoid arthritis, which strikes three times as many women as men. It is a lifelong inflammatory disease that can lead to permanent joint deformities, disability and damage to the body's vital organs.

Women won't be liberated from arthritis until medical science discovers the cause and cure. But they can get effective treatment from a qualified physician to help insure a normal life with minimal pain and crippling.

Today's women are busier than ever—and more likly to ignore the early warning signs of arthiritis: Persistent pain and stiffness upon rising; pain and swelling in one or more joints; tingling sensations in the fingertips, hands or feet; and unexplained weight loss, fever, anemia or fatigue.

An informative new leaflet entitled "Arthiritis in Women—A Case of Discrimination," is available free from the Arthritis foundation. To get a copy, or to ask for other information on arthritis, call the Foundation's toll-free message center, 1-800-552-1278. These services are made possible by the support given the Arthritis foundation by the United Way in Thief river Falls and other Minnesota communities.

TWO SUPER REASONS FOR BUYING A '75 DODGE TRUCK RIGHT NOW!

CLEARANCE PRICES, AND A TAX BREAK.

If you've been planning to wait until the '76 models come out before you buy your new truck, we've got a few good reasons why you shouldn't.

For one thing, all of our '75 trucks are on sale right now at special low year-end clearance prices. Which means that you can get a brand-new, fully equipped truck with all the options you want at the lowest possible price.

Another good reason for buying your truck now is that the U.S. Government is offering farmers an investment tax credit on the purchase of necessary equipment. This offer, however, applies only to trucks purchased before the end of the year, so you'll have to hurry.

Special year-end clearance prices, and an investment tax credit.

Two terrific reasons why you should see your Dodge Dealer today and take a look at the '75 trucks he has for sale. You may never get a better deal than this.

Proper Wrapping For Freezing Protects Game

The game the hunters in your family bag so proudly may lose much of its appeal for the table after it has been in the freezer or locker unless it's wrapped properly for freezing, according to Mrs. Linda Worth, Pennington county home economist.

Whether you expect to put duck, pheasant, deer or bear in your freezer during the hunting season, the cost per pound is high enough so that a few extra cents, and minutes, spent on good wrapping is worth it, says Mrs. Worth.

She adds that University of Minnesota food technologist Shirley T. Munson says poorly wrapped game will dry out and may take on undesirable flavors, particularly if kept for more than two months. She recommends laminated freezer paper, freezer aluminum foil, cellophane and other transparent films made especially for frozen foods.

If you select freezer paper or foil, place the bird or cut of meat in the center of the paper and bring the two longest sides of the paper together over the product. Fold the edges over about one inch and continue folding until the paper is tight and flat against the food item. Turn the package over and fold the corners toward each other. Secure with locker tape or twine.

Most game stored at zero degrees will keep up to nine months, but Mrs. Munson recomments using ground and stew meat within four months. Sausage prepared without the addition of antioxidants should be used within one month.

Thaw game in its original packaging in the refrigerator. It is not recommended to thaw game at room temperature for more than six hours.

In 1912, Massachusetts adopted the first minimum wage for women and minors, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a publication of the U.S. Labor department.

Eastby Family Has Roots Set In Times Area

the land. This then was their home the following year and through the cold winter months. This shack had only a single board wall and was covered with tar-paper on the outside to keep the wind out.

The nail heads or ends were often frosted up on the inside during the winter. The furniture consisted of only dire necessities. The family all slept in one bed with a sheep-wool robe for cover to keep warm. In sub-zero temperatures Mr. Eastby would sometimes awaken in the morning and find that his breath during the night had formed icicles in his mustache which had frozen together with the wool on the sheep-skin robe.

In spite of cold and hardships, not much sickness prevailed. The inside walls were later papered with newspapers to give it a more cheery look. This then was their first home in Marshall county U.S.A.

This was only the beginning. Then came logging and building of a new home, and later a cattle barn, as well as a separate barn for horses. The old log house is still intact to this day. Then came clearing of land, ditching for drainage, and building of roads. Water and mosquitoes were two elements to put up with, as well as grass fires and later peat fires.

Many a time shoes and stockings had to be removed while wading in water to go to the nearest neighbor, Ole J. Aune, only 80 rods away. They also walked on fence rails at times to deep their feet dry. In the fall grass fires were always a menace. Entire families were known to fight fires all night to save their homes and property.

After buildings were established and a few livestock acquired, the husbands from several families would go to the logging camps in winter to work for added operating capital and living expenses. The wives would stay home and take care of the livestock. In a monetary way this did not always prove beneficial, as they did not have very much left of their winter earnings when they came back. The harvest fields in North Dakota proved different, however. They worked hard and made some money in spite of low pay.

In face of hardships and adversities, these pioneers who were in their prime of life had a will to conquer and achieve their goals. They brought with them deep religious convictions. Schools and churches were built. Prior to that, devotions and instructions were held in the homes. After log school houses were completed, children of several families walked two or three miles to school. This went on for many years.

The social life of these pioneers was something to marvel at. They would always have time to visit together. They would have meetings, song-fests, families would get up at two and three o'clock in the morning, cook coffee and call on neighbors to serve them coffee and lefse in bed. This was an old Norwegian custom. They would cooperate and help each other thru "thick and thin" as the saying goes. They were a jolly lot with a good sense of humor.

Speaking of humor, this Peder Aune was said to be full of humor and a little bit of a trickster. Two of his friends who had recently come from Norway stayed over night with him and slept in a bed in the far corner of the room. Peder Aune slept in his own bed and had an auto-harp under his bed. After his guests had fallen asleep he would reach under the bed and pick the strings of the harp until his guests would awaken and claim to each other they heard music. This would go on thru the night, but in the morning Mr. Aune insisted they must have been dreaming.

At another time Ole Lian, who had not been here very long, visited him and was fascinated with some large plants growing near the barn. Mr. Aune said they were valuable plants, and the wide leaves could be used for tobacco. Lian got a lot of seeds with instructions to fertilize them good. It turned out that Mr. Lian had the most extensive growth of pig-weeds in the area.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ole J. Eastby, who came with them from Norway still live in the area. Ray and his wife Alice own and operate a farm in Eckvoll township, Marshall county. John, who now owns the original homestead, spends a lot of his time on the old home place, and is currently living in Thief River Falls.

The foregoing then is reminiscent of some of the ordeals and experiences these first settlers had to cope with. They have long passed on, and the second and third generations have now taken over.

These Pioneers: They worked, not only for themselves, but for their fellow man. They were honest. They were good. Blessed be the memory of these devoted people.

completed by the area real estate and buildings office of the U.S. postal service in St. Paul. With the building officially accepted at this time—although it has been in use since earlier this year—Stokke believed this to be an appropriate time for the open house.

In addition to the 125 boxholders who have postal boxes in the office lobby, the Newfolden office serves 441 patrons on rural routes. Orville Larson carries mail to 268 boxholders on route 1 which extends generally northeast, east, south and southeast of Newfolden. Mrs. Sackett Sells Store In Viking Thursday coming to town on those days. Little by little the cream and milk trade dropped off, however, and the creamery closed a number of years ago.

With the change in food handling, the store has installed three freezers and two coolers in recent years. Fresh cut meat was handled for about five years until the processed items became more available. And with the Scandinavian residents in the community the store sold up to 250 pounds of lutefisk during the winter holiday season.

"We used to buy eggs by the case from farmers, grade and candle them ourselves and put them in paper bags for re-sale," Myrtle said. "We would also ship some out if we had too many to sell."

By and large the store has been Myrtle's responsibility during the 32 years it has been in the Sackett family. Alton continued to work for the Hartz warehouse after purchasing the store and was available to help only on nights and weekends. The children frequently had too many other activities to regularly be available for help in the store.

An injured foot didn't keep Myrtle off duty at the store. She went to a doctor for treatment, then went back to work, using a chair with wheels on it to support her foot and allow her to move around the store.

"I haven't had time to be sick," Myrtle said. "We used to have the store open from six o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night, except on Saturday when people would stay around and visit until midnight. We would close on Christmas day and maybe half a day on Thanksgiving. And because we lived at the store we often would open up when someone needed something when we were closed.

In more recent years the store has been open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and closed on holidays. "People don't seem to have the time to visit any more," Mrs. Sackett said.

Myrtle has depended upon loyalty of her customers to keep the store going over the years and they haven't disappointed her. "Everyone has been wonderful," she said. "I've offered them credit, and they appreciate that. And everyone was so kind when my husband died. Yes, I'm sure going to miss the store. I really am."

And Viking is going to miss Myrtle, too.

Navy To Observe 200th Birthday On October 13

As Americans ready themselves for the nation's Bicentennial next year, the U.S. navy is preparing for a similar milestone October 13. On that date in 1775, the Continental Congress authorized the outfitting of two "swift sailing vessels," thus setting the official birthdate of the United States navy.

During the past two centuries the fleet has grown from a small band of privateers to nuclear-powered task forces that guard freedom of all the world's seas. The navy's history has paralleled and shaped America's history.

Our early warships swept piracy from the high seas to assure economic expansion through international commerce. Naval peacetime missions, such as the round-the-world cruise of the "Great White Fleet" (1907-1909), charted new channels of diplomacy and trade. Technological progress—from wind to steam to the atom—has found the navy a leader and beneficiary.

The navy was in the forefront of the American Revolution—and the industrial revolution. Those sciences that put aircraft into the skies, submarines beneath the sea and astronauts into space have, in notable degree, been inspired, underwritten and advanced by the U.S. navy, an official naval release states.

"Freedom, born in combat and nurtured in peace, has ever been defended by a wartime navy, supported by the peacetime navy. Those Americans who pause on October 13, 1975, to honor 200 years of proud U.S. naval tradition will have reason to reflect on the past," the release states.

While some recount deeds of such naval greats as Decatur, Dewey and John Paul Jones, others will perhaps recall recent important events, as when USS Nautilus heralded the era of nuclear power in 1955.

Still others may meditate on the sacrifice of those naval heroes who suffered and died that American freedom, prosperity and progress might live.

The United States navy for 200 years has been far more than ships at sea. It has been, and is, people "building on a proud tradition."

Is the energy crisis for real?
YES? NO?

It is obvious that there are energy shortages. Some areas have experienced gasoline shortages, and fuel oil supply causes concern. Certain plastics are hard to get, and there have been problems with paper. In the past the Arabs made use of an embargo, and petroleum products are on a price escalator. The automotive industry has seen sales volume falter causing unemployment. All of this is related to the energy shortage.

Is America's fuel tank empty?
Supplies of natural gas and oil are beginning to be dangerously low. The fuel tank is not empty. But if the nation continues to use gas and oil at an accelerated rate, the known reserves could be exhausted in ten to 15 years.

What is the problem?
The world's appetite for oil and gas is huge and grows daily. We must transfer part of the job being done by these fuels to electricity. Atomic power plants and coal-fired generating plants will have to be built, thus releasing short supply gas and oil for other vital purposes, such as transportation and agricultural uses.

What does this have to do with North Dakota?
North Dakota can provide part of the answer to the energy crisis. Our state has abundant supplies of lignite coal to generate electricity. We have ample water for industry, home and irrigation purposes. The time for North Dakota lignite is here. It can be mined, used to generate electricity, and the land reclaimed with minimal effect on the environment. North Dakota lignite is ready to do its job as America faces another crisis in solving problems — helping a nation in a time of need.

Toward A Free Press

"Newspapers shouldn't be allowed to print things like that." We're sure you have heard statements similar to that in recent years. Perhaps you have said it yourself.

What things? Maybe an editorial that supports a philosophy that differs from yours. Perhaps a news story that makes you uncomfortable. Or a statement that you feel is misleading or even untrue.

The fact is, however, that newspapers must be allowed to print anything they wish to, subject to libel and slander laws. This is what the First Amendment to the Constitution is all about.

The First Amendment guarantees that the United States shall have a free press. It does not guarantee a fair press, or a responsible press . . . only a free press. For nearly two hundred years the First Amendment has protected big newspapers and small newspapers . . . good newspapers and bad ones . . . responsible journalists and irresponsible hacks.

During this period of time, the American press has had . . . and does have . . . an overwhelming majority of competent and responsible members. To be sure, the dissidents, and rabble rousers, the kooks have been around and have had the opportunity to be heard. But the voices of reason, of responsibility and good judgment have prevailed . . . and will continue to prevail so long as the press is free.

They have prevailed because the citizens have been informed, because vital issues have had full public examination and discussion. Perhaps Benjamin Franklin expressed it best with these words:

" 'Tis my belief . . . that when men differ in opinion, both sides ought equally to have the advantage of being heard in public. When the truth and error have fair play—truth is always an over-match."

During this Bicentennial year, it will be well for all of us to remember that the free discussion of public business is the prerequisite of liberty. We must keep in mind that any limitation placed on the right of free expression of any person or group . . . no matter how repugnant their cause may be . . . is an infringement on the rights of all of us.

Freedom of speech and of the press have made us a free people. May we, as a nation, have the wisdom to recognize and perpetuate that truth.

Costly Congress

What the taxpayer pays to support the elected body (and its attendant services) which spends the tax money taxpayers pay is a pretty high price. Some examples of comparative cost are included in the following editorial from the Wadena Pioneer Journal:

We don't yet have figures on the cost under new salary increases just recently voted themselves by members of Congress, but you might be interested in knowing just where at least 734 million of your tax dollars will go. A recent magazine article put that as the estimated cost of running Congress last year. We know it will be considerably more this year.

That $734 million comes to over $2 million a day. It averages $1,371,000 a year for each of the 535 members of Congress—more than what Catfish Hunter and other major league pitchers make . . . and the pitchers deliver.

As Chicago Tribune columnist Herb Daniels put it, "There must be a better use for the money than keeping a pet like Congress. It's about $3.50 per citizen per year (up from 30 cents just 20 years ago), or about $12 per household, enough to put a handsome steak dinner in every home. I'll trade a senator for a steak."

Don and Rich Quincer will be glad to know the money would buy everyone a night at the movies plus a big box of popcorn. It would pay the tuition for about 350,000 college students.

To solve world hunger and improve American diplomacy, closing Congress could provide enough money to buy every man, woman and child in China a jumbo hamburger with cheese. You can't tell us this wouldn't be better diplomacy than another junket by President Ford or Governor Anderson.

At seven per cent interest, the money would earn just short of $1 million a week every week forever. Some wags tell us they'd pay that much to keep Congress home so it couldn't mess things up.

Keeping Congress at home would create unemployment for 16,000 Congressional workers. And the likelihood is they'd stay unemployed for some time. Who but Congress would pay a doorman $40,000 a year, a clerk $40,000, a receptionist $30,000. You know the answer: no one.

While $734 million doesn't sound big these days, it is seven times the annual contributions of the Ford foundation, the givingest charitable organization in the world. It's more than the net profit of the world's largest retailer, Sears Roebuck.

Put another way, Sears' 375,000 employees don't turn up as much profit in a year's work as the 535 members of Congress cost us. Worse, operating Congress is just the small first cost. It's when those congressmen get down to serious spending that we feel the pickpocket's fingers.

As the Chicago columnist concluded, "wonder how we could ship all those hamburgers to China and keep 'em hot.

Not Setting Records

Following editorial is from the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

The state of Minnesota is apparently not setting any efficiency records in the area of public welfare. In fact, it has been subjected to public criticism by federal officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Recipient of the heaviest barrage of criticism is the food stamp program. One top federal official called the program a "well known haven for chiselers and rip off artists." Another says that the government is giving away billions of dollars with virtually no control.

The food stamp program began in 1962 at a cost of less that $1 million per year. This year, $6.6 million in stamps will be distributed to nearly 20 million Americans, and the system is being charged with failure to make sure that the money goes to citizens who really need it.

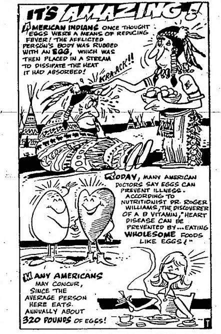
There can be no question that the basic intention of the program is in the best interests of the people, but like so many federal programs it has grown completely out of control. Reform is long overdue, but investigations and reform have been promised by the agriculture committees of congress. Unfortunately, congressional investigations frequently require years before reform is actually achieved, and by that time a mere rollback to the point where the investigation started is frequently considered reform enough.

We don't need congressional investigation right now in this area. What we do need is a thorough examination of the program as it is being conducted by the top officials at both federal and state levels. In short, in Minnesota, where the situation is described as among the worst in the nation, it appears that Gov. Wendell Anderson had best take a long look at the welfare situation for which his administration is responsible.

Borrowed Nonsense

A man sat in a duck blind, drinking from a flask with a friend, who was drinking coffee from a thermos bottle. After hours of no action, a lone duck flew over. The coffee drinker jumped to his feet, fired and missed. The other man then casually got up, raised his gun and downed the duck. When congratulated by his sober and amazed friend, he replied, "Aw, it wasn't so good. I usually get three or four out of a flock that size."

Little fellow boasting of mother's progress in learning to drive, "She's getting real good at paralyze parking."



IT'S AMAZING!
AMERICAN INDIANS ONCE THOUGHT EGGS WERE A MEANS OF REDUCING FEVER! THE AFFLICTED PERSON'S BODY WAS RUBBED WITH AN EGG, WHICH WAS THEN PLACED IN A STREAM TO DISSIPATE THE HEAT IT HAD ABSORBED!
KRA-ACK!!
TODAY, MANY AMERICAN DOCTORS SAY EGGS CAN PREVENT ILLNESS. ACCORDING TO NUTRITIONIST DR. ROGER WILLIAMS, THE DISCOVERER OF A B VITAMIN, "HEART DISEASE CAN BE PREVENTED BY...EATING WHOLESOME FOODS LIKE EGGS!"
MANY AMERICANS MAY CONCUR, SINCE THE AVERAGE PERSON HERE EATS ANNUALLY ABOUT 320 POUNDS OF EGGS!

Letters to the Editor

It may concern you:

Here is a topic as old as Henry I know, but I loudly believe it's one worth "rememorizing" from time to time... safety in the streets!

I just moved here, and I've found myself overtly aware of the local "traffic bugaboos". Only they're not imaginary. They'll race up and slam your rear speakers right into your ears...or your manifold smack into your diaphragm if you're not quick behind the wheel!

Does everyone know that when you intend to turn across an oncoming lane of traffic that those people have the right of way? In other words, you let them drive through before you turn across their lane, even if they also have a stop sign? Can you picture it? Has it happened to you? Or, have you caused the oncoming guy to swallow his gum because you didn't realize the regulation?

Or, do you occasionally forget that when you are second in line in the left turning lane that you should wait until the oncoming traffic passes, and that your turn is second, not First!

Are you aware that slow-moving-vehicle signs are required on the back of slow moving vehicles?

And, do you realize on a two-lane highway...that passing on the right-hand side of someone apparently turning left could result in his changing his mind and consequently driving right into your ash tray?

There's a recent traffic law in Minnesota...about two years old...you can now turn right at a red light after stopping and after crossing traffic has moved through! It's also kinda safe to realize the probably speed of oncoming traffic when you plan to turn right. Notice where you are, what the speed limit is, and how quickly your vehicle can match that speed.

How long does it take to flick on your turning lights? Do it! Do they work? Check the bulbs. Check the fuses. Inexpensive! Inexpensive!

Would you be wasting time if you occasionally checked your brake lights? It kinda helps the guy behind you! And if you think maybe he's "sleeping on the job"...lift the brakes, then down again, so they flash! He may notice then that you don't want his car in your trunk!

It's a crying shame...and perhaps a dying shame that we can't figure out the need for more traffic lights in downtown Thief River Falls, and the need for more controlled and hazardless intersections! Do you, as alert and defensive drivers, know where that extremely busy intersection is...the one that has no signs of any kind from any direction?

Do you think our visitors know about that intersection? What do you think they're thinking about? Do you wonder if maybe they might flash that they nearly had their insurance rates hiked up...that they nearly had a lapful of shattered glass...that they could have just experienced their last rush of adrenalin? Could that visitor have been you? It's been me.

And here's another item: For crying out loud, when you're getting out of your car, don't slam your doors into your neighbor's car!! Brand new cars look flashy, don't they...shiny, no scratches, no chips, no dents, everything works!

Let's pick up some respect! Wash your car! Vacuum it out once in a while. Wax it! Wax protects the paint job! Winter's coming on! Change the oil and the oil filter. Get a winter tune-up! Find out what those rattles are all about! Check the tires! Maybe you should be shopping snow tire sales. And let your car "wake up" on those cold mornings...let it warm up before you drive it away!

Care a little. Care a lot. If you take good care of your means of transportation, naturally it seems that you would have a more dependable means of getting where you want, when you want. And in this society, and in this particular area, I believe it's a priority sort of thing!

And maybe...just maybe someone will notice: "Hey, wow! Whoever that was sure has an old car...looks like new though...she must be a good driver...I wonder if he owns a car wash 'n wax place or something...her dad is probably a mechanic...is there a rod and custom show in town or what's the deal here?..."

Get what I'm sayin'?

Wendell R. Anderson

Outstate Minnesotans, especially local governments, have a major stake in the work that is now being done by the state's Environmental Quality Council.

The Council was established in 1973 by the Minnesota Legislature to coordinate environmental planning and policy making. In addition, it approves the location of power plants and power transmission lines, determines the need for environmental impact statements on new developments, and carries out the provisions of the 1973 Critical Areas act.

Last year the Council recommended and I approved the preservation in its natural state of the Lower St. Croix River from Taylors Falls to Hastings. The Council is now holding hearings on a request to declare the Mississippi River corridor through the Twin Cities a critical area. The request was made by the Metropolitan Council.

Recently three county boards of commissioners — in Mille Lacs, Crow Wing, and Aitkin counties — passed resolutions asking that the Mille Lacs watershed in northern Minnesota be declared a critical area, Critical area designation in all three of these cases protects the area from unplanned development, so that the environmental importance and natural beauty of the area can be maintained.

The fact that these critical area recommendations on the Mississippi and Mille Lacs watersheds were made by local officials indicates the increasing importance of local governments in environmental issues. In recognition of their increasing interest and ability, the EQC is seeking to expand the role of local officials in several ways.

For example, the Council after consultation with local officials has proposed new rules and amendments to state laws so that some of the state control over environmental impact statements can be transferred to local governments and state agencies that have direct responsiblity for the proposed projects. A special appeals board would handle issues that cannot be resolved at the local or state agency level.

The proposed changes would place decisions in the hands of those most knowledgeable and most directly responsible for them, and should also shorten the time required to reach decisions.

As part of our effort to strengthen local government I have also proposed a special program of grants for local governments to provide additional resources for land use and environmental planning. While it was not approved at this year's session of the Minnesota Legislature, I believe this kind of help is badly needed.

A state-local partnership in environmental decision-making is the goal of this administration and of the Environmental Quality Council. By working together we can maintain both the beauty of our state and strong, active local governments.

Prowlers Bow Out of NWAC Contention

Lincoln high school football team finds itself in a highly unusual situation following Friday night's stunning 33-14 Northwest Conference setback at the hands of Fergus Falls.

The Prowlers' ever-so-thin hopes for at least a share of the Northwest Conference title were shattered by the loss to the Otters. It was the earliest the Prowlers have been eliminated from conference championship consideration since 1965 when Thief River Falls finished the season with a 2-6-1 overall record and a 1-2-1 mark in league play. The Prowlers are currently 2-4 for the year and 0-2 in the Northwest conference.

Thief River Falls will play at East Grand Forks Friday and will host Crookston Fri., Oct. 24, in the final two games of the 1975 season.

In nearly every season since the Northwest Conference was formed in 1951, Thief River Falls has always been in title contention heading into the final two weeks of the season. Not so this year, however, since Bemidji and Crookston are both currently unbeaten in conference play. The Lumberjacks have just one conference game left. The Pirates have two NWAC tests remaining. Bemidji and Crookston clash at Crookston Friday to determine the 1975 Northwest Conference championship.

Thief River Falls used to always play conference rivals Bemidji and Crookston in the final two games of the season. Bemidji and Crookston appeared at the end of the Prowler schedule every year from 1951 through 1968. Wins in those games, especially against Bemidji, would have always been enough to give the Prowlers at least a share of the NWAC crown (except in 1965).

However, Bemidji moved up in the Prowler schedule in 1969 and was replaced in the next-to-the-last spot by East Grand Forks. Still, Thief River Falls used to stay in NWAC contention until at least the final two weeks of the year—until this season.

So now, instead of battling for Northwest Conference championship honors, Thief River Falls enters the final two weeks of the 1975 campaign with little more than pride at stake. The Prowlers can regroup from a disastrous showing against Fergus Falls and finish the year strong with a .500 record at 4-4, or the season could go completely sour at 2-6.

East Grand Forks is a highly improved team under new coach Gary Berg and will present the Prowlers with some real problems Friday. Crookston, of course, is exceptionally strong. The defensive-minded Pirates could give the Prowlers fits here in the season finale.

Bemidji, Crookston Meet For NWAC Title

Friday night's scheduled Bemidji-Crookston Northwest Conference title showdown is going to be a dandy. The winner will be assured of at least a share of the NWAC title and a spot in the post-season conference playoff game against the West Central Conference champion.

A win by the unbeaten Lumberjacks will wrap up a second straight undisputed conference crown for Bemidji. However, a Pirate win would put Crookston on top in the NWAC, and all the Pirates would need for an outright title is a win over the Prowlers the following week.

No matter how Crookston does against Thief River Falls the following week, Friday's winner should earn the right to meet the West Central winner in the Northwest-West Central conference playoff game Fri., Oct. 31, at the home of the West Central winner. Even if the Pirates beat Bemidji but lose to Thief River Falls, Crookston and Bemidji would share NWAC title honors, and the Pirates would have earned the right to play in the conference playoff game because of the head-to-head win.

However, our thoughts have Bemidji winning 14-6. Crookston has an excellent defense, but Bemidji has an excellent and varied offense. The passing ability of quarterback Jeff Eidsmoe and the pass-catching ability of his ends Jack Schwartz and Jim Grimm might make the difference for the Lumberjacks.

Prowler Turnovers Give Otters 33-14 Northwest Conference Win

Fergus Falls made life miserable for Thief River Falls Friday night as the lightly regarded Otters manhandled the favored Prowlers 33-14 in Northwest Conference football action.

The loss eliminated Thief River Falls from NWAC title possibilities and left the Prowlers with no chance to finish with a winning record this fall. Thief River Falls is 2-4 for the year heading into a Friday night encounter at East Grand Forks. The Prowlers host Crookston in the 1975 season finale in two weeks.

Fergus Falls, already out of NWAC contention, thoroughly enjoyed its homecoming on the cool night as the Otters capitalized on a lackluster Prowler performance that produced four fumbles and a pair of pass interceptions.

"This has got to be our best game of the year," said Fergus Falls coach Don Stueve. "We didn't beat ourselves for a change. We played with enthusiasm. We were embarrassed last week (a 41-7 loss to St. Cloud Tech) and we wanted to make up for it tonight."

The first Thief River Falls fumble killed the only sustained Prowler drive of the game near midfield early in the first quarter. Twelve plays later Fergus Falls led 6-0.

A pair of nifty acrobatic over-the-shoulder pass receptions by starry end Cameron Kolle kept the 47-yard Fergus Falls drive alive by turning two third-and-long situations into first downs. Kolle caught a 19-yarder for a first down at the Prowler 29 on third-and-10 and later caught a 14-yarder for a first down at the three on third-and-14.

Quarterback Chuck Welle dived into the middle of the line with 4:26 remaining in the first quarter for the one-yard touchdown. Kolle's placement kick was blocked by Kevin Anderson of the Prowlers.

A pass interception ignited the second Fergus Falls score near the half-mark of the second quarter. Jon Erickson picked off Jeff Lindquist's pass at the Prowler 49 and returned it seven yards to start the drive.

Six plays later the Otters doubled their lead on a strong 17-yard run by Mike Thomas who bounced off several would-be tacklers as he skirted right end. Thomas just made it into the end zone corner with 6:59 left. Kolle's kick made it 13-0.

Yet another Thief River Falls turnover was followed by another Fergus Falls touchdown near the end of the first half when Otter defensive lineman Jeff Austin fell on a Prowler fumble in the end zone with just 59 seconds left.

Thief River Falls had apparently stopped a sure Fergus Falls touchdown by falling on an Otter fumble at the one-yard line when Kolle dropped the ball when hit after catching a 34-yard pass from Welle. Prowler linebacker Kent Ehrenstrom recovered the fumble.

However, on the first snap, Thief River Falls gave the ball and the touchdown right back to the Otters when Mike Jury couldn't handle a pitch-out from Lindquist. The ball squirted around crazily in the end zone before Austin gathered in the pigskin. Kolle missed the extra point, sending the Otters into the lockerroom with a 19-0 bulge.

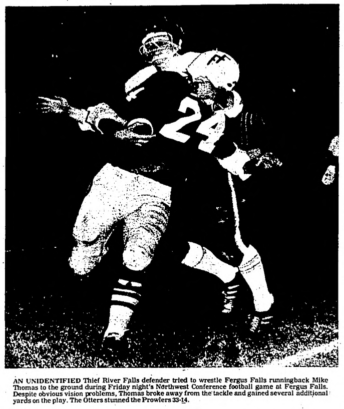
Things didn't change one iota in the second half. Thief River Falls fumbled at the Prowler 34 and Fergus Falls scored on the very next play.

The third Otter touchdown was scored by Tom Lillquist who was wide open in the Prowler secondary when he hauled in a 34-yard scoring strike from Erickson on a perfectly-executed halfback option pass. Kolle's kick made it 26-0 with 4:51 remaining in the third quarter.

In one of the very few bright spots of the night for the Prowlers, Doug Dallmann returned the ensuing kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown, running right smack up the middle of the field, running over several Otter defenders. The two-point conversion failed, even with a one-yard penalty against the Otters for pass interference.

Fergus Falls marched the Prowler kickoff downfield for a 33-6 bulge early in the fourth quarter. The 14-play, 59-yard drive met little resistance. Welle went in from a yard out and Kolle made the placement try with 10:15 remaining.

Thief River Falls finished the game's scoring when Dallmann went nine yards on a spinning run around the right side with 4:10 left. Fullback Bryan Olson, who set up the touchdown by going 78 yards with a little flare pass over the middle from Mike Wiebolt, bulled through the middle for the conversion points.



AN UNIDENTIFIED Thief River Falls defender tried to wrestle Fergus Falls runningback Mike Thomas to the ground during Friday night's Northwest Conference football game at Fergus Falls. Despite obvious vision problems, Thomas broke away from the tackle and gained several additional yards on the play. The Otters stunned the Prowlers 33-14.

Unbeaten McIntosh Snaps Plummer Win Streak 32-6

Plummer high school's 1975 season-long six-game winning streak came to an abrupt end Friday as the Cardinals bowed to powerful McIntosh-Winger 32-6 in a key battle of North Tri County Conference division leaders at Plummer.

The win clinches the South Division title in the North Tri County Conference for the unbeaten Scots. The Cardinals slipped into a first place tie with Oklee in the conference's North Division standings.

Oklee and Plummer will clash in a season-ending, division-deciding game at Oklee Fri., Oct. 24. But first, Plummer must play a 3 p.m. conference game at Middle River tomorrow (Tuesday). Oklee hosts Goodridge the same day at 7:30 p.m.

Mike Dietrich and Carey Burslie each scored twice for McIntosh Friday as the Scots moved posted a 12-0 halftime lead, stretched that margin to 24-0 at the end of three quarters and led 32-0 before surrendering a Cardinal score.

Burslie snapped a scoreless tie with a one-yard plunge in the second quarter, capping a sustained McIntosh drive.

The Scots scored an important touchdown just before intermission when a fumbled punt was recovered by McIntosh deep in Cardianl territory. Burslie scored on an eight yard run to double the Scots' lead to 12-0.

Dietrich broke the game wide open when he raced 59 yards for a touchdown on the Scots' first play from scrimmage in the second half, pushing the margin to 18-0.

Chad Burslie scored from one-yard out to make it 24-0 by the end of the third quarter.

Dietrich scored his second touchdown in the fourth quarter, a 13-yard run, as the Scots' padded their lead.

Plummer averted a shutout when Stan Tvedt scored on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Jerry Fisher with about four minutes remaining.

Despite the loss, Plummer coach Gary Brantl wasn't terribly disappointed in his team's play. "Even with that score, I think the people saw a good football game," said Brantl. "I was pretty pleased with our defensive effort; the guys never quit working."

Carl Torkelson led the Plummer defensive charge with 12 unassisted tackles and four assisted stops. "He was all over the field making hits," praised Brantl.

Brantl also had plenty of praise for McIntosh. "We ran into a really good team," he noted. "They're real quick; they execute real well; they're well drilled."

Tom Martel supplied nearly all of the Plummer ground game with 73 of the Cardinals' 89 rushing yards. Fisher completed nine of 19 pass attempts for 95 yards. Dave Walter caught four passes for 42 yards and Tvedt caught three passes for 35 yards.

Moorhead Blanks Prowlers 5-0 In Section Tennis

Thief River Falls' bid for a return trip to the Minnesota state girls' tennis tournament met with failure Saturday as the Prowlers bowed to powerful Moorhead 5-0 in a Section Eight AA tournament match played at Moorhead.

Coach Pat Johnson's Prowlers, south Sub Section champions, were eliminated from the four-team section event. Results were unavailable from the section's other match, featuring St. Cloud Apollo against Wadena.

Thief River Falls tennis players are still competing on an individual basis at the Section Eight AA tournament today (Monday) at Brainerd. Marty Minor was scheduled to play singles while Pam Prichard and Marchelle Cuppett were together for doubles today.

Nordics Lose To Unbeaten Karlstad 22-14 Saturday

Marshall County Central challenged Karlstad's unbeaten status in Top of the State Conference football play Saturday before the 7-0 Rabbits pulled out a 22-14 triumph.

Newfolden battled the heavily favored Karlstad ball club to an 8-8 first quarter standoff before falling behind 22-14 at halftime. There was no scoring after intermission.

Newfolden scored first when the Nordics took the opening kickoff and marched downfield to grab an 8-0 lead. Quarterback Jeff Sorenson passed 12 yards to Casey Riske for the touchdown and Duane Floberg added the two-point conversion.

Karlstad matched the Newfolden touchdown by taking the ensuing kickoff and marching into the end zone. Fullback Rick Olson slammed through the middle on a 27-yard touchdown romp and also added the conversion points to tie the game 8-8.

A pair of second quarter touchdowns by Todd Carlson put Karlstad in front 22-8. Carlson scored on runs of 30 and 34 yards and Olson added a two-point conversion after Carlson's first touchdown.

Newfolden pulled to within 22-14 by halftime when Sorenson and Riske got together for another 12-yard touchdown pass.

Coach Sam Gebhardt's Nordics threatened to tie the game late in the fourth quarter, but Newfolden's final two drives met with failure. Sorenson's passes carried the Nordics to near midfield before time expired in the fourth quarter. Newfolden also threatened on its previous drive, but fumbled the ball away at the Karlstad 40.

"I actually thought we outplayed them," said Gebhart. "It was a real good, close ball game. Our defense made some mistakes and they capitalized. Our kids played well, I'm real proud of them."

Newfolden gained 133 yards through the air as Sorenson hit nine of 21 pass attempts. However, the Nordics gained but 61 yards on the ground. Bruce Rokke caught five passes for 93 yards for the Nordics. Karlstad, behind the running of Olson, rushed for 181 yards. The Rabbits added 16 yards through the air.

Gebhardt cited guards Rick Waterworth and Keith Lindemoen and Bruce Rokke for strong games.

Newfolden, 2-5 for the year, will host Stephen Friday at 7:30 p.m.

McINTOSH HALFBACK Chad Burslie was brought down by Plummer defender Carl Torkelson during Friday night's key North Tri County Conference football game at Plummer. McIntosh won the battle of the unbeatens 32-6.

Clearbrook Earns 30-0 Shutout Win At Grygla

Mark Larson scored on three short touchdown runs Friday afternoon to spark Clearbrook to a 30-0 North Tri County Conference football win over Grygla on the Eagles' field.

Clearbrook jumped out to a 14-0 first quarter lead, made it 22-0 by halftime and led 30-0 after three quarters.

Larson scored on a pair of five-yard runs in the first quarter. Mike Anderson added a two-point conversion after the second touchdown.

Anderson scored on a five-yard dive play in the third quarter, followed by a Carl Rydeen conversion run.

Larson added his third touchdown of the afternoon in the third quarter, going in from two yards out. Rydeen passed by Dave Becker for the conversion points to wrap up the game's scoring.

Clearbrook held a lopsides 257 to 86 edge in rushing yardage for the game. Grygla completed nine of 16 pass attempts for 84 yards while Clearbrook made five of nine pass attempts for 82 yards. Clearbrook suffered a pair of interceptions and lost one fumble. Grygla was intercepted once and lost one fumble.

Grygla was also handicapped by 75 yards in penalties. "Penalties gave them good field position," indicated Grygla coach Jerry Lindstrom. Clearbrook has also bothered by penalties, accumulating 60 yards worth of infractions.

"We had trouble adjusting to their single wing offense," said Lindstrom, "and we never got our's (offense) generated."

Lindstrom praised the defensive play of Tom Olson and Dwight Rud.

Grygla, 2-5 for the year, will host Mentor Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in another North Tri County Conference contest.

Bemidji, Crookston Seek '75 NWAC Football Title

Fergus Falls knocked Thief River Falls out of Northwest Conference championship contention Friday with a one-sided 33-14 win, leaving only undefeated Bemidji and once-beaten Crookston as NWAC championship contenders heading into the final two weeks of the 1975 football season.

Bemidji and Crookston, both unbeaten in conference play this fall, warmed up for their title-deciding confrontation scheduled Friday at Crookston by posting nonconference wins last week when Bemidji crushed Aitkin 49-14 and Crookston squeaked by Breckenridge 12-7.

East Grand Forks handled Grand Forks Central 21-0 in a Thursday game in last week's other action featuring an NWAC member.

Thief River Falls visits East Grand Forks in conference play and Fergus Falls plays at Brainerd in a nonconference game to round out this week's schedule.

Fergus 33, TRF 14

Fergus Falls capitalized on four fumble recoveries and two interceptions to stun Thief River Falls 33-14.

Quarterback Chuck Welle scored twice for the Otters who led at one time 26-0. Mike Thomas, Jeff Austin and Tim Lillquist scored other Otter touchdowns.

Doug Dallmann scored twice for the losers, once on an 85-yard kickoff return.

Bemidji 49, Aitkin 14

Wayne Marty and Mark Erhart scored two touchdowns apiece as Bemidji ripped outmanned Aitkin 49-14.

Bemidji, never threatened by Aitkin in posting a 28-0 halftime lead, stretched its season record to a perfect 7-0 with the win.

Crookston 12, Breckenridge 7

Quarterback Joel Rood hit Joe Friederichs with a 43-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter to lift sluggish Crookston past upset-minded Breckenridge 12-7.

Rood scored the first Pirate touchdown with an 18-yard run in the second quarter. But the Pirates missed the conversion try. Breckenridge went ahead on a Robin Abel touchdown and a Jim Haine conversion kick in the third quarter.

EGF 21, Central 0

Brian Flom scored twice to spark East Grand Forks past winless rival Grand Forks Central 21-0.

Flom scored on two-yard runs in the first and second quarters and teammate Rick Beck added a 20-yard touchdown romp in the fourth stanza.

East Grand Forks' defense limited Central to just four yards rushing and 34 yards passing. Central has not scored a touchdown this year.

MSHSL Offering Seven Fall State Tourney Titles

Minnesota state high school league will conduct state championships in seven sports during a consecutive five-week period in October and November for girls and boys who are competing in fall activities throughout the state.

Team champions will be crowned in four girls sports—tennis, cross country, swimming and volleyball—while titlists will be decided for boys in cross country, soccer and football.

In all, 14 team champions and 17 individual winners will be named.

Competition at the state level will begin October 23 with the second annual state girls' tennis tournament, which will be held at three indoor Rein tennis clubs in St. Paul on October 23,24 and 25.

The three other fall state meets for girls will be conducted in November, beginning with the first ever state girls' cross country meet, which will be held November 1 at the University of Minnesota golf course. The other two girls' meets include the first ever state girls' swimming meet and second annual state volleyball tournament. Both events will be held on November 21-22. The swimming meet will be conducted at Hamline University and the volleyball tournament, which will feature Class AA and Class A matches, is scheduled for Halenbeck Hall on the campus of St. Cloud State University.

The first of three boys state meet activities this fall will be the state boys Class AA and Class A cross country meets, which will be run November 1 at the University of Minnesota golf course. The class competition will be a first in boys cross country after a 32 year history of one class competition.

The second annual state soccer tournament follows cross country with a four-team meet scheduled for the week of November 3. Semi-final action is set at two sites—Edina East and Coon Rapids—on November 4, with the championship game scheduled for November 6, at Richfield. This year's format is different from last fall's first ever affair in that two more teams will advance to the state meet.

The final boys state level activity to be held this fall will be the fourth annual state football playoffs, which will name champions again in five classes of competition—AA, A, B, C and nine-man. Semi-final games in each class will take place during the week of November 3 with final games slated for the following week.

Middle River Rips Goodridge By 54-6

Middle River quarterback Alan Ness scored five touchdowns and passed for another to carry the Skippers to a 54-6 North Tri County Conference football win over Plummer Friday.

The visiting Skippers led 16-0 at the first quarter break, made it 24-0 by halftime and 40-0 after three quarters.

Ness ran 10 and 21 yards for a pair of first quarter touchdowns. Randy Black and Rick Rananten, on a pass from Ness, added the conversion points.

Black went 18 yards in the second quarter and added the two-point conversion for a 24-0 halftime cushion.

Ness added two more touchdowns in the third quarter on runs of 21 and 40 yards. Black and Delray Beito ran for the conversion points as the score jumped to 40-0.

A 72-yard touchdown pass from Ness to Rantanen started the fourth quarter scoring. Ness then went 30 yards for his fifth touchdown, followed by a conversion run by Black.

Goodridge averated a shutout when Ryan Haugen scored on an 18-yard run with about two minutes remaining in the game.

"They were just too big for us," said Goodridge coach Ken Ewertz. "There wasn't a whole lot we could do because of their size."

Middle River rushed for 320 yards and passed for another 150 yards for 470 yards total offense. Goodridge managed only 42 yards rushing. The Huskies did accumulate 142 yards passing. Middle River topped the penalty yardage charts 115-35 and led the fumble charts 3-2. But the Skippers also blocked three Goodridge punts.

Offensive linemen Randy Nelson and Richard Vraa were singled out for blocking efforts by Ewertz.

Goodridge, losing for the seventh straight time this fall, will return to action tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Huskies play a 7:30 p.m. North Tri County Conference game at Oklee.

Public Notices

In Memorium

In memory of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Walter Rux, who passed away Oct. 14, 1970.

No one knows the silent heartaches.
Our eyes shed many a tear
The memory of those happy days
Thoughts of you are always near.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought his death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

Sadly missed by wife Lillie and children. 1t80c

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Walter Rux, who passed away Oct. 14, 1970.

No one knows the silent heartaches.
Our eyes shed many a tear
The memory of those happy days
Thoughts of you are always near.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought his death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

Sadly missed by wife Lillie and children. 1t80c

Rural America Conference Set At Crookston

Kick-off for a year-long conference on rural America is scheduled for October 16, with a news conference, dinner and general information session in Crookston. On hand to explain the importance and scope of the activity will be Minnesota commissioner of agriculture Jon Wefald, Minnesota Congressman Bob Bergland and North Dakota Congressman Mark Andrews.

The public is invited to the combined informational meeting and news conference with the legislators at 8:30 p.m. in the Crookston central high school auditorium.

"Purpose of the news conference is to inform the legislators, news media and area people about the conference on rural America and the issues it will deal with," explained conference co-chairpersons Jacqueline Bergan and Audrey Eickof. "The reason the legislators are attending is to help define some of the issues."

Conference on rural America includes a major three-day workshop in July of '76, preceded by eight pre-conference seminars. "The major three-day conference will bring community and rural people, resource people and other professional people together to formulate specific recommendations on 18 major issues," Bergan stated. "The recommendations will then be used to influence legislation.

"The goal of the conference on rural America is to make all residents of rural America aware of the need to become involved in planning their own future," Bergan concluded.

In addition to the informational meeting on the 16th, a short news conference for broadcast media will be held at 6:30 p.m. After the broadcast conference, local legislators, invited guests and press representatives will discuss the issues at a dinner held in the cafeteria. Representatives will come from business, agriculture, education and ministerial aspects of rural life. Members of the Red River valley area news media and local legislators will also attend.

Members of the Crookston Business and Professional Women's club will serve as hostesses.

Arthritis Work Given Funding By United Way

Minnesota chapter of the Arthritis foundation is a participating member of the Thief River Falls United Way with $950 allocated to the foundation. "Its work directly or indirectly helps people from our community and area," states Art Heinze, secretary of the local United Way board.

The Arthritis foundation is the voluntary health agency seeking the total answer—cause, prevention, cure—to the nation's number one crippling disease. It exists to help the millions of arthritis sufferers and to help their doctors through programs of research, patient services, public health information and education, professional education and training.

The Foundation:

(1) Supports research to discover the cause of arthritis and to develop a preventive or cure.

(2) Finances training for young medical workers to the field of arthritis.

(3) Expands community services to patients and their families.

(4) Seeks to improve treatment techniques and to make better arthritis care available to all who need it.

(5) Finances studies to develop new ways to prevent and correct disability. . .and to develop and test new drugs.

(6) Informs doctors and patients of the latest developments in arthritis.

The Arthritis foundation is where the arthritic—or the person who thinks he might have arthritis—turns for information, assurance and assistance. The patient is every chapter's first concern and reason for being.

Local chapters are information and referral centers concerning arthritis and available community services. They distribute factual literature and sponsor forums and lectures to keep patients and physicians aware of the latest developments in arthritis research and treatment.

Chapters support a wide variety of community services, including clinics, aimed at improving available care, from diagnosis to back-to-work programs.

All chapters, through their support of medical investigators and clinical research centers, play a vital role in the nationwide search for the answer to arthritis and related rheumatic disease.

Humphrey Urges Acceleration Of Recycle Program

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey recently introduced in the U.S. Senate legislation a program that would accelerate the recovery and reuse of solid wastes by municipal governments and thus conserve energy.

"According to an Environmental protection agency (EPA) analysis, over 500,000 barrels of oil daily could be saved in 1980 if our larger urban areas had solid waste recovery systems," Humphrey said in remarks to the Senate. "That is a national energy savings of $23 billion in one decade from solid waste recycling."

Humphrey indicated that his bill has two main objectives. First, it would conserve energy presently used in the destruction and disposal of urban solid waste and in the production of goods which can be recycled.

Second, the bill would generate net revenues for hard pressed local governments from the sale of recycled solid waste as well as energy produced in that process.

The Minnesota Senator lamented the fact that at this time "there are only a handful of localities now engaged in efforts to recycle solid wastes. The EPA estimates that by 1980 less than 30 urban areas will have implemented energy recovery systems. That is progress, but it is slow progress."

He observed that his progress is "more in tune with the days and times prior to the Arab oil embargo. Now is the time for effective action to obtain the benefits which solid waste recovery systems offer to a nation striving for energy independence."

Humphrey explained that there are four major constraints for municipalities in adopting solid waste recovery systems: technological constraints, market uncertainty for recycled products, lack of information and planning capability for localities and financing.

The two most severe problems, he said, are "financing and a lack of local data and planning expertise to move rapidly toward utilization of solid waste recovery systems." But he maintained that his legislation, the Municipal solid waste recovery act of 1975, "will largely eliminate these two constraints."

In detailing the Act, the Senator said that it, first, calls upon the EPA administrator to conduct a solid waste recovery system feasibility study for each major urban area not now actively planning such a system.

A second provision provides construction grants of $100 million annually over the next four fiscal years to municipalities for installation of solid waste recovery systems.

"These grants will complement existing EPA authority to stimulate the construction of facilities to recover or dispose of sewage sludge in addition to facilities for the recovery of solid wastes," Humphrey noted.

Adopts New Way To File Pension Plan Termination

A new procedure for filing a notice of intent to terminate a defined benefit pension plan has been adopted by the Pension benefit guaranty corporation (PBGC).

The procedure, which is intended to expedite processing of such terminations, expands the substantive information required in the notice of plan termination. The required information includes pertinent plan documents and a description of the plan's financial status.

The new procedure is effective Sept. 15, 1975. It is a modification of the proposed regulations on this matter, issued July 14, 1975, and reflects public comments focusing on the need to ease the filing burden on plan administrators. For example, the final regulations require the submission of plan amendments adopted or effective within the five year period preceding the date of termination, rather than all amendments. Also, the final regulations only require figures on the total number of retired and disabled participants and the aggregate amount of monthly benefits paid to such participants, rather than requiring a breakdown of data as between these classes of participants.

A number of comments were received suggesting that the plan administrator be required to notify affected employees of the proposed termination. The final regulations require that immediately upon the filing of a notice with PBGC the plan administrator shall also give written notification of this fact to the affected employees.

Pursuant to Section 4041 of the Employee retirement income security act of 1974 (ERISA), a plan administrator is required to file a notice with PBGC at least 10 days before the proposed termination of a defined pension plan covered by Title IV of ERISA.

Copies of the new regulations may be obtained by writing to PBGC at p.o. box 7119, Washington, D.C. 20044, or by calling the PBGC office of communications at (202) 254-4817.

People's Arts Festival At BSU Oct. 25, 26

A doll artist, a coppersmith, a chainsaw sculptor and the Oak Hills Bible institute choir will all be sharing the spotlight at the fourth annual people's arts festival, October 25 and 26 at Bemidji state university. Festival director Dave Pedersen is expecting the return of many familiar artists with a few new names being added to the roster.

"It's a real mix from beginners to extremely talented professionals. We expect at least 300 exhibitors this year, and so far, 30 per cent have not attended in the past. Just a random sample shows people from Cloquet, Cannon Falls, Minneapolis, Duluth, Wisconsin, Minot, N.D., and of course Bemidji," Pedersen said.

Director of the BSU Hobson memorial union and president of the North country arts council, he believes this is the biggest arts event taking place north of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Last March the festival encompassed five floors and drew an attendance of 10,000 people.

Hours for the general public this year will be noon until 9 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Coffee and food services will remain open throughout.

In discussing the philosophy of such a concept, Pedersen emphasizes the element of participation. "We want it to be more than just a visual experience more than just looking at art. People want to know what goes into the different processes and, in some cases, there will even be opportunity for both children and adults to get their hands dirty."

Pedersen is still accepting registration blanks until the cutoff date of October 21. North country arts council and affiliate group members may register free of charge, with others able to exhibit at a cost of $5 per person, $7.50 per family, and $1 for a student. This gives membership to the North country arts council and exhibition space in both the festival and summer's Art-In-The-Park.

There is no entrance fee for the general public, but most items on display are for sale.

For more information, contact Dave Pedersen at the Hobson memorial union, Bemidji state university, Bemidji, MN 56601; or phone 218-755-2065.

TRFEA Requests Arbitration In Duel With Board

Thief River Falls Education association has requested the Minnesota bureau of mediation services to declare that an impasse exists in negotiations between the Thief River Falls Education association and the local board of education. The letter of request to Warren Sandquist of the bureau of mediation services also asks that an arbitration panel be convened as soon as possible.

Action by the TRFEA follows similar action taken by the board of education a week ago. One mediation session was held with a state mediator and reportedly failed to produce any meaningful movement toward settlement.

Don Hejlik, chairman of the negotiating team for the TRFEA, stated that a list of 23 items had been presented in writing to the mediator as being negotiable at the one meeting which was held. He said the same list is being submitted by the TRFEA to be certified for arbitration, although a list submitted by the board of education contains only 17 items.

"We have not agreed to this deletion (six items removed from the list)," Hejlik said in his letter to Sandquist, "and we will insist that all items be certified." The items in question are dental insurance, class size, lane change, extra-ordinary leave, duty assignment and teacher transfer.

Items submitted for certification by both the board and TRFEA include holidays, health and term life insurance, pay rates for emergency substitute duties, severance pay, personal leave, professional association released time, Sabbatical leave, extra—, co— and intra—curricular activities, homebound instruction, summer school salaries, pre-school diagnostic clinic, curriculum development, working schedules, adult evening education, teachers' salary schedule, extra-curricular pay schedule and teacher contract.

Asked if he had any comment to make regarding the current situation, Hejlik issued the following statement Tuesday:

"It is obvious that the board had no intention of negotiating a salary settlement of an equitable nature. Their action to dock teachers' salaries for time spent in mediation and arbitration indicates their intent to coerce teachers into accepting an undesirable agreement.

"We wonder if the public is aware that arbitration costs BOTH teachers and school district; that each arbitrator receives $100 per day plus expenses, and that the cost is equally divided between the parties. It seems strange that a school board already receiving $18,000 in salaries must bring in outside help to do their work and make their agreement for them."

In separate action Monday, arbitrator Albert Karlins will hear a grievance by the local teachers on the question of step advancement under the existing salary schedule. That meeting is set for 1:30 p.m. in the school district service center.

At issue is whether teachers employed in the local district under continuing contract in the absence of settlement for 1975-76 are entitled to step advancement on the schedule in effect for 1974-75. Teachers are presently being paid on the same rate as a year ago.

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT is said to be the key to success of the home start program operated through the Inter-County Community council at Oklee. The program is for youngsters age 4 and 5 who will be starting kindergarten the following year, with 90 per cent of the enrollees to be from economically disadvantaged families. Home visitors, like Cheryl Bjerklie (right), help parents with lessons and advice to prepare their children for entering kindergarten. Mrs. Sharon Hagen is pictured with Cheryl, reviewing the parent notebook which includes a program review and resource outline. Mrs. Hagen's son Timothy is enrolled in the program.

United Way Collection Hits $17,000; Meeting Monday

Nearly $17,000 was the total amount of pledges recorded to date at the United Way board meeting held Monday evening at Northwestern hospital, according to Jack LaSalle, business drive chairman. Many volunteers were still completing their assigned area with anticipation of completing the business section of the campaign by the weekend.

LaSalle urged all volunteers to complete their assignments and expressed hope that "every wage earner will participate generously in this total community effort of people helping people."

The residential door-to-door campaign will begin on Tuesday, according to chair persons Rita Phelps, Jan Hoff and Maxine McEwen. A special volunteer orientation meeting is scheduled for 8 to 9 p.m. in room A-16 at Northland community college. All residential door-to-door volunteers are encouraged to attend this very important meeting.

Volunteers will be shown a new United Way orientation slide presentation showing how United Way contributions help people locally. They will also receive their packets, instructions on how to use them, and be given an opportunity to ask questions.

All contributors are asked to display their new 1975 "We gave" sticker so that the residential volunteer will not need to call on you again.

Other volunteers assisting in the campaign were Joy Rhoden, who painted the United Way goal thermometer which is located on the post office lawn; Rick Adams, who took the pictures for the slide presentation; Gary Ellingson, who narrated the slide series, and Dan Schafland, who wrote the script; Boy Scouts from Troop 57, 60 and 199, who helped stuff packets and post posters; Cub scouts and Girl scouts, who delivered United Way brochures throughout the city; and the Mrs. Jaycees, who assisted with poster and other publicity efforts.

Board chairman Larry White expressed his appreciation to all the volunteers who are working or have worked on the campaign. He also asked that every wage earner make his or her contribution to help achieve the $55,000 goal.

Following are the 145 volunteers who will be assisting in the door-to-door campaign:

Mrs. Robert Glauque, Mrs. Duane Larson, Mrs. Evan K. Hanson, Mrs. Maynard Peters, Mrs. Wally Grovum, Mrs. Ervin Larson, Mrs. Robert Middlestad, Mrs. Ralph Skay, Mrs. Orval Feragen, Mrs. Ralph Stoffel, Mrs. Loren Brenna, Mrs. Del Bergdahl, Mrs. Walt Wicklander, Mrs. Ernest DeLorme, Mrs.

Council Considers Sidewalk Clearing

During a busy regular meeting in the city auditorium council chambers Tuesday night, the Thief River Falls city council took the first steps toward development of a program to provide snow shoveling services at the homes of elderly and handicapped city residents this winter.

At the request of Mrs. Melva Owen, a primary supporter of the proposal, Lowell Koebernick, area CETA supervisor, appeared before the council to discuss the possibility of providing unemployed local residents registered with CETA for the program. He said the federal government would pay the salaries of these people and provide workmen's compensation benefits, but the city would be obligated to provide a supervisor and guarantee at least 20 hours a week to the workers.

The council expressed a desire to provide snow shoveling if a reasonable program can be developed, and referred the matter to the park and recreations board for a recommendation. Depending on the board's decision, the council could take further action at the first regular meeting in November.

Later, the council approved a 1976 tax levy to city residents of $392,433, a 5.3 per cent increase over the 1975 actual levy of $372,774. Included in the amount are: Taxes subject to the levy limit—$75,000; liability insurance—$19,581; public pensions—$100,889; and bonded debt—$19,563. Also approved was a state aid increase over last year of 28.1 per cent; $342,415 compared to $266,904 in 1975.

In an attempt to expand the present municipal liquor store site on highway 59 east, the council resolved to offer $3,200 to Olger Langheld of Grand Forks, N.D., for a 150 x 107 foot section of his property located directly behind the liquor store. The council felt that this facility should be remodeled and enlarged since the other city liquor facility on Main avenue has been sold. At present there are no plans for a new city off-sale facility in the downtown area.

Charles Blazek and Marvin Neelan, purchasers of the city downtown on and off-sale facility, were granted an on-sale intoxicating liquor license at the meeting last night. The two TRF residents will begin preliminary remodeling soon, with construction to be completed between December 31 (closure date of the city facility) and January 15 (when Blazek and Neelan assume ownership).

The council discussed the status of the Northern Motors building. City attorney Robert Wurst referred to a letter from

Soo Line Loads Near 1 Million Tons Of Grain

Soo Line loaded nearly one million tons of grain during the months of August and September at country elevators in North and South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota, an increase of 88 per cent over the same two months in 1974. During September 562,038 tons moved from country points, a record for the company which exceeds the previous high of 548,252 tons set in August of 1973.

"Grain loading at country points has been very strong in recent weeks," Soo's president Leonard H. Murray said, "with a corresponding and immediate demand for freight cars. Soo Line was able to handle the significant increase in tonnage in August and September without any serious car shortages in the country.

"This most recent upswing in grain loading is encouraging during a period when many commodities are not being shipped at the level of previous years. While we expect grain loadings from the country to be less in October and November than occurred in the record month of September, we expect a good grain movement during the balance of the year."

Home Start Program Works With Parents

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

To help pre-kindergarten children from economically disadvantaged families receive the benefit of parental involvement in their education, a "home start" program is being operated by the Inter-County Community council headquartered in Oklee. There are 90 youngsters in the 4-5 age group enrolled for home visits and up to 300 in center base programs.

"Parental involvement is the key to our program," states Lowell Enerson, home start director for the inter-county council. "The purpose for our eight home visitors is as much to help parents work with their children as it is to work with the children themselves."

Enerson believes in the theory that half of what a person learns is learned before six years of age, and that the parents can do a better job of helping a child learn if they have some assistance in knowing how to teach. But he also notes that seven of the eight home visitors are not certificated as teachers. Rather, they are mothers with practical experience in working with children and who have had the benefit of special training from pre-school education specialists.

The home start program involves having the home visitor (teacher, if you will) call at the home of the student once every two weeks. The visit will last about an hour, during which time the visitor will leave lessons and materials for the parents, assist the parents and child in new experiences and offer information and answer questions related to the child's educational development.

Every two weeks the child attends the center base program for his or her particular community. This center base is usually in a school, but churches and public buildings are also used. At the center base students learn to adapt to social and group situations. Attendance at the center bases includes the home visit enrollees and a number of other children who are registered to attend.

"In my two years with the program I have seen the demand for it increase," Enerson said. "Although we are restricted by federal guidelines to having 90 per cent of our enrollment from families rated as economically disadvantaged, we find that many parents with larger incomes would like the same program for their children. In many cases, the need may be as great or even greater for those children, but we have to work within the structure which has been developed for the program nationally."

For the present program year (April 1, 1975 through March 31, 1976) the home start program has been funded for $86,041 (plus a special handicapped grant of $8,500) through the Inter-County Community council. The budget was adopted by an overall policy council comprised of representatives of parent

3 Cases Of Cow Mutilation Found

Three cases of unusual cattle deaths and partial or extensive mutilation are being investigated by law enforcement authorities in Pennington and Marshall counties. The most recent incident happened Sunday evening on the Edwin Halvorson farm about 16 miles north of Gully.

In a telephone interview with the Times this morning, Halvorson said he found the two-year-old beef heifer Monday morning in a pasture about half a mile from the nearest buildings. One eye was missing, the tongue cut off, and the rectum, teats and udder removed. There were 134 head of cattle in the pasture and none of the others appeared to be damaged.

Halvorson said a veterinarian inspected the animal today and indicated that he could not determine a cause of death.

Halvorson's loss took place about a mile east of the Clifford Arveson farm where a beef heifer was killed about two weeks ago. The heifer was owned by David Rindahl and pastured with about 160 head of Arveson's cattle. The heifer was found about a quarter mile from the Arveson house. One ear had been cut off "in one slick cut", Arveson said, but no other mutilation was done.

Absence of blood was an interesting aspect of the dead animal at the Arveson farm. Arveson said veterinary examination revealed that the heifer's neck had been broken and skull broken, although there was no sign of exterior damage to the animal.

A third loss took place just over two weeks ago at the Gerald Pederson farm about four miles northeast of Viking in Marshall county. A dairy cow was found about half a mile from the buildings in the far corner of the pasture. The tongue and tail had been cut off and the rectum, udder and female organs removed.

In addition to the dead cow, the Pedersons found a heifer and bull

Rural America Conference Set At Crookston

Kick-off for a year-long conference on rural America is scheduled for October 16, with a news conference, dinner and general information session in Crookston. On hand to explain the importance and scope of the activity will be Minnesota commissioner of agriculture Jon Wefald, Minnesota Congressman Bob Bergland and North Dakota Congressman Mark Andrews.

The public is invited to the combined informational meeting and news conference with the legislators at 8:30 p.m. in the Crookston central high school auditorium.

"Purpose of the news conference is to inform the legislators, news media and area people about the conference on rural America and the issues it will deal with," explained conference co-chairpersons Jacqueline Bergan and Audrey Eickof. "The reason the legislators are attending is to help define some of the issues."

Conference on rural America includes a major three-day workshop in July of '76, preceded by eight pre-conference seminars. "The major three-day conference will bring community and rural people, resource people and other professional people together to formulate specific recommendations on 18 major issues," Bergan stated. "The recommendations will then be used to influence legislation.

"The goal of the conference on rural America is to make all residents of rural America aware of the need to become involved in planning their own future," Bergan concluded.

In addition to the informational meeting on the 16th, a short news conference for broadcast media will be held at 6:30 p.m. After the broadcast conference, local legislators, invited guests and press representatives will discuss the issues at a dinner held in the cafeteria. Representatives will come from business, agriculture, education and ministerial aspects of rural life. Members of the Red River valley area news media and local legislators will also attend.

Members of the Crookston Business and Professional Women's club will serve as hostesses.

Arthritis Work Given Funding By United Way

Minnesota chapter of the Arthritis foundation is a participating member of the Thief River Falls United Way with $950 allocated to the foundation. "Its work directly or indirectly helps people from our community and area," states Art Heinze, secretary of the local United Way board.

The Arthritis foundation is the voluntary health agency seeking the total answer—cause, prevention, cure—to the nation's number one crippling disease. It exists to help the millions of arthritis sufferers and to help their doctors through programs of research, patient services, public health information and education, professional education and training.

The Foundation:

(1) Supports research to discover the cause of arthritis and to develop a preventive or cure.

(2) Finances training for young medical workers to the field of arthritis.

(3) Expands community services to patients and their families.

(4) Seeks to improve treatment techniques and to make better arthritis care available to all who need it.

(5) Finances studies to develop new ways to prevent and correct disability. . .and to develop and test new drugs.

(6) Informs doctors and patients of the latest developments in arthritis.

The Arthritis foundation is where the arthritic—or the person who thinks he might have arthritis—turns for information, assurance and assistance. The patient is every chapter's first concern and reason for being.

Local chapters are information and referral centers concerning arthritis and available community services. They distribute factual literature and sponsor forums and lectures to keep patients and physicians aware of the latest developments in arthritis research and treatment.

Chapters support a wide variety of community services, including clinics, aimed at improving available care, from diagnosis to back-to-work programs.

All chapters, through their support of medical investigators and clinical research centers, play a vital role in the nationwide search for the answer to arthritis and related rheumatic disease.

Humphrey Urges Acceleration Of Recycle Program

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey recently introduced in the U.S. Senate legislation a program that would accelerate the recovery and reuse of solid wastes by municipal governments and thus conserve energy.

"According to an Environmental protection agency (EPA) analysis, over 500,000 barrels of oil daily could be saved in 1980 if our larger urban areas had solid waste recovery systems," Humphrey said in remarks to the Senate. "That is a national energy savings of $23 billion in one decade from solid waste recycling."

Humphrey indicated that his bill has two main objectives. First, it would conserve energy presently used in the destruction and disposal of urban solid waste and in the production of goods which can be recycled. Second, the bill would generate net revenues for hard pressed local governments from the sale of recycled solid waste as well as energy produced in that process.

The Minnesota Senator lamented the fact that at this time "there are only a handful of localities now engaged in efforts to recycle solid wastes. The EPA estimates that by 1980 less than 30 urban areas will have implemented energy recovery systems. That is progress, but it is slow progress."

He observed that his progress is "more in tune with the days and times prior to the Arab oil embargo. Now is the time for effective action to obtain the benefits which solid waste recovery systems offer to a nation striving for energy independence."

Humphrey explained that there are four major constraints for municipalities in adopting solid waste recovery systems: technological constraints, market uncertainty for recycled products, lack of information and planning capability for localities and financing.

The two most severe problems, he said, are "financing and a lack of local data and planning expertise to move rapidly toward utilization of solid waste recovery systems." But he maintained that his legislation, the Municipal solid waste recovery act of 1975, "will largely eliminate these two constraints."

In detailing the Act, the Senator said that it, first, calls upon the EPA administrator to conduct a solid waste recovery system feasibility study for each major urban area not now actively planning such a system.

A second provision provides construction grants of $100 million annually over the next four fiscal years to municipalities for installation of solid waste recovery systems.

"These grants will complement existing EPA authority to stimulate the construction of facilities to recover or dispose of sewage sludge in addition to facilities for the recovery of solid wastes," Humphrey noted.

Adopts New Way To File Pension Plan Termination

A new procedure for filing a notice of intent to terminate a defined benefit pension plan has been adopted by the Pension benefit guaranty corporation (PBGC).

The procedure, which is intended to expedite processing of such terminations, expands the substantive information required in the notice of plan termination. The required information includes pertinent plan documents and a description of the plan's financial status.

The new procedure is effective Sept. 15, 1975. It is a modification of the proposed regulations on this matter, issued July 14, 1975, and reflects public comments focusing on the need to ease the filing burden on plan administrators. For example, the final regulations require the submission of plan amendments adopted or effective within the five year period preceding the date of termination, rather than all amendments. Also, the final regulations only require figures on the total number of retired and disabled participants and the aggregate amount of monthly benefits paid to such participants, rather than requiring a breakdown of data as between these classes of participants.

A number of comments were received suggesting that the plan administrator be required to notify affected employees of the proposed termination. The final regulations require that immediately upon the filing of a notice with PBGC the plan administrator shall also give written notification of this fact to the affected employees.

Pursuant to Section 4041 of the Employee retirement income security act of 1974 (ERISA), a plan administrator is required to file a notice with PBGC at least 10 days before the proposed termination of a defined pension plan covered by Title IV of ERISA.

Copies of the new regulations may be obtained by writing to PBGC at p.o. box 7119, Washington, D.C. 20044, or by calling the PBGC office of communications at (202) 254-4817.

People's Arts Festival At BSU Oct. 25, 26

A doll artist, a coppersmith, a chainsaw sculptor and the Oak Hills Bible institute choir will all be sharing the spotlight at the fourth annual people's arts festival; October 25 and 26 at Bemidji state university. Festival director Dave Pedersen is expecting the return of many familiar artists with a few new names being added to the roster.

"It's a real mix from beginners to extremely talented professionals. We expect at least 300 exhibitors this year, and so far, 30 per cent have not attended in the past. Just a random sample shows people from Cloquet, Cannon Falls, Minneapolis, Duluth, Wisconsin, Minot, N.D., and of course Bemidji," Pedersen said.

Director of the BSU Hobson memorial union and president of the North country arts council, he believes this is the biggest arts event taking place north of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Last March the festival encompassed five floors and drew an attendance of 10,000 people.

Hours for the general public this year will be noon until 9 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Coffee and food services will remain open throughout.

In discussing the philosophy of such a concept, Pedersen emphasizes the element of participation. "We want it to be more than just a visual experience more than just looking at art. People want to know what goes into the different processes and, in some cases, there will even be opportunity for both children and adults to get their hands dirty."

Pedersen is still accepting registration blanks until the cutoff date of October 21. North country arts council and affiliate group members may register free of charge, with others able to exhibit at a cost of $5 per person, $7.50 per family, and $1 for a student. This gives membership to the North country arts council and exhibition space in both the festival and summer's Art-In-The-Park.

There is no entrance fee for the general public, but most items on display are for sale.

United Way Collection Hits $17,000; Meeting Monday

Nearly $17,000 was the total amount of pledges recorded to date at the United Way board meeting held Monday evening at Northwestern hospital, according to Jack LaSalle, business drive chairman. Many volunteers were still completing their assigned area with anticipation of completing the business section of the campaign by the weekend.

LaSalle urged all volunteers to complete their assignments and expressed hope that "every wage earner will participate generously in this total community effort of people helping people."

The residential door-to-door campaign will begin on Tuesday, according to chair persons Rita Phelps, Jan Hoff and Maxine McEwen. A special volunteer orientation meeting is scheduled for 8 to 9 p.m. in room A-16 at Northland community college. All residential door-to-door volunteers are encouraged to attend this very important meeting.

Volunteers will be shown a new United Way orientation slide presentation showing how United Way contributions help people locally. They will also receive their packets, instructions on how to use them, and be given an opportunity to ask questions.

All contributors are asked to display their new 1975 "We gave" sticker so that the residential volunteer will not need to call on you again.

Other volunteers assisting in the campaign were Joy Rhoden, who painted the United Way goal thermometer which is located on the post office lawn; Rick Adams, who took the pictures for the slide presentation; Gary Ellingson, who narrated the slide series, and Dan Schafland, who wrote the script; Boy Scouts from Troop 57, 60 and 199, who helped stuff packets and post posters; Cub scouts and Girl scouts, who delivered United Way brochures throughout the city; and the Mrs. Jaycees, who assisted with poster and other publicity efforts.

Board chairman Larry White expressed his appreciation to all the volunteers who are working or have worked on the campaign. He also asked that every wage earner make his or her contribution to help achieve the $55,000 goal.

Following are the 145 volunteers who will be assisting in the door-to-door campaign:

Mrs. Robert Glauque, Mrs. Duane Larson, Mrs. Evan K. Hanson, Mrs. Maynard Peters, Mrs. Wally Grovum, Mrs. Ervin Larson, Mrs. Robert Middlestad, Mrs. Ralph Skay, Mrs. Orval Feragen, Mrs. Ralph Stoffel, Mrs. Loren Brenna, Mrs. Del Bergdahl, Mrs. Walt Wicklander, Mrs. Ernest DeLorme, Mrs.

Council Considers Sidewalk Clearing

During a busy regular meeting in the city auditorium council chambers, Tuesday night, the Thief River Falls city council took the first steps toward development of a program to provide snow shoveling services at the homes of elderly and handicapped city residents this winter.

At the request of Mrs. Melva Owen, a primary supporter of the proposal, Lowell Koebernick, area CETA supervisor, appeared before the council to discuss the possibility of providing unemployed local residents registered with CETA for the program. He said the federal government would pay the salaries of these people and provide workmen's compensation benefits, but the city would be obligated to provide a supervisor and guarantee at least 20 hours a week to the workers.

The council expressed a desire to provide snow shoveling if a reasonable program can be developed, and referred the matter to the park and recreations board for a recommendation. Depending on the board's decision, the council could take further action at the first regular meeting in November.

Later, the council approved a 1976 tax levy to city residents of $392,433, a 5.3 per cent increase over the 1975 actual levy of $372,774. Included in the amount are: Taxes subject to the levy limit—$75,000; liability insurance—$19,581; public pensions—$100,889; and bonded debt—$19,563. Also approved was a state aid increase over last year of 28.1 per cent; $342,415 compared to $266,904 in 1975.

In an attempt to expand the present municipal liquor store site on highway 59 east, the council resolved to offer $3,200 to Olger Langheid of Grand Forks, N.D., for a 150 x 107 foot section of his property located directly behind the liquor store. The council felt that this facility should be remodeled and enlarged since the other city liquor facility on Main avenue has been sold. At present there are no plans for a new city off-sale facility in the downtown area.

Charles Blazek and Marvin Neelan, purchasers of the city downtown on and off-sale facility, were granted an on-sale intoxicating liquor license at the meeting last night. The two TRF residents will begin preliminary remodeling soon, with construction to be completed between December 31 (closure date of the city facility) and January 15 (when Blazek and Neelan assume ownership).

The council discussed the status of the Northern Motors building. City attorney Robert Wurst referred to a letter from

TRFEA Requests Arbitration In Duel With Board

Thief River Falls Education association has requested the Minnesota bureau of mediation services to declare that an impasse exists in negotiations between the Thief River Falls Education association and the local board of education. The letter of request to Warren Sandquist of the bureau of mediation services also asks that an arbitration panel be convened as soon as possible.

Action by the TRFEA follows similar action taken by the board of education a week ago. One mediation session was held with a state mediator and reportedly failed to produce any meaningful movement toward settlement.

Don Hejlik, chairman of the negotiating team for the TRFEA, stated that a list of 23 items had been presented in writing to the mediator as being negotiable at the one meeting which was held. He said the same list is being submitted by the TRFEA to be certified for arbitration, although a list submitted by the board of education contains only 17 items.

"We have not agreed to this deletion (six items removed from the list)," Hejlik said in his letter to Sandquist, "and we will insist that all items be certified." The items in question are dental insurance, class size, lane change, extra-ordinary leave, duty assignment and teacher transfer.

Items submitted for certification by both the board and TRFEA include holidays, health and term life insurance, pay rates for emergency substitute duties, severance pay, personal leave, professional association released time, Sabbatical leave, extra—, co— and intra—curricular activities, homebound instruction, summer school salaries, pre-school diagnostic clinic, curriculum development, working schedules, adult evening education, teachers' salary schedule, extra-curricular pay schedule and teacher contract.

Asked if he had any comment to make regarding the current situation, Hejlik issued the following statement Tuesday:

"It is obvious that the board had no intention of negotiating a salary settlement of an equitable nature. Their action to dock teachers' salaries for time spent in mediation and arbitration indicates their intent to coerce teachers into accepting an undesirable agreement.

"We wonder if the public is aware that arbitration costs BOTH teachers and school district; that each arbitrator receives $100 per day plus expenses, and that the cost is equally divided between the parties. It seems strange that a school board already receiving $18,000 in salaries must bring in outside help to do their work and make their agreement for them."

In separate action Monday, arbitrator Albert Karlins will hear a grievance by the local teachers on the question of step advancement under the existing salary schedule. That meeting is set for 1:30 p.m. in the school district service center.

At issue is whether teachers employed in the local district under continuing contract in the absence of settlement for 1975-76 are entitled to step advancement on the schedule in effect for 1974-75. Teachers are presently being paid on the same rate as a year ago.

Soo Line Loads Near 1 Million Tons Of Grain

Soo Line loaded nearly one million tons of grain during the months of August and September at country elevators in North and South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota, an increase of 88 per cent over the same two months in 1974. During September 562,038 tons moved from country points, a record for the company which exceeds the previous high of 548,252 tons set in August of 1973.

"Grain loading at country points has been very strong in recent weeks," Soo's president Leonard H. Murray said, "with a corresponding and immediate demand for freight cars. Soo Line was able to handle the significant increase in tonnage in August and September without any serious car shortages in the country.

"This most recent upswing in grain loading is encouraging during a period when many commodities are not being shipped at the level of previous years. While we expect grain loadings from the country to be less in October and November than occurred in the record month of September, we expect a good grain movement during the balance of the year."

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT is said to be the key to success of the home start program operated through the Inter-County Community council at Oklee. The program is for youngsters age 4 and 5 who will be starting kindergarten the following year, with 90 per cent of the enrollees to be from economically disadvantaged families. Home visitors, like Cheryl Bjerklie (right), help parents with lessons and advice to prepare their children for entering kindergarten. Mrs. Sharon Hagen is pictured with Cheryl, reviewing the parent notebook which includes a program review and resource outline. Mrs. Hagen's son Timothy is enrolled in the program.

Home Start Program Works With Parents

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

To help pre-kindergarten children from economically disadvantaged families receive the benefit of parental involvement in their education, a "home start" program is being operated by the Inter-County Community council headquartered in Oklee. There are 90 youngsters in the 4-5 age group enrolled for home visits and up to 300 in center base programs.

"Parental involvement is the key to our program," states Lowell Enerson, home start director for the inter-county council. "The purpose for our eight home visitors is as much to help parents work with their children as it is to work with the children themselves."

Enerson believes in the theory that half of what a person learns is learned before six years of age, and that the parents can do a better job of helping a child learn if they have some assistance in knowing how to teach. But he also notes that seven of the eight home visitors are not certificated as teachers. Rather, they are mothers with practical experience in working with children and who have had the benefit of special training from pre-school education specialists.

The home start program involves having the home visitor (teacher, if you will) call at the home of the student once every two weeks. The visit will last about an hour, during which time the visitor will leave lessons and materials for the parents, assist the parents and child in new experiences and offer information and answer questions related to the child's educational development.

Every two weeks the child attends the center base program for his or her particular community. This center base is usually in a school, but churches and public buildings are also used. At the center base students learn to adapt to social and group situations. Attendance at the center bases includes the home visit enrollees and a number of other children who are registered to attend.

"In my two years with the program I have seen the demand for it increase," Enerson said. "Although we are restricted by federal guidelines to having 90 per cent of our enrollment from families rated as economically disadvantaged, we find that many parents with larger incomes would like the same program for their children. In many cases, the need may be as great or even greater for those children, but we have to work within the structure which has been developed for the program nationally."

For the present program year (April 1, 1975 through March 31, 1976) the home start program has been funded for $86,041 (plus a special handicapped grant of $8,500) through the Inter-County Community council. The budget was adopted by an overall policy council comprised of representatives of parent

Three cases of unusual cattle deaths and partial or extensive mutilation are being investigated by law enforcement authorities in Pennington and Marshall counties. The most recent incident happened Sunday evening on the Edwin Halvorson farm about 16 miles north of Gully.

In a telephone interview with the Times this morning, Halvorson said he found the two-year-old beef heifer Monday morning in a pasture about half a mile from the nearest buildings. One eye was missing, the tongue cut off, and the rectum, teats and udder removed. There were 134 head of cattle in the pasture and none of the others appeared to be damaged.

Halvorson said a veterinarian inspected the animal today and indicated that he could not determine a cause of death.

Halvorson's loss took place about a mile east of the Clifford Arveson farm where a beef heifer was killed about two weeks ago. The heifer was owned by David Rindahl and pastured with about 160 head of Arveson's cattle. The heifer was found about a quarter mile from the Arveson house. One ear had been cut off "in one slick cut", Arveson said, but no other mutilation was done.

Absence of blood was an interesting aspect of the dead animal at the Arveson farm. Arveson said veterinary examination revealed that the heifer's neck had been broken and skull broken, although there was no sign of exterior damage to the animal.

A third loss took place just over two weeks ago at the Gerald Pederson farm about four miles northeast of Viking in Marshall county. A dairy cow was found about half a mile from the buildings in the far corner of the pasture. The tongue and tail had been cut off and the rectum, udder and female organs removed.

In addition to the dead cow, the Pedersons found a heifer and bull

Culkins-Cedergren Vows Exchanged At Plummer

Miss Gloria Culkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Culkins of rural Plummer, and Randy Cedergren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cedergren of Lancaster, exchanged marriage vows recently at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic church in Plummer.

Rev. Larry Wieseler officiated at the double ring ceremony. Lowell Cedergren of Lancaster, uncle of the groom, served as lector and read a selection chosen by the couple. Organist was the bride's former music teacher, Mrs. Ellen Pierce. She accompanied Mrs. Merle Gustafson as she sang, "For All We Know," at the beginning of the ceremony, "The Wedding Song," as the couple lit the unity candle, and "The Wedding Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar. The assembled relatives and friends participated in the ceremony by singing, "Where Charity and Love Prevail." Acolytes were Nancie Culkins and Curtiss Cedergren, sister and brother of the bride and groom.

Candelabra graced with greens and white ribbon bows formed the chancel setting.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of Nottingham lace with ruffled lace accenting the yoke, high neckline and the deep cuffs of the full-length bishop sleeves. Similar ruffles edged the A-line skirt. Her lace Camelot headpiece, etched with seed pearls, held her double-tiered viel which was edged with Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade of pink gladioli, blue carnations and white daisies, complemented by babies' breath.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Janice Culkins. Other attendants were Doreen Bjerknes of Thief River Falls, another sister of the bride, and Deb Locken of Lancaster, a friend of the couple. Their gowns of floral-flocked sheer dacron, fully lined except for the long, sheer sleeves, were in empire fashion with lace trim around the neckline and the bib front. The gown worn by the maid of honor was in blue; the others were pink. Each carried a bouquet of pink gladioli, blue carnations and white daisies, tied with ribbon streamers to match their gowns. Their gold wedding bell necklaces were gifts from the bride.

The bride's personal attendant and junior attendant were Ranelle Cedergren of Lancaster, sister of the groom, and Nancie Culkins, sister of the bride. They also pinned the flowers.

Al Reddington of Anoka attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Keith Cedergren of Lancaster, another brother, and Randy Nordin of Lancaster, a friend. Ushers were Richard Culkins of Plummer, brother of the bride, and Ken Cedergren of Stephen, a brother of the groom. All the men of the wedding party wore brown tuxedos with black velvet trim. Their tuxedos were accented by ruffled shirts and carnation boutonnieres to correspond with the gowns worn by the bride's attendants.

The mother of the bride was attired in a powder blue empire fashioned A-line gown with stand-up collar and long sleeves of Nottingham lace. The mother of the groom wore a floor-length gown of a floral print featuring clusters of flowers in blue, rust and berry, styled with a shirred bodice with an open neckline. Their corsages were of daisies and gladioli.

Special guests at the ceremony were Mrs. Sadie Sorenson, paternal grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Freda Reddington and Mrs. Esther Cedergren, grandmothers of the groom. Each was presented with a corsage of white daisies with pink and blue gladioli.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nelson of Lancaster, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, served as host and hostess.

To correspond with the bride's chosen colors, the dining area was decorated with pink and blue streamers. Pink and blue flowers and ribbon streamers also complemented the three-tiered wedding cake that graced the serving table. The cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Mervin Hyde, was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Wedding bells surrounded the base. Mrs. Art Schiefert, godmother of the bride, and Mrs. Lowell Homstad of Lancaster, aunt of the groom, cut and served the cake. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Marvin Mehrkens of Thief River Falls, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Randy Nordin, a friend of the couple.

Waitresses were Lindy Fisher and Tammy Gerardy. Assisting in the kitchen were Carol Gerardy, Margaret Greenwald, Monica Fallon and Nadine Johnson.

Approximately 125 relatives and friends attended the reception. Mrs. Ken Cedergren of Stephen, sister-in-law of the groom, registered the guests. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Culkins, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Lawrence Homstad, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Greg Wilson, a friend of the couple, assisted the bride and groom in the opening of the gifts. Serving as gift bearers were Shelly and Connie Homstad of Lancaster, cousins of the groom. Mark Bjerknes, brother-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the flowers. (The birthdays of the groom's father and aunt, observed that day were also noted.)

A wedding dance was held in the evening at the Plummer hall with the music provided by the Stardust band. Following the rehearsal, the evening prior to the wedding, the parents of the groom hosted a supper at the Third Base in Brooks.

The couple is now at home in Argyle where both are employed. The groom is employed by the City and the bride at the City Clerk's office and at the Card and Gift Shop. Both attended Northland Community college in Thief River Falls and Bemidji State college.

If the Shoe Fits

Is there more to shoe fitting?

We have considered three aspects of correct fitting - length, width, and heel fit. A professional shoe fitter will also determine the fit under the arch. The upper leather of the shoe fits snugly under the arch. If the shoe wrinkles at this part, the shoe does not have a correct fit. Another shoe in the same size but a different last may be needed or a different size shoe.

Another check for fit is gaping on the outer side of the instep. This too, may indicate a different last of shoe. Many people who have flat feet or some degree of pronation usually have a shoe that gaps at this point. It is sometimes difficult to do without some type of foot correction.

Still another check is to observe for proper vamp crease. When the customer walks in the shoe, the forepart of the shoe should show two parallel creases across this part of the foot. If the vamp crease is too far forward to the toe region, the person may suffer from vamp bit, with resulting blisters. If the crease is not parallel, the shoe would either be too long or too wide. It is obvious that proper shoe fit requires the conscientious help of an experienced shoe fitter.

Mother Goose To Be Staged Here

Thief River Falls community arts council, which sponsored the local appearance of the Artrain earlier this year, is bringing the Minneapolis Children's Theatre group to Thief River Falls for a performance Saturday afternoon.

The children's theatre will perform at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium, presenting the production "Mother Goose" which includes approximately 60 of the famous rhymes. Music and dancing will be used as an integral part of the production.

Local performance will be one of more than 50 appearances to be made by the theatre during its current midwest tour. Admission will be 75 cents for children 12 years of age and younger, $1 for students 13 years of age and older (including college students) and $2 for adults. Tickets are on sale in advance at Larson Music company and the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and will also be available at the door.

"We do encourage the attendance of an older child or of parents with smaller children, since the production is intended for children as young as four years of age," the local arts council noted. "The production is beautifully stated and will appeal to older students and adults as well as younger children."

Prior to the performance Saturday afternoon, a $5 purchase award will be made to the student who submitted the winning entry in the Artrain art contest. Elementary students who were awarded honorable mention in the contest are receiving free tickets to the production.

In promotion of the event, four mothers interested in the arts and theatre program dressed in costume of Mother Goose characters and visited the Discovery Place child care center on Tuesday. They were Judy Giese as Little Bo Peep, Gretchen Beito as Mother Hubbard, Diane Marshall as the Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe and Lyn Turenne as Wee Willie Winkie.

Children's Theatre company has been conducting a touring program in the state of Minnesota since 1969. This is the first time, however, that the company has expanded this program across the entire Upper Midwest.

The internationally acclaimed organization has received numerous awards for the quality and originality of its work. In 1972 the Children's Theatre was selected to represent the United States at the international children's theatre conference in Montreal. In 1973 the American Theatre association presented the company with the Jennie Heiden award for excellence in the field of professional theatre for children.

As it moved into its new $4.5 million theatre facility in 1974, the Children's Theatre received recognition as "the finest theatre for children in this country, and possibly the finest in the world" from Los Angeles Times critic Dan Sullivan, an internationally recognized authority on children's theatre.

Following its tour of the Upper Midwest, "Mother Goose" will return to Minneapolis where it will play 40 performances in the mainstage repertory during January, April and May, 1976.

In commenting on the selection of "Mother Goose" for the Upper Midwest tour, theatre executive producer Stephen Ayers said, "With a tradition dating back over 250 years, the 'Mother Goose' stories and rhymes are the most beloved and remembered childhood heritage of English-speaking peoples. Drawing fom this heritage, we are confident that our production of 'Mother Goose' will prove charming and delightful to children and adults throughout the region."

Told from a homorous and fondly sentimental point of view, the story concerns a young boy's search for Mother Goose and his adventures with the characters of Mother Goose Land. Highly musical with much singing, dancing and pantomine, and vibrantly colorful, the fully-staged production involves a cast of seven and a samll live orchestra.

Council Grant For Crookston Project Received

Conference on rural America has received $11,700 from the governor's rural development council. Grant money will be used in developing a "Conference on Rural America—Self Determination and Policy Development."

This project, a year-long activity of the Futurology committee of the Crookston Bicentennial commission, is headed by residents of the Crookston area. Co-chairpersons are Jacqueline Bergan and Audrey Eickhof. The project is to include a series of eight mini-conference meetings, ending in a major conference in July of 1976.

"Our community should be proud and grateful that the rural development council has the confidence in Crookston and the Red River Valley that we can carry out such a unique program," Bergan said. "This is the first time the RDC has funded a conference of this nature," added Eickhof.

"The committee expresses thanks to the council for their exceptional support and help throughout the development of the conference," they stated.

Major objectives of the overall program are to increase the rural citizen's awareness of his importance in state and national legislation, and to make him realize the impact of his decisions in shaping the future.

The conference is aimed at helping rural people find tools to make active contributions which affect rural growth and development, explained Bergan. The conference would facilitate communication among rural residents with professionals who are working on their behalf.

To accomplish these objectives, the Conference on rural America will conduct informational sessions in communities throughout the Red River Valley, notes Eickhof. These seminars will give people an opportunity to hear authorities speak on major rural issues. These issues will then be placed in community newspapers and presented over other media, explains Jim Hodgson, publicity coordinator for the educational activity. Seminars will begin this month and extend through June, excluding December, with monthly meetings. These sessions will culminate in July 1976, when a major three day conference is scheduled.

Community input is considered a major factor in the Conference on rural America, observes Bergan. The conference hopes to serve as a forum for discussion and recommendations which will be brought to the legislature.

Kick-off activity for the Conference on rural America is Thursday. Minnesota commissioner of agriculture Jon Wefald, will be on hand, along with Congressman Bob Bergland of Minnesota. The news conference and informational session will be in Crookston Central high school auditorium at 8:30 p.m. The public is encouraged to attend.

Council Gives Consideration To Walk Clearing

William Dee, manager of the city Ben Franklin store, which indicated that a tentative closing date of November 1 has been set for the store at its present site, and that the firm would soon complete purchase of the Northern Motors building for use as a new location for the store.

Dee had previously excercised a $5,000 option on the building, but had failed to submit the remainder of the $55,000 cost to the city by the agreed date of September 1. Alderman Roger Worth moved that the store be charged for the bank interest that was lost to the city because of the delay, but the council vote was split three in favor and three opposed, and the motion failed. Worth, Fred Sorensen and Arnold Narverud voted "aye", and Milton Reierson, Ole Engelstad and Mayor Robert Carlson voted "no". Aldermen William Penning and Ambrose Wysoski were absent.

At the request of the city chamber of commerce, the council moved to allow half of the city owned Dow-key building be used to house snowmobiles during the third day stopover of the St. Paul-Winnipeg International 500 snowmobile race January 21. Included in the resolution was permission to use the sports arena parking lot as a temporary grounds for motor homes and pickup campers that day.

Following a brief hearing, the council moved to proceed with plans and specifications for backfilling, excavation and surfacing of the alley between Kendall and Tindolph avenues within a two block area between Third and Taft streets.

Residents in the area supplied about 15 names on a petition supporting the action.

Verbal approval was given to an offer by Norris Melander to pay 50 per cent of the cost for pipe running through his property on a proposed project for the draining and filling of Chief's Coulee (a watery ditch in the northern part of the city) from the Soo Line railroad spur to Dewey avenue. City crews would be provided for installation. Bids for the 60 inch round pipe will be called October 28.

The council resolved to pay 15 per cent (a maximum of $2,300) for one year of support for a city billboard publicity campaign proposed by Larry Quillin, which will feature the slogan "Everybody Is Somebody in Thief River Falls".

Home Start Plan Involves Work With Parents

committees at each center base. It was subject to approval by the ICC board which is the recipient of the federal funds.

Eligible to participate in the program are children 4-5 years of age in all families receiving aid to dependent children (ADC); all foster children; and children in the same age group from families classified as economically disadvantaged. The classification schedule varies according to occupation of the head of household and number of children in the family. In a family of four, as an example, the cut-off point is $5,200 gross income for the wage earner and $5,200 net income for the businessman or farmer.

Enerson estimates that there are 750 children in the area served who are in the age group eligible for participation. Of that total, about 230 would be eligible according to the family economic level. Yet only 90 are enrolled in the program because that is as far as the funding will go.

Pam Kolden, who is the home visitor for Thief River Falls, has 10 students in the home visit program and 17 who attend center base sessions. Jeanine Pahlen at Plummer and Red Lake Falls has 13 home visit students and 32 in center base programs. Cheryl Bjerklie has 13 home visit students and 35 center base participants at Oklee and Goodridge.

Other home visitors in the program include Noreen Carlson, Gonvick and McIntosh; Ruth Fealy, Fertile and Mentor; Betty Kvande; Bagley; Verna Sather, Fosston and Erskine; and Yvonne Thompson, Rice Lake. A mobile classroom has been located at Rice Lake for center base classes.

Other staff members who become involved with the home start program are Jana Loken, health coordinator; Kathy Simonson, educational coordinator; Thornton Taylor, parent coordinator; Doris LaJambe, social service aide; and Donna Keck, special needs home visitor who assists the mentally or physically handicapped or child with special learning disabilities.

"Our program leans heavily on parent involvement," Enerson said. "We also have as our objectives educational activities, health care, nutrition and social services. We are geared more for the preventive type of program with education and information rather that treatment of health needs. There are other programs available which can provide that type of assistance."

Toward that goal, parents are involved in group meetings where helpful information is presented on topics of parental interest. Community resource people are called upon to be speakers at these meetings and to answer any questions which parents may present.

Home visitors have three days of in-service training before they begin their program year and another day of training every two weeks. They work cooperatively with kindergarten teachers in their areas to find out what the kindergarten teachers want a child to know when he or she starts school. In most cases this includes knowing the colors, being able to use scissors, counting up to 10, personal independence such as ability to tie his own shoes and several other basics. Home visitors work with parents to help them find ways to teach these basics to their children.

"We find that one advantage of the program is that parents become more aware of what teachers face in the classroom," Enerson said. "Involving parents in the teaching situation makes them better parents. And we think that's good."

U of M Prof Links Plutonium Dumping With Lung Cancer

By Mike Finley
U of M News Service

Plutonium, the nuclear fuel that has been billed as the savior in our current energy crisis, may well end up as the villain of the piece, according to University of Minnesota Professor Donald P. Geesaman.

The great irony about plutonium, the associate director of the School of public affairs said, is this: While human technology was responsible for bringing plutonium into existence in the first place, plutonium has from that point onward frustrated the capabilities of our most sophisticated technologies. The chemical is simply too hot to handle.

Plutonium emissions penetrate about 40 microns into tissue before they stop, according to Geesaman. Forty microns equals four-hundredths of a millimeter or, at the most, 5 or 10 skin cells. On the skin, plutonium presents no great danger. But in more sensitive tissue, such as the lung and other internal organs, the prospect is much darker.

"The lung is a remarkable organ," Geesaman said. "Each one has the total surface of a tennis court. There are 100 million or so grape-like things called alveoli in each one. The surface of an alveolus is about one tenth the thickness of a hair. They are fragile, highly structured and highly sensitive to incoming debris."

Geesaman said that one very grim statistic of the post-World War II years has been the large increase in the occurrence of lung cancer. Increased smoking has been proposed as a cause, but another possible explanation for the lung cancer epidemic, Geesaman said, is the nuclear atmospheric testing in the '50s and early '60s.

In the space of one decade, atomic testing punched a number of huge holes in the stratosphere, dumping five to eight tons of plutonium into the air. That's the air everything living on earth has been breathing all this time.

Right now, Geesaman said, we all have in our bodies a few picocuries of plutonium, the ultimate poison. A pico-curie of plutonium equals a trillionth of a gram. The maximum permissible amount in the body is a billionth of a gram, or a few hundred times what is now present.

Critics of nuclear critics often ask the following rhetorical question: "If plutonium is so toxic, how come we aren't falling over dead right and left?" Geesaman points to the lung cancer statistics and answers, "We may be doing just that." For the rate of lung cancer seems to be peaking right about the time that the slow-dissolving toxin is beginning, finally, to break down inside us.

Unfortunately, data is hard to come by. Geesaman had always hoped that the Atomic energy commission would prepare an extensive epidemiological analysis of the medical records of all the people who have worked in the plutonium industry for the past 30 years. Is their cancer rate any different from that of the rest of the population? In the absence of such a study, Geesaman has his suspicions.

But such a study has never been conducted. Perhaps because epidemiological analysis isn't sophisticated enough to produce trustworthy results. Perhaps because there are no reliable medical records. Or perhaps, Geesaman suggested, because the idustry and the government refuse to release the records.

Whatever the reasons, Geesaman sees the unwillingness to call attention to the special toxicity and dangers of nuclear materials as an indication of how humanly—as the phrase "human failing"—the nuclear energy industry is being run. If any technology or any idea ever required superhuman supervision, Geesaman says, this is it.

Alvin N. Weinberg, former director of the Oak Ridge national laboratory in Tennessee, asks this question: "Is mankind prepared to exert the eternal vigilance needed to ensure proper and safe operation of its nuclear energy system?"

The half-life of plutonium is 24,000 years, Weinberg reminds us. No government on the fact of the earth has ever lasted continuously for even 1,000 years. The oldest human institution is probably the Roman Catholic church, and even it has lasted only 2,000 years. Who will be the guardian for eternity of this terrible poison?

Geesaman speaks, quite seriously but without enthusiasm, of a "nuclear priesthood," a group so infallible, so dedicated, so separate from ordinary society that it would never permit even the slightest error in accomplishing its multi-millennial mission.

Compare that notion to the reality in one nuclear materials fabrication plant in Crescent City, Okla. Estimates of annual plant personnel turnover range from 20 to 70 per cent—about half the plant's employees don't last a single year. Nice, bright and fresh from the local high schools of Oklahoma, these people handle one of the most toxic and destructive materials in the universe.

"I ask you," Geesaman says, "is this a nuclear priesthood?"

Bergland Bill Would Update Grain Allotment

Wheat and feed grain allotments would be updated by legislation introduced by Minnesota's 7th district congressman Bob Bergland. Bergland's bill would, in effect, eliminate alotments by setting them at the actual acreage planted during any given crop year rather than establishing them on base years or crop histories.

Allotments provide the basis for determining disaster aid benefits and payments under the "target price" system provided by the National farm act of 1973.

Introducing the bill, Bergland noted that the allotments now in force "are based on the planting habits of the 1950's, 1959 for feed grains and 1953 for wheat, and said: "These long outdated policies fail to recognize vast changes in the farming industry and leave thousands of farmers without protection."

As examples Bergland cited the shift from wheat to corn production in many states with high wheat allotments and the change in Minnesota, with a relatively low wheat allotment, from barley to wheat. He estimated that the actual planting of wheat in Minnesota exceeds her allotment by nearly one million acres. "That's one million acres not protected by the benefits intended under our new disaster aid and target price programs," Bergland said.

Bergland has been informed by the White House and the Department of agriculture that they will not oppose his plan.

Wallin Retires As Manager Of Breeder Co-Op

K.E. Wallin, general manager of Midwest Breeders cooperative, Shawano Wis., is announcing his retirement, effective Jan. 1, 1976.

Under Wallin's leadership, Midwest Breeders has become one of the nation's largest and most successful cooperative cattle breeding organizations. He was instrumental in developing the cooperative from one serving 10 counties in 1946 to one that now is a multi-state regional cooperative with expansion of services and markets to not only the Midwest, but to many other state and foreign markets as well.

Wallin, the only surviving official incorporator of the National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB), organized in the mid-40's, says that one of his real rewards "is to have witnessed the tremendous progress made by dairy and beef producers who have used our services and products. This, too, has benefited the consuming public."

Wallin informed the Midwest board of his decision early this year. By making the announcement at this time, he felt the Board would find adequate time to choose his successor and have an orderly transition.

Hawk Warns About Exploiting Adult Education Groups

Resisting the temptation to exploit the growing continuing and adult education population may turn out to be as difficult for educators as taking advantage of the opportunity to achieve the great hopes of a learning society, Richard C. Hawk, executive director of the Minnesota higher education coordinating commission, warned recently.

In a speech to continuing education and extension directors from nine states, Hawk said that meeting the challenge to fulfill the opportunity without yielding to the temptation is especially important because an increased rate of participation by students over 25 may result in substantially larger post-secondary enrollments despite a dramatic decline in the traditional, college-going 18 year-old population.

Hawk spoke at the National university extension association Region IV conference at the Leamington hotel in Minneapolis.

"The opportunity is to extend the benefits of post-secondary education and to serve the total population more effectively," Hawk said. "The temptation will be to exploit the population in order to protect and advance the interests of the post-secondary enterprise.

"Just as the opportunity demands bold action, the temptation requires caution and considered judgment."

Hawk suggested that to meet the challenge post-secondary education must devote special attention to better articulating the objectives and purposes of continuing education, developing integrated programs, justifying the financing and improving the coordination.

Because of the substantial numerical increase in the adult population over age 25, present HECC enrollment projections show that the number of students in Minnesota institutions will be about the same in 1990 as in 1975, Hawk said.

The HECC projections are based on the assumption that the percentage of the population now participating in post-secondary education will remain constant, both for those in the 18-25 age group and for those over 25.

But by assuming the emergence of a "learning society" within the next 10-15 years and an increase in the rate those over 25 choosing to participate, a substantial increase in the number of Minnesota post-secondary students can be projected, Hawk said.

The projected 32 per cent decline in 18 year-olds from 1975-1990 represents a numerical decrease of 56,350 in the potential, traditional post-secondary education entry population, while the 35 per cent increase in the 25-65 year-old population represents numerical growth of 2,278,600, Hawk said.

Hawk said that many more older, part-time students are being stimulated to participate by such conditions as changes in licensing requirements, need for retraining, more leisure time, and changing conceptions of the role of women in society.

"Both the magnitude and nature of post-secondary education beyond high school will be profoundly influenced by the way in which and success with which institutions deal with the challenge of continuing and adult education," Hawk said.

As meeting the needs of older, part-time students advances from a secondary to a primary function of post-secondary education, almost every aspect of it from academic instruction to resource allocation will be affected, Hawk said; and it will not be easy to discard traditional practices in favor of practices more suitable to a changing clientele.

"It will not be easy for institutions to limit their efforts in order to avoid unwarranted duplication with efforts of other institutions," Hawk said. "It will not be easy to reject proposals for instructional offerings which promise large numbers of clients, but which will provide little real benefits to those clients.

"It will not be easy to admit that some entertaining activities do not deserve the support of a public tax subsidy for continuing education. And it will not be easy to bypass the chance to replicate the effective continuing and adult education programs at churches, high schools and service organizations and to steal their clients."

Hawk said that many of the problems which need to be solved in order to provide a justifiable basis for appropriating funds for continuing and adult education could be taken care of almost automatically with better articulation of objectives and development of integrated programs.

Confusion about what institutions are specifically trying to accomplish for those over 25 causes many policy-makers to question the value of continuing education. And the fact that lobbyists for continuing education consist not of recipients of the service, but rather educators, causes some to believe that the envisioned learning society is really a "teaching society," Hawk said.

For some institutions relatively little attention is devoted to conceiving, planning and developing integrated off-campus instructional programs, Hawk said. Instead, much off-campus instruction appears to be based on providing an individual course wherever enough clients may be found to make that individual course cost-effective, he said.

Hawk said he doubts the anticipated expansion in adult education can occur unless educators come to grips with the public policy issues involved in substantial increases in public financial support.

"The question of which potential clients for any continuing education activity should benefit from a public subsidy and to what extent is not easily resolved," Hawk said.

Hawk said that the temptation to resist coordination of continuing education may be in the short-range interests of a few institutions, but it is not in the long range interest of any institution nor the people to be served.

MINNESOTA'S first lady was the first to be officially pinned with a D-Day '75 lapel pin. Mrs. Wendell Anderson was presented the campaign button at a recent D-Day Kickoff event by Tom Cousins, Minneapolis, Chairman of the 1975 Don't Smoke Day on Oct. 21—the statewide endeavor that once again zeros in on the health hazards of smoking. Looking on approvingly are Cindy Lee, St. Paul, chosen as Miss American Teenager in national competition Aug. 28 at Miami Beach, and Lynn Smith, publisher of the Monticello Times and originator of the D-Day concept in his city as a health education campaign on smoking. D-Day '75 will try to get all Minnesotans who smoke to refrain from doing so on Oct. 21, and to encourage them to consider quitting for good for their own health and for the health and general wellbeing of others.

Three Cases Of Cow Mutilation Noted In Area

which seemed affected by some type of paralysis. Both were found in the same area of the pasture as the dead cow. The bull has reportedly made some progress toward recovery but the heifer is still unable to stand. Two veterinarians have inspected the animals and neither has been able to diagnose the problem.

In all cases there appeared to be no sign of struggle by the animals and there were no tracks or footprints of vehicles or people in the area.

A recent issue of a major farm magazine carried an article on the subject of cattle mutilation which has been reported in Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma, Montana, Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota in addition to Minnesota.

"Usually the sex organs, rectum, tongue and one or more eyes or ears are neatly excised as though by a surgeon's scalpel," the magazine report states. "There is rarely any blood. No meat or other edible portions are taken. There are no horse tracks, human footprints or vehicle tracks near the carcass. Some animals are found two or more miles from the nearest road."

Some lawmen, according to the magazine article, say the mutilations are done by devil worshippers, witchcraft covens or the Sons of Satan. The Aerial Phenomena Research organization (APRO) in Tucson, Ariz., concludes that unidentified objects are not involved. (Strange orange lights have been seen by a number of residents east of Thief River Falls and into the Oklee and Trail areas in recent weeks.)

The APRO report said the group expected to be involved walks on large pieces of pasteboard so as to leave no tracks, down the animal with a tranquilizer and inject a heart stimulant and drain blood from an artery in the throat.

But veterinarians at Colorado state university have found no trace of poisons or other drugs in animal tissues they have studied. Extensive chemical tests have been run and nothing found to indicate the animals died suddenly. Mutilation apparently occurred several hours after the animals died.

The mystery remains—but the circumstances of the past several weeks bring the national mystery considerably closer to home.

TRF Schools In Random Survey On Reading Skill

Thief River Falls schools were among sample schools providing data to the office of statewide educational assessment, which has recently filed a report, to the state board of education, about student reading performance. Approximately 27,000 students, representing the ages 9, 13 and 17, were assessed by use of random sampling techniques similar to those used by public opinion polls.

According to the assessment, Minnesota boys and girls are better readers than students in similar age groups around the country, and based upon these comparisons it was observed that students living in rural and suburban settings outperformed students around the country to a greater degree than children living in the state's larger cities.

A comparison with the average reading performance level established by the national assessment of education progress (NAEP) indicated that at ages 9, 13 and 17 state youths ranked over 60 per cent above the national averages.

A breakdown of the comparisons shows that in medium level cities in the state (the category most likely shared by Thief River Falls) there are varying levels of accomplishment in the different age groups. These are: Age 9—38 per cent above the national average, none below, and 62 per cent no difference; age 13—58 per cent above the national average, 11 per cent below, and 31 per cent no difference; age 17— 31 per cent above average, four per cent below, 65 per cent no difference.

Other general findings included in the report were: Students classified as having low socioeconomic status consistently scored below the average level attained by students statewide; girls perform consistently better than boys for all reading areas at the age levels assessed; students from schools identified as large city schools (in cities with population of 50,000 or more) score below the statewide average at all age levels; and home background, student ability, student activeness and location of school were important factors in determining the various levels of reading performance.

Success Of Alcohol Treatment Unknown

by W. R. Hafling
University News Service Writer

Finding a lot of "help" for a drinking problem is relatively easy. There are individual counselors, treatment centers, groups, psychodrama and there is Alcoholics Anonymous. There are medical, psychological, social work and religious approaches. In short, there is a bewildering array of approaches, each claiming to be able to help the problem drinker.

Unfortunately, finding the right kind of help for a given individual may be very difficult. For many of these approaches, no one knows if the treatment does more good than harm.

In an attempt to explore the question of which treatment might work best for a given individual, Kaye R. Wildasin at the University of Minnesota surveyed the available research literature on alcoholism. From more than 15,000 studies on alcoholism for the period from 1939 to 1974, Wildasin examined 241 studies specifically related to treatment for alcoholism. He chose a representative sample of these studies, focusing on 61 different research reports which dealt with the question of treatment outcomes.

Wildasin's conclusion: "We don't know if treatment for alcoholism or chemical dependency works or not."

He said that a majority of the treatments used are based on psychotherapy and that psychotherapy itself has never been scientifically evaluated to determine its effectiveness, particularly over time.

"To a large extent, we're at the same place in 1975 as we were in 1940," he said. "The stress has not been on looking at the effectiveness of the various treatment programs. You'll find a certain number of people recovering from each and every mode of therapy." This number, however, is usually small.

Specifically, Wildasin found that treatment programs generally neglect to define their goals, fail to assess exactly who might benefit from a particular mode of therapy, and fail to control the biases of the therapists.

"To date, very few treatment programs have adequate follow-up to determine a person's adjustment to life after treatment," he said, observing that not enough assessment is generally made of a person's life situation before entering treatment either. He added that, "We don't know for sure what impact counselors have on treatment outcomes. Who's ever evaluated the individual counselors?"

Though many of the studies report "success" ratios and mention "improvement," "abstinence," and "recovery," for example, Wildasin said it is rare for them to define precisely what they mean by these terms. Since such figures often fail to include the number of people who drop out of such treatment programs, "success" ratios are based on those completing the program. He found that reported "improvement" rates ranged from five to 88 per cent.

Commenting on the finding that most treatment programs, when evaluated, arrive at an average "recovery" rate of only around 30 per cent, Wildasin said, "I'm concerned about the other 70 per cent who don't recover or drop out. Where do they go?"

Though Wildasin feels that viewing "alcoholism" as a disease is a more enlightened view that earlier views of "sin" or possession by demons, he said the disease concept leads to an overly restrictive approach to treatment.

Rather than following more modern approaches to human problems such as those derived from research on social learning or family crisis intervention, the disease concept leads to treatment in hospitals or other institutions which follow a medical model. Thus beds wait to be filled by those with a "disease."

Drawing on his extensive experience with treatment for alcoholism, Wildasin said that the medical model of "disease" simply does not fit alcoholism. Very few patients really need bed treatment. More treatment on an out-patient or community basis should be available. For one thing this would allow people to hang onto their jobs and maintain other important relationships. Treatment would impose fewer burdens on the individual, he said.

"The thrust in recent times has been on providing more and more treatment beds," he said. "We now have 3,594 such beds in Minnesota."

Wildasin, who was an accountant before entering the chemical dependency counseling field eight years ago, said that the number of beds available directly influences the number of people who will be treated as if they had a disease.

"If they have so many beds," he explained, "looking at it from a cost-factor analysis, they're going to have to keep a certain minimum number filled to justify their existence on a financial basis. Otherwise they're going to lose money. Keeping beds filled with this sort of patient is a real money-maker for the hospitals."

Another finding was that "In some of the cases, where treatment methods were directly compared, the treatment which proved to be most effective was the one in which the individual was most responsible for actively helping himself."

Wildasin said he was encouraged by the fact that some treatment facilities and counselors are beginning to recognize the importance of individual differences. He said that "treating people all alike can create dependencies which are very unhealthy."

For example, he said, some people actually become worse if forced into a total abstinence program. A controlled drinking situation might better fit their needs.

"I know there are people in alcoholism counseling who refuse to consider any view other than total abstinence, but this is too dogmatic an approach. It's an immature attitude to take," he said.

"So little is known about either the cause or cure for alcoholism that I don't believe anybody can afford to make dogmatic or judgmental statements in this whole area," Wildasin concluded. Wildasin himself does not drink alcoholic beverages because "it's not worth the hassle." He is hoping someday to do a research project on "why AA (Alcoholics Anonymous) works for some people and not for others," surveying the AA population in Minnesota. Unfortunately this will not take place soon. He left his office at the University October 1 due to lack of funding for his continued research or consulting.

Most any senior citizen can sell you a ticket, the afghan is on display at our center.

Mildred read the treasurers report for September, then Polly presented Mildred with a lovely bedspread as a gift from the Strandquist center, where the Nelson's lost their home last January. It was decided to give them a gift, Mrs. Nelson was to tell us what they wanted. It has taken her awhile to decide, but as soon as Polly found out she went out and filled the order. She presented it to the Nelsons on Thursday.

We had three visitors, Kevin who comes to sell Grit, and Ann Sherlock and daughter Jennifer who were lunch guests. Mrs. Sherlock won the door prize, a package of Halloween napkins, donated by Irene Larson.

The lunch furnished by the center was prepared by Polly and Mildred.

Offer Plan For Child Safety In Automobiles

Operation Childsafe, a program to protect young children riding in automobiles, is being offered statewide for new mother and pre-natal training programs in hospitals by the Minnesota safety council, according to program coordinator Carol Bufton.

"More than a thousand children under five years of age were injured in traffic crashes in Minnesota last year and 16 were killed," Bufton said. "The goal of Operation Childsafe is to inform parents with regard to proper methods of protection."

A recent observational study published by the Insurance institute for highway safety indicated that only seven per cent of the child car passengers were properly restrained. In addition, even in cars where parent drivers were using safety belts, 75 per cent of the child passengers were not wearing restraints.

The safety council makes three basic recommendations for child passenger protection:

(1.) Purchase a proper child restraint; be certain that the label indicates that it is approved under federal safety standard 213 and that the restraint is crash-tested.

(2.) If a restraint is not available, be sure that children are seated (never standing) in the back seat.

(3.) Lap belts for small children are better than no protection; avoid using the shoulder harness on small children if they cross the child's face or neck.

Hospitals, nursery schools, parents' and grandparents' organizations and other interested groups are urged to ask the Minnesota safety council about Operation Childsafe. A free preview kit is available for inspection by potential program sponsors. Write Operation Childsafe, 145 Hamm building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55102, or call (612) 291-9150.

State Auditor Cites Revenue Share Fund Loss

State auditor Robert Mattson recently announced that 157 local units of government in Minnesota have not filed annual financial reports and stand to lose an estimated $460,000 of federal revenue sharing funds.

The following is a list of towns, by county, in northwestern Minnesota which had not complied as of October 7, and the amount of federal revenue sharing funds they will lose as a result:

Clearwater: Holst, $1,353; La Prairie, $781; and Shevlin, $851; Kittson: Cannon, $160; Hampden, $953; Jupiter, $476; and McKinley, $139; Marshall: Augsburg, $822; Donnelly, $673; Lincoln, $702; and Valley, $552; Pennington: Rocksbury, $1,676.

Also, Polk: Andover, $1,914; Angus, $802; Farley, $753; Garfield, $936; Liberty, $1,140; Nesbit, $1,064; Onstad, $904; Sletten, $772; Sullivan, $1,076; and Tabor, $990; Red Lake: Garnes, $542; and Wylie, $255; Roseau: Barnett, $519; Enstrom, $490; Grimstad, $603; Hereim, $592 and Jadis, $1,024.

"State law requires that all counties, cities and towns in Minnesota submit financial reports annually," Mattson said. "Under a new agreement with the office of revenue sharing, all grants made to local government must be made based upon financial information furnished to and compiled by the state auditor," Mattson explained. "If the required information is not filed, federal regulations prohibit the disbursement of revenue sharing funds to the local governmental unit."

Mattson also stated that the agreement entered into last April was designed to eliminate the requirement that local government file separate reports with the state of Minnesota and the federal government.

"Under federal revenue sharing guidelines," Mattson said, "any forfeited entitlements will be allocated to other units of government. The result is that the state of Minnesota will receive its total allocation and the state share will not be affected by failure of local units to report."

The purpose of the federal revenue sharing law is to allocate federal funds to local units of goverment for use as determined by local officials.

"The intent of the revenue sharing program is not fully carried out when local units fail to file the required financial information," Mattson concluded.

Mattson also stated that the final state report will be presented to federal officials within several days.

EDLYN E. Vatthauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Vatthauer of Plummer and a 1975 graduate of Pershing high school there, has recently enlisted in the U.S. army. He is presently undergoing basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif., after which he will transfer to Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., for medical training. Edlyn will then be assigned to an army medical facility where he will work with experienced military medics, physicians and surgeons.

Warns Of PCB Intake From Eating Fish

Minnesota department of health recently revised its recommendations about the amounts of fish from area rivers that can be consumed without a significant increase in the intake of PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls).

(The revision was made after study of data collected by the interagency task force on PCBs. The task force is composed of representatives from the Minnesota department of health, Minnesota pollution control agency, Minnesota department of natural resources, Wisconsin department of agriculture, Wisconsin department of natural resources, and the U.S. food and drug administration (FDA).)

No restriction on intake of fish from the St. Croix and LeSueur rivers appears necessary, according to state health commissioner Dr. Warren R. Lawson, because all species from those rivers checked during Task force surveys were below the FDA tolerance level of five parts per million.

In the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers, fish which tend to be fatty (carp, white bass and channel catfish) mey exceed the five parts per million tolerance level. The health department therefore recommends that consumption of those three species taken from the Mississippi river between Monticello and Alma, Wis., and from the Minnesota river betwenn Mankato and Ft. Snelling, be limited to one meal per week.

While PCBs can be detected in the flesh of most fish, concentrations were well below the tolerance level in walleyes, saugers, small mouth bass, black crappies and northern pike taken from the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers. No restriction of consumption of these fish appears warranted, health officials said.

Recent studies show the concentration of PCBs in fish flesh appears to be directly related to the fat content of the flesh. The Task force will adjust the scope of its work as new information becomes available, and the Minnesota department of health may make precautionary statements from time to time as the nature of the problem becomes clear. If sources of the PCBs can be defined, health officials said, realistic control measures might be implemented to solve the problem.

NWAC, West Central Leaders Clash Friday

Winners in the Northwest and West Central football conferences will clash again this year in a post-season conference playoff game. This year's third annual meeting between the two league champions will be played at the home of the West Central winner Fri., Oct. 31.

Champions in both the Northwest and West Central conferences may very well be decided Friday when the leaders in both leagues meet.

Bemidji and Crookston are Northwest Conference leaders and they'll clash at Crookston this week. Bemidji is 7-0 overall and 3-0 in conference play. The Lumberjacks can wrap up undisputed possession of the NWAC crown with a win over the Pirates. Crookston is 6-1 overall and 2-0 in the conference. A Crookston win over Bemidji would put the Pirates in position to lay outright claim to the NWAC crown a week later here in Thief River Falls.

Montevideo is the current West Central Conference leader with a 6-1 overall record and a 5-0 conference mark. The Mohawks have lost only to Pipestone 14-0 this fall. Litchfield is also 6-1 overall, but the Dragons are 3-1 in West Central action, losing to Alexandria 16-6. Montevideo and Litchfield clash Friday.

Alexandria is the defending West Central Conference and state Class A champion. However, the Cardinals, along with Willmar, Morris, Benson and St. Cloud Cathedral are already out of the conference title picture this fall.

Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Fergus Falls have been eliminated from Northwest Conference title contention.

Whoever wins Friday—Bemidji, Crookston, Montevideo or Litchfield—it would seem the eventual Northwest Conference winner should be a conference playoff game favorite.

However, a Northwest Conference team has never won a post-season conference playoff game in the three-year history of the contests. Bemidji has lost two conference playoff games. The Lumberjacks lost to Heart O'Lakes conference champion Pelican Rapids 12-8 in 1972 and lost to West Central winner Alexandria 14-8 a year ago. Fergus Falls, Northwest Conference representative in 1973, lost to Willmar of the West Central Conference 30-7.

The conference playoff games were scheduled to be initiated in 1971, but a severe blizzard canceled the Northwest-Heart O'Lakes clash between Thief River Falls and Dilworth on the Prowler athletic field.

Ties in the 1975 conference standings could complicate the naming of playoff game representatives. However, in most cases a tie would be settled by sending the team who won the game between the co-leaders. In that case, Friday's winner's would be the Northwest and West Central playoff foes.

A different way of settling ties in the Mid-State Conference was announced last week by Mid-State officials whose champion annually meets the Central Gopher champion in a conference playoff game.

If the Mid-State Conference winds up in a first place tie, the team that represents the league in playoff competition will be the school which has the highest ranking in the computer ratings of the Minnesota High School League.

TRF Opponents Post Winning Record

With two weeks of 1975 regular season action remaining, Thief River Falls football opponents have posted a 31-25 accumulative won-lost record this fall.

Only three Prowler foes have winning records to date—St. Cloud Apollo, Bemidji and Crookston—while five opponents have losing marks.

Prowler opponents with winning records include Bemidji at 7-0 and St. Cloud Apollo and Crookston at 6-1.

Thief River Falls opponents with losing records at this stage include Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks 3-4, and Grand Forks Red River, Detroit Lakes and Breckenridge, all 2-5.

Marshall County Central high school hosts Stephen in a 7:30 p.m. Top of the State Conference game Friday in the weekend's only scheduled small school football action.

All other Times area games were played earlier this week because of MEA. In games played Tuesday, Plummer was upset by Middle River 20-12 and Goodridge fell to Oklee 36-0 in North Tri County Conference play.

Grygla was scheduled to host Mentor today (Wednesday) at 1:30 p.m. in a North Tri County contest.

Two other North Tri County games were played Tuesday as Gonvick edged Clearbrook 14-12 and McIntosh ripped Erskine 52-0.

A pair of Top of the State Conference games were also played Tuesday as East Grand Forks Sacred Heart knocked off Baudette 24-14 and Warroad beat Greenbush 18-6.

Scores from last week's North Tri County Conference action found McIntosh beating Plummer 32-6, Oklee ripped Gonvick 30-14, Clearbrook blanked Grygla 30-0 and Middle River handled Goodridge 54-6.

In Top of the State play last week, Karlstad outlasted Newfolden 22-14, Crookston Cathedral edged Greenbush 18-6, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart shutout Roseau 14-0, Hallock crushed Argyle 40-0, Warroad knocked off Baudette 22-6 and Stephen downed Kennedy 38-28.

Prowlers, Green Wave Try To Avoid NWAC Basement

Thief River Falls visits East Grand Forks Friday for a 7:30 p.m. Northwest Conference football game that will find both teams gamely trying for a win to avoid a last place finish in the NWAC standings this fall.

Thief River Falls will carry a lackluster 2-4 season record into the next-to-the-last game of the 1975 season. The Prowlers are 0-2 in conference play and if they don't win Friday, they'll face a strong Crookston ball club a week later with the prospects of a winless conference season.

East Grand Forks is just a notch above the Prowlers for the year with a 3-4 record. But the Green Wave wind up their conference schedule this week still looking for an NWAC win at 0-3.

Thief River Falls coach Jim Sims describes Friday's game as a "test of self pride" for his ball club. "We're going to have to try for a twinge of respectability," said the Prowler coach.

Thief River Falls defenders will key on versatile East Grand Forks runningback Rick Beck this week. The starry Green Wave ball carrier is an all-round offensive threat. He has rushed for 569 yards; totaled 103 yards in pass receptions; carries an impressive 11.4-yard average per punt return; averages 22.4 yards per kickoff return; and has scored 33 points.

In addition to Beck, the Green Wave boast another offensive threat in quarterback Scott Selk who has completed 30 of 70 pass attempts this fall for 293 yards. It's expected Selk will put plenty of pressure on a porous Prowler defensive secondary that has surrendered nearly 500 yards through the air.

Bob Weber is Selk's favorite target. Even though the Green Wave end didn't play last week, he's caught 14 passes for 111 yards. In contrast, Thief River Falls has only nine receptions as an entire team, and only two of those receptions have come in the past four ball games.

"East Grand Forks will be tough," warned Sims. "Selk can throw the ball, and I'm sure he'll unload against us. Beck is a good runner and Weber is a capable receiver."

East Grand Forks' 1975 wins have been posted over Grand Forks Red River 14-8, Breckenridge 14-8 and Grand Forks Central 21-0 last week. Green Wave losses have come at the hands of Dilworth 27-0, Fergus Falls 14-7, Bemidji 28-0 and Crookston 22-0.

Thief River Falls has enjoyed a considerable amount of success over East Grand Forks in recent years, winning five straight from the Green Wave. The Prowlers have not lost to East Grand Forks since 1969 when the Green Wave took a 39-16 decision. Since 1969, Thief River Falls has posted wins by 14-6 in 1970, 27-7 in 1971, 45-0 in 1972, 30-6 in 1973 and 47-12 a year ago.

Injuries continue to plague the Prowlers. Quarterback Jeff Lindquist is not expected to play Friday after suffering another ankle injury against Fergus Falls last week. Tight end Mike Burstad, linebacker Matt Overby and runningback Mike Jury are all listed as doubtful for East Grand Forks.

"This has been the worst I've ever seen in 15 years of coaching," said Sims about his team's season-long injury problems. "It's hard enough to win when you're healthy. If the people aren't there, you can't put it together."

Sims hopes to turn things around this week after disappointing performances in back-to-back losses to Bemidji and Fergus Falls where Prowler offensive mistakes have been mostly responsible for 21-6 and 33-14 setbacks to the Lumberjacks and Otters.

"We've killed ourselves the last two ball games with mistakes," explained Sims. "We can run against anybody if we have the football. Nobody has stopped us from moving the ball yet. But we've got to hang onto the ball. Everytime we get the ball we turn it over. We're not going to win ball games to often by running 30 plays per game. I can't fault our defense; it's been our offense every time."

Thief River Falls' pass defense, victimized for 148 yards through the air by Fergus Falls a week ago, is also a major concern of Sims and his coaching staff this week, prompting a showdown between the Prowler running game against the Green Wave passing attack.

The conference basement is no place to end the season. Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks will be trying to avoid the cellar Friday.

7-0 Bemidji Visits 6-1 Crookston

NWAC Championship May Be Decided Friday Night

Long-awaited 1975 Northwest Conference football championship match-up featuring Bemidji and Crookston will take place this week when the unbeaten Lumberjacks clash with the once-beaten Pirates at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Crookston.

A win by Bemidji would wrap up a second straight undisputed NWAC crown for the 7-0 Lumberjacks. Bemidji closes its regular season a week later against Brainerd in nonconference play.

However, a win by Crookston would push the 6-1 Pirates atop the NWAC standings and assure the Bucs at least a share of the coveted crown. Crookston then could lay an outright claim to the championship by beating Thief River Falls a week later.

The eventual Northwest Conference champion will take on the winner of the West Central Conference in a post-season conference playoff game at the home of the West Central winner Fri., Oct. 31.

Other games on tap this week for Northwest Conference members will find Thief River Falls playing at East Grand Forks in an NWAC game while Fergus Falls visits Brainerd for a nonconference clash.

Fergus Falls whipped Thief River Falls 33-14 in last week's only conference game. In nonconference play, Bemidji clobbered Aitkin 49-14, Crookston shaded Breckenridge 12-7 and East Grand Forks blanked Grand Forks Central 21-0.

LHS Runners Win '75 NWAC Crown

Thief River Falls shaded Bemidji by one point Tuesday to capture the 1975 Northwest Conference cross country meet team title at Fergus Falls.

Coach Russ Smith's Prowlers won the exciting four-team race with a 39-point effort. Bemidji finished one step back with 40 points and Fergus Falls was a surprisingly close third with 48 points. Crookston was a distant fourth with 103 points. East Grand Forks, an NWAC member, did not compete in the conference meet.

Dale Hanstad of Fergus Falls was the meet's individual champion as he covered the cool, windy three-mile course in 15:50.

Dan Heleren was the top Prowler finisher as he ran the distance in his personal best effort of 16:04 to place second to Hanstad.

Two other Prowler runners also finished in the top ten as John Albrecht placed sixth in 16:28 and Dan Kezar placed eighth in 16:41. It was also Albrecht's best race, pointed out Smith.

Following Hanstad and Heleren across the finishing line were three Bemidji runners. Don Lahti was third in 16:14, Mark Smythe was fourth in 16:20 and Ben Gallager was fifth in 16:24.

Albrecht finished sixth, followed by Jack Raaen of Fergus Falls in 16:37, Kezar, Pete Michelson of Fergus Falls in 16:42 and Tim Smythe of Bemidji in 16:48 to round out the top ten.

Other Prowler place finishers included Tony Brosseau, 11th in 16:51; Paul Phelps; 12th in 16:52; Mike Nessen, 16th in 17:21; and Steve Geatz, 19th in 17:34.

Smith also had special praise for Phelps who joined Heleren and Albrecht in running his best race of the year.

Fergus Falls was a surprise winner in the B squad portion of the meet with 29 points. Pre-meet favorite Thief River Falls placed second with 41 points, followed by Bemidji with 63 and Crookston 85.

Bruce Stanstrom of Fergus Falls was the B squad meet individual champion with a 17:19 clocking over the three-mile course.

Kevin Murphy of Thief River Falls placed second in 17:28. Other Prowler place finishers included Tom Brosseau, fourth; Kevin Culkin, seventh; Dave Glauque, 12th; Ron Erickson, 16th; and Jon Ballingrud, 17th.

Thief River Falls will close out its 1975 regular season schedule Monday with an invitational meet appearance at Roseau. The Prowlers will run in the Region Eight AA cross country meet at Alexandria Sat., Oct. 25.

LHS Girls Lose Individual Tests At Section Meet

Thief River Falls tennis players Marty Minor, Pam Prichard and Jennifer Pluth bowed out in first round competition Tuesday in the 1975 Section Eight AA individual tennis tournament at Brainerd.

Prichard and Pluth, teammed together in doubles competition, dropped a 6-0, 6-1 decision to Joan Langer and Barb Knopik of St. Cloud Apollo.

Thief River Falls was ousted from the Section Eight AA team competition Saturday when Moorhead claimed a 5-0 triumph.

Lincoln Freshmen Shutout Warren 14-0 Tuesday

Lincoln high school freshman football snapped a scoreless defensive struggle with a pair of fourth quarter touchdowns Tuesday to edge Warren 14-0.

The visiting Lincoln ball club scored on a four-yard run by Wayne Krueger and a 34-yard run by Jeff Kosel. Krueger added a two-point conversion run after Kosel's touchdown.

Thief River Falls sparked by the defensive play of Joe Dee, limited Warren to just three first downs.

The Lincoln freshmen, 5-3 for the year, will close out the 1975 season Tuesday when Crookston visits Thief River Falls for a 7 p.m. ball game.

Skippers Upset Cardinals 20-12 In North Tri County

Middle River quarterback Alan Ness passed for nearly 200 yards Tuesday to lead the Skippers to a 20-12 upset win over Plummer in a key North Tri County Conference football game played at Middle River.

The loss, the second straight for the Cardinals after six straight season-opening wins, knocked Plummer out of the North Division lead in the North Tri County Conference standings for the first time this fall.

Oklee, a 36-0 winner over Goodridge Tuesday, took over the North Division leadership with a 7-1 record. Plummer is one step behind the Bobcats at 6-2, setting the stage for a climactic season-ending confrontation between the two arch-rivals Fri., Oct. 24, at Oklee. The Plummer-Oklee winner will represent the North Division against already crowned South Division champion McIntosh in the North Tri County Conference playoff game Fri., Oct. 31, at Oklee.

Plummer scored first against Middle River when Tom Martell burst into the end zone on a 17-yard first quarter touchdown run.

However, Middle River took command in the second quarter, scoring back-to-back touchdowns for a 14-6 halftime lead.

Dale Hanson scored on a nine-yard run to tie the game and then put the Skippers in front by catching a two-point conversion pass from Ness.

Facing a stiff, late-afternoon wind, Plummer tried a fake punt play on the next series of downs, but a fourth down pass was intercepted near midfield by Middle River. Ness then quickly hit Delray Beito with a 40-yard touchdown pass.

Plummer sliced the difference to 14-12 at the start of the fourth quarter on a 10-yard touchdown run by John Greenwald.

However, Middle River wrapped up the decision when Ness passed 28 yards to Mike Peterson for a game-clinching touchdown.

"We stopped their running attack," said Plummer coach Gary Brantl, "but their passing killed us."

Martell supplied the bulk of the Plummer offense by rushing for 113 yards in 20 carries. Plummer totaled 171 yards on the ground but only eight yards through the air. Quarterback Jerry Fisher failed to complete a pass in nine attempts while Martell hit one of three halfback option passes. Three Plummer passes were intercepted.

Brantl cited offensive tackle Neil Konickson and linebacker Carl Torkelson for strong games. "Konnikson really opened up some nice holes," said Brantl. Torkelson was credited with 17 unassisted tackles and nine assisted stops. He also intercepted a pass.

EGF Trips TRF 14-6 In B Squad Football Monday

East Grand Forks capitalized on seven fumbles and four blocked punts to beat Thief River Falls 14-6 in a B squad football game played at East Grand Forks Monday.

Thief River Falls led 6-0 at halftime on a four-yard second quarter touchdown run by Steve Erickson.

Thief River Falls, 4-4 for the year, will host Grand Forks Central tomorrow (Thursday) at 5 p.m. in a sophomore football game on the Prowler athletic field. The Lincoln B squad will close its 1975 season Monday at Bemidji.

Lincoln Football Staff Announces Award Winners

Lincoln high school football coaching staff's weekly post-game recognition honors were announced Tuesday by Prowler head coach Jim Sims.

Runningback Doug Dallmann was cited for several accomplishments as he scored two touchdowns, twice returned kickoffs for 40 yards or more and joined the team's "100 yard club" by totaling 100 yards or more in total offense.

Also cited were Kent Ehrenstrom for outstanding coverage on one play and for a fumble recovery; Kevin Anderson for a fumble recovery and for blocking a conversion kick; Bob Forberg for making a tackle on an interception; Duane Gonsorowski for a quarterback sack; Kirk Reed and Jay Kverno for tackles that forced a fumble; and Bryan Olson who also became a member of the "100 yard club;; for over 100 yards total offense.

Ehrenstrom, a middle linebacker, led the Prowler defensive point scoring charts against Fergus Falls Friday with a pass interception, a fumble recovery, one unassisted tackle and 16 assisted tackles for 52 points.

Gonsorowski totaled 32 defensive points while Anderson had 22; Terry Sullivan and Mike Wigness 18 apiece; Jeff Lindquist, Brian Peterson, Geoff Dagg and Mike Kosel 14 points each; and Chris Biegner and Mike Wiebolt 10 points.

AMONG SUCCESSFUL moose hunters during the early moose season in Minnesota this fall were members of the James Muzzy family of rural Thief River Falls. They bagged this trophy about 4:30 p.m. Sunday nine miles west of Middle River. Members of the party were Jim, his wife Darlene, and sons Kurt (pictured) and Jerry. Live weight of the four-year-bull was estimated at 1,300 pounds. The antlers had a 47-inch spread and the neck bell was 20 inches long. Moose with racks measuring 55 and 53 inches reportedly have also been recorded at the local checking station.

Oklee Blanks Goodridge 36-0 For Division Lead

Goodridge, nearing the end of a winless 1975 football season, fell prey to Oklee's offensive balance Tuesday as the strong Bobcats handed the Huskies a 36-0 North Tri County Conference setback.

The loss stretched the Huskies' season-long losing streak to seven games. Goodridge will be trying to avoid a winless season next week when the Huskies play a 7:30 p.m. North Tri County game at Clearbrook Fri., Oct. 24.

Meanwhile, Oklee moved atop the North Division standings in the North Tri County Conference, thanks in part to Plummer's 20-12 Tuesday afternoon setback at Middle River. The Bobcats now lead the North Division standings with a 7-1 record while the Cardinals slipped to 6-2. The two rivals clash next week at Oklee.

John Larson and Mark Nelson both scored twice for Oklee against the out-manned Huskies.

Nelson scored on a one-yard dive play in the first quarter to start the Bobcats' offense.

Nelson passed 38 yards to Phil Fore in the second quarter and Larson returned a fumble recovery 22 yards for another touchdown in the same stanza. Mike LaCoursiere and Roger Good added conversion points, with Good catching a two-point pass from Nelson as the Bobcats went ahead 22-0 at the half.

The stubborn Huskies kept Oklee off the scoreboard in the third quarter, but the Bobcats scored twice in the final period. Nelson ran 28 yards and Larson went in from two yards out for fourth quarter Bobcat touchdowns. Larson also added a two-point conversion in the final quarter.

Goodridge coach Ken Ewertz found some bright spots in his team's play during the rain-cooled contest. "Everybody did a good job for us," he said. "We didn't play that bad a ball game. We played their (Oklee) caliber of ball."

Goodridge rushed for 130 yards, evenly split between Ryan Haugen, Randy Haugen and Jim Johnson. The Huskies added 32 yards passing as Johnson completed three of six attempts.

Oklee totaled 280 yards on the ground as Nelson, Larson, LaCoursiere and Brent Strand all carried an equal offensive load. Nelson added 45 yards in passing as he completed two of five attempts.

Goodridge stymied by three fumbles and a blocked punt.

Ewertz cited Randy Tharaldson, Randy Nelson, Tom Scheef and Johnson for strong defensive games.

Hockey Hall Of Fame Plans To Enshrine Five

"John Mariucci is indelibly etched into the history of American hockey as well as that of his native Minnesota. He has, in the words of an old but appropriate cliche, become a legend in his own time." So reads the introduction to John Mariucci's pylon at the United States hockey hall of fame in Eveleth and it is to there that he will return to be the principal banquet speaker at the bicentennial enshrinement on Sat., Oct. 25.

Mariucci's remarks will be the highlight of the 4 p.m. banquet scheduled for Eveleth's Holiday Inn. Earlier in the afternoon five new enshrinees will be inducted into the hall in a 2 p.m. ceremony at the building.

Joining the 34 earlier enshrinees will be St. Paul great Tony Conroy, the "copper country's" Joe Linder (deceased) and eastern college stars Stuart Iglehart of Yale, Fred Moseley of Harvard and Francis Harding of Harvard.

Following an outstanding college hockey career at Minnesota the Eveleth born Mariucci went on to a career in professional hockey with the Chicago Blackhawks. He became the only American in league history to captain an NHL team. After professional hockey he returned to his alma mater as varsity hockey coach in 1952 remaining through the end of the 66 season. Mariucci now serves as special assistant to Jack Gordon, the general manager of the Minnesota North Stars.

BRIAN JOHNSTON, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Johnston of Thief River Falls, won first place honors at the zone level Saturday at Grand Forks in the Ford Motor company's punt, pass and kick football competition. Brian will now advance to district competition Saturday at Fargo.

Recall Heroics Of Conservation Officer By DNR

A Minnesota conservation officer who was cited last year for two life saving rescues within a four day period was killed in an airplane accident near Garrison on Sunday, Sept. 28.

The officer, Russ Nelson, had just taken off in a float plane from Pine Lake to investigate reports of illegal duck hunting at a nearby marsh when the aircraft plunged into the ground a few hundred feet from the shore.

The airplane was owned and piloted by Clinton Reems, a retired contractor and friend of Nelson's, who was also killed in the accident.

Nelson was 27. He is survived by his wife Jody and one child.

Officer Nelson was cited by commissioner of natural resources Robert Herbst last year for his part in rescuing three snowmobilers from Lake Mille Lacs after they had broken through the ice.

Only four nights later, on April 21 while on patrol, Nelson, who was then stationed at Pierz, came upon a car lying on its back in the Platte River.

He dove into the icy water and found a man trapped inside but still alive. After pulling the man to safety, Nelson located the victim's wife, who had been thrown clear of the car but was in a state of shock.

Jerome Liemandt, director of the DNR's enforcement division, said the state "has lost one of its finest conservation officers, a man who exemplified the qualities of courage, unselfishness and dedication."

Starting Second Annual Wildlife Poster Contest

Federated garden clubs of Minnesota in cooperation with the state department of natural resources and U.S. forest service announced the start of a poster contest designed to develop new themes urging protection and wise use of the nation's resources.

Smokey Bear or Woodsy Owl characters are to be used in the contest, which is open to all ages starting with the kindergarten level.

Posters may be no larger than 12x18 inches and there are no restrictions on the medium or materials used in their creation.

The artists name, grade or age and home address should be printed on the lower right hand corner of the back of each entry. Entries must be in the mail no later than December 1.

Details of the contest can be obtained by contacting the state director of the poster contest: Mrs. L. M. Delamater, 3726 Hoffman Road, White Bear Lake.

October Report

Hunting was good during the 19th annual "operation October" celebration. Ken Cronk, editor of the Perham Enterprise and chairman of the guide committee gave us this report:

"Hunting in the Perham-New York Mills-Henning areas during the "operation October fall party" was successful according to most of the many outdoor writers and broadcasters that attended.

"Guides for the media personnel who attend the 19th annual affair reported good flocks of bluebills and numerous wood ducks in the area but there was a general lack of mallards during the Friday and Saturday hunt. Sunday, however, was a different story as many of the hunters bagged mallards and all reported a good showing of the most sought-after duck. Sunday morning there was a strong southwest wind and a few northern mallards made a showing for the final day of "operation October."

"During the first two days, October 3 and 4, many of the media personnel had some shooting at geese. Approximately 15 or 20 geese were bagged during the two days and many of those were the greater Canadians that came in on the north winds Thursday evening.

"Grouse hunters over the weekend reported light bird shooting and heavy cover but the winds on Sunday morning had the cover almost gone and the bird shooting improved greatly by the afternoon. Many of the media people that attended "operation October" stayed for the afternoon hunt and were well rewarded for their extended stay.

"Late Sunday evening, many flocks of geese and many more northern ducks were coming into the area. The next two weeks should see many ducks and geese flying into the lakes surrounding the Perham area, and many of the writers and broadcasters have expressed a desire to return to the center of vacationland when the northern waterfowl come in on their annual migration south. Waterfowl hunters who visited during the "operation October" had shooting and most of the hunters bagged a few birds.

"Two of the sportswriters that attended went squirrel hunting during the two days that they stayed in the Perham area. The men bagged six on the first day and nine on the second day. The greys are numerous this year and the acorn crop is at an all time high. Hunters in the area have reported large numbers of rabbits and squirrels."

"Operation October fall party" is organized and conducted by Stu and Dee Mann, syndicated newspaper columnists. Mrs. Mann also authors the "Minnesota outdoors vacation and travel guides". The Mann's have radio shows, "Stu and Dee Mann's outdoors reports", and their columns are carried weekly in many of the newspapers in the state of Minnesota.

Fishing Report

Co-chairman Duane Dorow gave us this fishing report: "Fall is one of the most exciting times for fishing in this area. Walleyes and northerns move into shallow water in search of minnows and frogs. Large sunfish, bluegills and crappies are also feeding in shallow weed beds. Walleyes were caught during the day in 20 to 50 feet of water, with the prime time being between 6 to 9 p.m., using minnows with Rappilas or spinners. Several reports of large northern being caught during mid-day also came in. Some real prize sunfish and bluegills have been bagged in the early morning and early evening. Looks like this fall fishing season will be a good one."

Central Minnesota

Tom Guggisberg, of Glenwood had good hunting in the Glenwood-Starbuck area. He had mallards, teal and woodduck in his bag. He said he has never seen so many woodducks. Mallards were the most plentiful. Don Molitor had mostly mallards in his bag. He hunted in the Melrose area.

Corbid Proposes Moving Elk To Minnesota Zoo

State Representative John Corbid (DFL-Oklee) announced that he has requested the Minnesota department of natural resources to remove the remaining elk of the Minnesota herd by means of live trapping and hold them for placement in the new Minnesota zoological garden which is now under construction in Dakota county.

"I have made this proposal," stated Corbid, "in an attempt to arrive at a solution to a volatile situation that has developed in northwestern Minnesota.

"Since the state of Minnesota has a policy of not reimbursing farmers for crop loss due to wildlife damage, I believe that moving the elk to the new zoo is the best and least expensive answer and will insure the survival of the elk for future generations of Minnesotans to see and enjoy," explained Corbid.

"Although the cost of creating a reserve for the elk herd seems prohibitive, that alternative will be tried if support for inclusion of the elk in the new zoo is not forthcoming," he concluded.

Hunters Warned About Boating Hazards In Fall

Hunters using boats this fall should be aware of the hazards of cold water, an outdoor safety specialist with the department of natural resources reported.

Last year six hunters died as the result of boating accidents, according to Kim Elverum, boat and water safety coordinator. "In all cases hypothermia (exposure) was the major contributing factor in their deaths," he said.

Hypothermia is a lowering of the body core temperature caused by immersion in cold water (or on land by a combination of cold, wetness and wind). If the body's temperature drops more than 20 degrees, death will soon follow.

To prevent this from happening, Elverum suggested the following steps:

1. Wear a personal floatation device (PFD) when using a boat. They are now available in a variety of colors and styles. If you fall in, they will not only float you, but will help retain body heat.
2. Let someone know where you are going and when you will return.
3. Keep low in the water craft and never overload it with people, dogs, decoys or other equipment.
4. Avoid crossing open water in a small boat.
5. If uou do fall overboard try to re-enter your craft as quickly as possible, since water takes heat away from the body many times faster thann air. If you can't climb back in and you are wearing a PFD, curl your body by tucking in your knees and keeping your arms close to your sides for maximum heat conservation.

Skating Program Testing Starts

Testing will be underway this week in the recreational skating program which is having awo-week clinic at the Thief River Falls sports arena. Beginner testing is scheduled to begin on Friday during the normal class schedule, although some classes may have tested before that time.

Arena schedule for the weekend includes the following:

Saturday—9 to 12, RS lessons, practice and make-up testing; 1 to 5 p.m., novice, second class and up testing by pros Kathleen Rutledge and Jean McClellan; 6 to 9 p.m., RS family skating and remaining testing; 9 to 10:45 p.m., adults only skating (high school age or older) and make-up testing.

Sunday—1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m., RS family skating and private lessons.

Skaters in the recreational skating program are being advised that arena schedules will have activities labeled with an RS prefix for everything to which the green and white membership card applies.

On Thursday and Friday of this week the daytime schedule from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3:30 p.m. will allow practice time on two-thirds of the ice for anyone with an RS card. Persons who pass their tests and wish to buy the embroidered patches for those divisions may purchase them for 35 cents each from 4 to 10 p.m. Friday at the arena. Price of the patch is the same as cost to the recreational skating association.

The hockey clinic will begin next week but some ice time will be available for open RS skating. Practice will be permitted from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays October 21 and 28 and lessons on Thursdays October 23 and 30 during the same hours.

Persons who wish to register in the recreational skating program may do so at the park and recreation office in the former Dow Key company building on highway 59 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. beginning Monday. Regular lessons schedule will resume November 6.

Private lessons are available to members or non-members of the recreational skating group at a cost of $3 per 15-minute session. Persons interested in private lessons may contact Mrs. Roger (Linda) Worth at home or at the sports arena.

Yellow sheets which list requirements to be passed in each of the phases of the recreational skating program are available at the arena for all participants in the program.

Duck, Pheasant Are Taste Treat If Cooked Right

Hunters agree there's no treat like wild duck or pheasant if properly prepared. Since wild duck is darker and drier than domestic duck, it's a good idea to roast it with strips of bacon or salt pork draped over the breast.

Mary Darling, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota, suggests examining the duck's stomach contents to determine its diet. A fish eater may taste fishy and will need extensive soaking in salt water and marinating.

If ducks are plucked soon after shooting, they should age in the refrigerator for three or four days. Ducks that are frozen immediately after cleaning will tenderize by thawing slowly in the refrigerator.

With the exception of coots, ducks should not be skinned. Instead, pluck the birds and singe off the remaining down. Remove all the entrails and lungs and the oil sac at the top of the tail. If left in the body cavity, it can impart an oily, undesirable flavor.

Roast ducks in a self basting roaster with a small amount of water in the bottom. Cover and roast at 350 degrees for 2½ hours. Remove the cover the last 15 to 20 minutes to allow the skin to brown.

Like ducks, the meat of upland game birds such as pheasant and grouse tends to be dry. Cream, bacon or salt pork keeps them from drying out when cooking and is particularly crucial with older birds, Miss Darling says.

Experienced game chefs usually recommend two to four days in the refrigerator for pheasants or a slow thaw in the refrigerator for frozen birds. This period tenderizes the meat and heightens if flavor.

Pheasant should be roasted much like duck. Sweet or sour cream soups will moisten the meat as it cooks and add flavor to sauces or gravy made from the pan drippings.

Accidents Are Plaguing Duck, Goose Hunters

At least four Minnesota duck hunters have lost their lives this fall in hunting accidents, the department of natural resources noted this week.

Included among the fatalities are hunters who stood up in front of the muzzle of their companion's gun and those who drowned after capsizing in small duck boats.

Although it is too early to know exactly how many duck hunters are in the marshes this fall, some observers believe the number has increased substantially over recent previous years.

Forecasts for a good season based on a recorded increase in the state's duck population may have lured a lot of new and novice duck hunters into slough and bog this season, according to Bill Severson, outdoor safety specialist.

"Duck hunting from a blind or boat requires special attention to the need for agreeing with your partner on the zone of fire to be covered by each," said Severson.

"Further, he pointed out, "because your hunting companion is sitting or standing immediately next to you it is absolutely essential to control the direction of the gun muzzle and to make sure the safety is on except when the gun is being fired."

"The effects of close range blast from a shotgun are devastating," said Severson, "and, tragically, the person injured or killed is usually a close friend or relative of the shooter."

The use of small, often unstable watercraft for duck hunting also contributes heavily to the fatality statistics, he said.

"These boats are frequently loaded beyond their safe capacity and used in open rough water they were not designed for," said Severson.

Recall Heroics Of Conservation Officer By DNR

A Minnesota conservation officer who was cited last year for two life saving rescues within a four day period was killed in an airplane accident near Garrison on Sunday, Sept. 28.

The officer, Russ Nelson, had just taken off in a float plane from Pine Lake to investigate reports of illegal duck hunting at a nearby marsh when the aircraft plunged into the ground a few hundred feet from the shore.

The airplane was owned and piloted by Clinton Reems, a retired contractor and friend of Nelson's, who was also killed in the accident.

Nelson was 27. He is survived by his wife Jody and one child.

Officer Nelson was cited by commissioner of natural resources Robert Herbst last year for his part in rescuing three snowmobilers from Lake Mille Lacs after they had broken through the ice.

Only four nights later, on April 21 while on patrol, Nelson, who was then stationed at Pierz, came upon a car lying on its back in the Platte River.

He dove into the icy water and found a man trapped inside but still alive. After pulling the man to safety, Nelson located the victim's wife, who had been thrown clear of the car but was in a state of shock.

Jerome Liemandt, director of the DNR's enforcement division, said the state "has lost one of its finest conservation officers, a man who exemplified the qualities of courage, unselfishness and dedication."

Starting Second Annual Wildlife Poster Contest

Federated garden clubs of Minnesota in cooperation with the state department of natural resources and U.S. forest service announced the start of a poster contest designed to develop new themes urging protection and wise use of the nation's resources.

Smokey Bear or Woodsy Owl characters are to be used in the contest, which is open to all ages starting with the kindergarten level.

Posters may be no larger than 12x18 inches and there are no restrictions on the medium or materials used in their creation.

The artists name, grade or age and home address should be printed on the lower right hand corner of the back of each entry. Entries must be in the mail no later than December 1.

Details of the contest can be obtained by contacting the state director of the poster contest: Mrs. L. M. Delamater, 3726 Hoffman Road, White Bear Lake.

October Report

Hunting was good during the 19th annual "operation October" celebration. Ken Cronk, editor of the Perham Enterprise and chairman of the guide committee gave us this report:

"Hunting in the Perham-New York Mills-Henning areas during the "operation October fall party" was successful according to most of the many outdoor writers and broadcasters that attended.

"Guides for the media personnel who attend the 19th annual affair reported good flocks of bluebills and numerous wood ducks in the area but there was a general lack of mallards during the Friday and Saturday hunt. Sunday, however, was a different story as many of the hunters bagged mallards and all reported a good showing of the most sought-after duck. Sunday morning there was a strong southwest wind and a few northern mallards made a showing for the final day of "operation October."

"During the first two days, October 3 and 4, many of the media personnel had some shooting at geese. Approximately 15 or 20 geese were bagged during the two days and many of those were the greater Canadians that came in on the north winds Thursday evening.

"Grouse hunters over the weekend reported light bird shooting and heavy cover but the winds on Sunday morning had the cover almost gone and the bird shooting improved greatly by the afternoon. Many of the media people that attended "operation October" stayed for the afternoon hunt and were well rewarded for their extended stay.

"Late Sunday evening, many flocks of geese and many more northern ducks were coming into the area. The next two weeks should see many ducks and geese flying into the lakes surrounding the Perham area, and many of the writers and broadcasters have expressed a desire to return to the center of vacationland when the northern waterfowl come in on their annual migration south. Waterfowl hunters who visited during the "operation October" had shooting and most of the hunters bagged a few birds.

"Two of the sportswriters that attended went squirrel hunting during the two days that they stayed in the Perham area. The men bagged six on the first day and nine on the second day. The greys are numerous this year and the acorn crop is at an all time high. Hunters in the area have reported large numbers of rabbits and squirrels."

"Operation October fall party" is organized and conducted by Stu and Dee Mann, syndicated newspaper columnists. Mrs Mann also authors the "Minnesota outdoors vacation and travel guides". The Mann's have radio shows, "Stu and Dee Mann's outdoors reports", and their columns are carried weekly in many of the newspapers in the state of Minnesota.

Fishing Report

Co-chairman Duane Dorow gave us this fishing report: "Fall is one of the most exciting times for fishing in this area. Walleyes and northerns move into shallow water in search of minnows and frogs. Large sunfish, bluegills and crappies are also feeding in shallow weed beds. Walleyes were caught during the day in 20 to 50 feet of water, with the prime time being between 6 to 9 p.m., using minnows with Rappilas or spinners. Several reports of large northern being caught during mid-day also came in. Some real prize sunfish and bluegills have been bagged in the early morning and early evening. Looks like this fall fishing season will be a good one."

Central Minnesota

Tom Guggisberg, of Glenwood had good hunting in the Glenwood-Starbuck area. He had mallards, teal and woodduck in his bag. He said he has never seen so many woodducks. Mallards were the most plentiful Don Molitor had mostly mallards in his bag. He hunted in the Melrose area.

Corbid Proposes Moving Elk To Minnesota Zoo

State Representative John Corbid (DFL-Oklee) announced that he has requested the Minnesota department of natural resources to remove the remaining elk of the Minnesota herd by means of live trapping and hold them for placement in the new Minnesota zoological garden which is now under construction in Dakota county.

"I have made this proposal," stated Corbid, "in an attempt to arrive at a solution to a volatile situation that has developed in northwestern Minnesota.

"Since the state of Minnesota has a policy of not reimbursing farmers for crop loss due to wildlife damage, I believe that moving the elk to the new zoo is the best and least expensive answer and will insure the survival of the elk for future generations of Minnesotans to see and enjoy," explained Corbid.

"Although the cost of creating a reserve for the elk herd seems prohibitive, that alternative will be tried if support for inclusion of the elk in the new zoo is not forthcoming," he concluded.

Hunters Warned About Boating Hazards In Fall

Hunters using boats this fall should be aware of the hazards of cold water, an outdoor safety specialist with the department of natural resources reported.

Last year six hunters died as the result of boating accidents, according to Kim Elverum, boat and water safety coordinator. "In all cases hypothermia (exposure) was the major contributing factor in their deaths," he said.

Hypothermia is a lowering of the body core temperature caused by immersion in cold water (or on land by a combination of cold, wetness and wind). If the body's temperature drops more than 20 degrees, death will soon follow.

To prevent this from happening, Elverum suggested the following steps:

1. Wear a personal floatation device (PFD) when using a boat. They are now available in a variety of colors and styles. If you fall in, they will not only float you, but will help retain body heat.
2. Let someone know where you are going and when you will return.
3. Keep low in the water craft and never overload it with people, dogs, decoys or other equipment.
4. Avoid crossing open water in a small boat.
5. If uou do fall overboard try to re-enter your craft as quickly as possible, since water takes heat away from the body many times faster thann air. If you can't climb back in and you are wearing a PFD, curl your body by tucking in your knees and keeping your arms close to your sides for maximum heat conservation.

Skating Program Testing Starts

Testing will be underway this week in the recreational skating program which is having awo-week clinic at the Thief River Falls sports arena. Beginner testing is scheduled to begin on Friday during the normal class schedule, although some classes may have tested before that time.

Arena schedule for the weekend includes the following:

Saturday—9 to 12, RS lessons, practice and make-up testing; 1 to 5 p.m., novice, second class and up testing by pros Kathleen Rutledge and Jean McClellan; 6 to 9 p.m., RS family skating and remaining testing; 9 to 10:45 p.m., adults only skating (high school age or older) and make-up testing.

Sunday—1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m., RS family skating and private lessons.

Skaters in the recreational skating program are being advised that arena schedules will have activities labeled with an RS prefix for everything to which the green and white membership card applies.

On Thursday and Friday of this week the daytime schedule from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3:30 p.m. will allow practice time on two-thirds of the ice for anyone with an RS card. Persons who pass their tests and wish to buy the embroidered patches for those divisions may purchase them for 35 cents each from 4 to 10 p.m. Friday at the arena. Price of the patch is the same as cost to the recreational skating association.

The hockey clinic will begin next week but some ice time will be available for open RS skating. Practice will be permitted from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays October 21 and 28 and lessons on Thursdays October 23 and 30 during the same hours.

Persons who wish to register in the recreational skating program may do so at the park and recreation office in the former Dow Key company building on highway 59 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. beginning Monday. Regular lessons schedule will resume November 6.

Private lessons are available to members or non-members of the recreational skating group at a cost of $3 per 15-minute session. Persons interested in private lessons may contact Mrs. Roger (Linda) Worth at home or at the sports arena.

Yellow sheets which list requirements to be passed in each of the phases of the recreational skating program are available at the arena for all participants in the program.

Duck, Pheasant Are Taste Treat If Cooked Right

Hunters agree there's no treat like wild duck or pheasant if properly prepared. Since wild duck is darker and drier than domestic duck, it's a good idea to roast it with strips of bacon or salt pork draped over the breast.

Mary Darling, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota, suggests examining the duck's stomach contents to determine its diet. A fish eater may taste fishy and will need extensive soaking in salt water and marinating.

If ducks are plucked soon after shooting, they should age in the refrigerator for three or four days. Ducks that are frozen immediately after cleaning will tenderize by thawing slowly in the refrigerator.

With the exception of coots, ducks should not be skinned. Instead, pluck the birds and singe off the remaining down. Remove all the entrails and lungs and the oil sac at the top of the tail. If left in the body cavity, it can impart an oily, undesirable flavor.

Roast ducks in a self basting roaster with a small amount of water in the bottom. Cover and roast at 350 degrees for 2½ hours. Remove the cover the last 15 to 20 minutes to allow the skin to brown.

Like ducks, the meat of upland game birds such as pheasant and grouse tends to be dry. Cream, bacon or salt pork keeps them from drying out when cooking and is particularly crucial with older birds, Miss Darling says.

Experienced game chefs usually recommend two to four days in the refrigerator for pheasants or a slow thaw in the refrigerator for frozen birds. This period tenderizes the meat and heightens if flavor.

Pheasant should be roasted much like duck. Sweet or sour cream soups will moisten the meat as it cooks and add flavor to sauces or gravy made from the pan drippings.

Accidents Are Plaguing Duck, Goose Hunters

At least four Minnesota duck hunters have lost their lives this fall in hunting accidents, the department of natural resources noted this week.

Included among the fatalities are hunters who stood up in front of the muzzle of their companion's gun and those who drowned after capsizing in small duck boats.

Although it is too early to know exactly how many duck hunters are in the marshes this fall, some observers believe the number has increased substantially over recent previous years.

Forecasts for a good season based on a recorded increase in the state's duck population may have lured a lot of new and novice duck hunters into slough and bog this season, according to Bill Severson, outdoor safety specialist.

"Duck hunting from a blind or boat requires special attention to the need for agreeing with your partner on the zone of fire to be covered by each," said Severson.

"Further, he pointed out, "because your hunting companion is sitting or standing immediately next to you it is absolutely essential to control the direction of the gun muzzle and to make sure the safety is on except when the gun is being fired."

"The effects of close range blast from a shotgun are devastating," said Severson, "and, tragically, the person injured or killed is usually a close friend or relative of the shooter."

The use of small, often unstable watercraft for duck hunting also contributes heavily to the fatality statistics, he said.

"These boats are frequently loaded beyond their safe capacity and used in open rough water they were not designed for," said Severson.

Theft At Casino Club Is Reported

A major theft at the Casino club was among 21 separate incidents reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

Friday, it was reported that the Casino club had been broken into between October 5 and October 8 (police were unable to determine the exact date of entry because the club has closed). Taken were 87 cases of beer, seven kegs of beer and 23 frozen pizzas valued at a total of $753.

Three automobile accidents were reported last week. On Tuesday, October 7, a vehicle driven by David Paulson of Goodridge was backing out of a parking stall in the Iver's cafe lot at 1:06 p.m. when it strock a parked vehicle owned by James Horning of the city. Estimated damage of $200 was reported on the Horning car and none on the Paulson vehicle.

In the first of two accidents Thursday, three vehicles were traveling east on Third street at 3:08 p.m. when Clyde Heyd of Grand Forks, N.D., driving a vehicle owned by Loeffler construction of the city, stopped to make a left hand turn into Horace avenue. A car driven by Edward Olson of Fosston stopped behind him, but a car driven by David Barth of the city struck the Olson car from behind and pushed it into the vehicle driven by Heyd. Damages were estimated at $200 to the Heyd vehicle, $250 to the Barth vehicle, and the Olson car was totaled.

At 6:35 p.m. Gary W. Anderson of the city and Mrs. Stuart Boelter, TRF, were both traveling west on highway 59 when Mrs. Boelter attempted to turn left into Barzen avenue and was struck from behind by the Anderson car. Damages were estimated at $750 to the Anderson car and $150 to the Boelter vehicle.

In other incidents, a local store apprehended Ruth Jacobson, 68, of the city October 6 for allegedly shoplifting some food items valued at $2.83. Further investigation found her allegedly in possession of flower bulbs and food items valued at a total of $7.74.

Tuesday, October 7, Wayne Colton of the city reported that the boat horns on his pickup had been vandalized while the vehicle was parked at his residence, and Loren Brenna of the city said $50 damage was caused on his new car when its side was scratched by use of a stick or branch during the night.

Northland Foods apprehended John Price, 82, Stephen for allegedly shoplifting two pair of gloves valued at $5.38.

In one of three incidents reported Wednesday, October 8, a local business place reported the theft of a 12-ton hydraulic jack valued at $60. The jack was recovered and the case is under investigation. Mrs. D. M. Harris of the city told police that during the night an entry into her home had been attempted by prying off a basement window. Nothing was found to be missing. Dean Wolff, TRF, said that in a repeat of earlier incidents, gas had been taken from his vehicles while parked at his residence. The newest loss was valued at $5.

Thursday, Delwin J. Schob, 29, of the city was apprehended on a previous charge of taking live turkeys from the Land O'Lakes processing plant. Janet Williams of the city reported her car battery was taken while the vehicle was parked in the municipal lot near the Northwestern Bell office.

In addition to the Casino club break-in, five other incidents were reported Friday. Mildred Kostrzewski of the city said her car had been struck by another vehicle while it was parked on the 100 block of west Third street between 7:30 p.m. and midmight the previous day. Damage was estimated at $200. Dwight Ortloff of the city reported his pickup missing from Seventh street and Davis avenue. The vehicle was found abandoned near Barnesville Monday.

James Bires of the city and Gary Jokela of Frazee were arrested for allegedly taking two root beer mugs from the A & W drive-in. Romal E. Burtness of the city reported that between 8 and 9:30 p.m. his 1963 Pontiac was taken from his residence. The vehicle was stopped by a deputy sheriff at 11:05 p.m., and two 15-year-old juveniles were apprehended.

Saturday, Ron Witkop of East Grand Forks reported that the motor had been taken from his motorboat while it was parked in the alley south of Northern Woodwork. The '75 Johnson 15 horsepower motor was taken between 6 and 7 p.m. A citizen reported that at 11:42 a.m. someone was inside a vacant house that was under construction. A male juvenile, 14, was apprehended and is being charged.

In one of two incidents reported Sunday, the screen door to the dog pound was kicked in, and a cat was reported missing. An off-duty officer reported seeing a male juvenile taking some eggs from a local store. The boy was apprehended.

Says Farmers Taking Bum Rap On Food Costs

Republican national committeeman Rudy Boschwitz said recently farmers are taking a "bum rap" for rising food prices and blamed it on "ecominic unawareness' of consumers fostered by politicians.

"Farmers," said Boschwitz, "are a target of convenience for politicians because for every farm family there are 20 consumer families."

Concern that U.S. wheat sales to Russia would greatly increase the price of bread in supermarkets is an example of consumer unawareness, he said. Boschwitz had publicly criticized the Ford administration for the moratorium on wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

"Any worry that wheat exports will unduly raise bread prices is foolish, unrealistic and political," Boschwitz said. "In fact, from a purely selfish, parochial economic point of view, all of us in Minnesota should be pulling for more wheat exports because if our farmers have more money to spend it means more sales, more jobs and more income for all Minnesotans.

"Just look at the $403 million surplus in the state treasury. It got there because people in Minnesota had more income and, therefore, paid more taxes to the state when the agricultural segment of our economy had a couple good years.

"Realistically, the cost of wheat represents only a small price of the cost of bread. In fact, based on 1973 prices, an increase of $1 per bushel in the price of wheat paid to the farmer would increase bread cost little more than a penny a loaf.

"In June of 1972, one month before the Russian wheat sale, bread prices averaged 24.7 cents per one-pound loaf and the farm value of the wheat in that loaf was 2.6 cents. Three years later, in June of this year, the average price per loaf was 35.6 cents and the cost of wheat per loaf was 3.6 cents.

Boschwitz said that according to a 1973 breakdown of costs by USDA, labor is the major cost in the producion of bread amounting to nearly 39 per cent of the total cost of a loaf of bread.

"In fact, the labor cost of moving a loaf of bread from the bakery to the supermarket is more than the cost of the wheat required to make the bread, according to USDA," Boschwitz said.

In addition to its dramatic impact on the domestic economy, Boschwitz noted that agricultural exports contribute heavily to a favorable balance of payments. "Last year, agriculture accounted for about $21.5 billion in exports and our favorable balance of agricultural trade was about $12 billion," he said.

NEATNESS COUNTS
It's an old saying but nowhere is it more applicable than here in our pharmacy. For every drug package has to be carefully marked and then stored alphabetically in its exact proper place under the right protective conditions. Our pharmacy counter is always kept antiseptically clean so that there is no chance of a drug becoming contaminated while we are filling your prescriptions.
Neatness also counts when it comes to people and that is why all of the people in our pharmacy make it an extra point to be well-groomed from their fingernails and shoes to their lab jackets.
"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

HOW'S YOUR Agri-Culture?
ENGLAND WAS SLOW TO RECOGNIZE OUR POTENTIAL FOR PRODUCING COTTON
EIGHT BAGS OF THE FIBER SHIPPED THERE FROM THE U.S. IN 1784 WERE SEIZED FOR FRAUDULENT IMPORTATION— BECAUSE THE BRITISH DIDN'T BELIEVE SO MUCH COTTON COULD BE GROWN IN AMERICA!
BY 1801 U.S. COTTON EXPORTS JUMPED TO 21 MILLION LBS. AND DOUBLED 3 YEARS LATER!

OUR Patriots!
ALTHOUGH THE OFFICIAL BIRTH DATE OF THE ARMY RESERVE IS APRIL, 1908, ITS TRADITION CAN BE TRACED BACK TO APRIL 19, 1775 WHEN FARMERS AND TRADESMEN OF CONCORD AND LEXINGTON FIRST TOOK TO THE FIELD AS "CITIZEN SOLDIERS."
EVEN AFTER CONGRESS PLACED THE NEW ENGLAND MILITIA UNDER ITS CONTROL ON JUNE 14th (THE OFFICIAL BIRTHDAY OF THE ARMY) THERE WAS NO MENTION OF UNIFORMS.
SHORTLY AFTER WASHINGTON TOOK COMMAND OF THE NEW ENGLAND MILITIA UNIT AT CAMBRIDGE, MASS., ON JULY 4, 1775, HE ISSUED AN ORDER TO IDENTIFY RANK... GENERALS TO WEAR COLORED SASH, AND ALL OFFICERS TO WEAR COCKADES IN THEIR HATS.
NOT UNTIL OCTOBER, 1779 DID WASHINGTON SET THE UNIFORM STANDARD... HE ORDERED ALL FOOT SOLDIERS TO WEAR BLUE COATS WITH TRIM TO IDENTIFY THEIR HOME STATE.

HHH Critical Of Ford Inaction On Nutrition Bill

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey recently accused the Ford administration of "trying to play Russian roulette" with the nation's child nutrition programs.

"A measure proposing a number of significant improvements in our child nutrition programs, H. R. 4222, has been sitting on the President's desk for over a week awaiting his decision," Humphrey said in the U.S. Senate.

"I understand that the U.S. Department of agriculture and the Office of management and budget have recommended a veto of H. R. 4222. But so far the President has not spoken as to his intentions.

"The crippling of programs of vitally needed assistance for our people, through default and delay by the Administration, must come to an end."

As a result of the delay, Humphrey indicated that there has been confusion among project administrators regarding the continuation of the women, infants and children (WIC) feeding program included in the measure.

"As the author of the WIC program, I am concerned that it not be hamstrung administratively, contrary to congressional intent," he said.

An earlier Continuing resolution on WIC and the Special food program was to expire on September 30. But the General accounting office rendered an opinion allowing the continuation of these programs until the passage of the agricultural appropriations legislation.

Humphrey pointed out that "a great deal of time and effort has gone into developing H. R. 4222. It is a good bill." The House of Representatives passed it by a vote of 380 to 7, and the Senate by a unanimous voice vote.

"It should be clear to all that Congress has made its commitment to continue and improve these programs. And I think it's safe to say that the Congress will override a Presidential veto," he said.

The Administration earlier proposed a block grant approach to the child nutrition programs which Humphrey maintains "would have served to destroy and dismantle" them.

"Fortunately, the Congress rejected this approach and developed sound, realistic legislation in the form of H. R. 4222," he said.

The Minnesota Senator defined the nutrition issue in this way, "Does the White House want to support these vital programs without interruption, so that millions of children, taxpayers and administrators will benefit?

"Or does the Administration intend by design or inadvertence to force a disastrous, even if only temporary, break in the flow of benefits?

"Today we needlessly face a confused situation with the threatened withdrawal of nutritional support from millions of our most vulnerable citizens.

"If the President wants positive legislation which is fiscally responsible, then he should sign H. R. 4222 without further delay. This is the right and responsible course for our children and families in need."

The Face of Faith

Sometimes a face is striking. It isn't the sort of face you're accustomed to. It's a face you wouldn't have expected to see. But you have seen it! That's why you call it striking.

The Face of Faith is like that . . .

The eyes seem lifted toward the hills, to a source of strength. The lips are firm with a courage that rests neither on prowess nor weapon. The countenance shines with a joyous light . . . a light that seems to reflect some mystic Sun though the world around is cast in shadow and gloom.

I see the Face of Faith each Sunday . . the face of a child . . . perhaps your child!

I am her Sunday School teacher — and the joyous light of that striking face inspires me to seek more faithfully in the worship and work of my Church the help of God.

You are her parents. How that confident, expectant radiance must inspire you!

Entertaining ODDITIES!

That landmark of Paris, the Eiffel Tower, which was erected for the Paris Exposition of 1889, later boasted the world's greatest advertising sign. From 1925 to 1936 the word "Citroen" in electric lights of six colors ran down the length of the tower—the letter N alone measured over 68 feet in height—and could be read 24 miles away.

VOICI!
THIS SPACE FOR RENT

Next time you're visiting that American landmark, the Washington Monument, chances are you'll notice that the top half is not exactly the same color as the bottom half. That's because so long a period had elapsed between the times when the bottom and top parts were erected that the quarry had run out of the same color stone.

A monument that nobody could really see would be an oil rig built 54 miles off the coast. To see just the tip of a 200 foot drilling tower, a person would have to stand on a hill a full 1,662 feet above sea level. This is 412 feet higher than the Empire State Building. Among the Atlantic offshore tracts proposed to be offered at oil drilling lease sales by the federal government, experts at American Petroleum Institute have pointed out that the nearest is 54 miles from shore!

Think About It

The recent Chamber of Commerce newsletter published by the local organization contained an item which makes for thought-provoking reading. The item follows:

If all the world were reduced to a town of 1,000 people, in the town would be sixty Americans. The remainder of the world would be represented by the 940 other persons. The 60 Americans would have half the income of the entire town, the 940 others would share the remainder of the town's income. 330 people in the town would be classified as Christians, 670 would not. At least 80 townspeople would be practicing Communists. That's more than our whole nation. 70 others would be under Communist domination.

White people would total 303, while non-white would be nearly 700.

The 60 Americans would have 15 times as many possessions as the average of all the rest of the people in the village.

The 60 Americans would produce 16 per cent of the total town's food supply. Although they eat 62 per cent about the maximum daily food requirement they would either eat most of what they grew or store it for the future at enormous cost. Since most of the 940 non-Americans would be hungry most of the time it could lead to some ill feelings toward the 60 Americans, who would appear to be enormously rich and fed to a point of sheer disbelief by a majority of the other townspeople.

Of the 940 Non-Americans 300 would have malaria, 85 would have schistosomiasis, 3 would have leprosy, 45 will die this year from malaria, cholera, typhus and other infectious diseases. Some 156 will die from starvation and malnutrition. None of the 60 Americans will ever get these diseases and will probably never worry about them.

The 60 Americans would each spend $87 a year on liquor and tobacco, but less than $20 for the drugs needed for the finest medical care in the world, and they would be loudly proclaiming that medicine costs too much. We're a very interesting people. Think about it . . .

Good Old Wood

One of the things which many modern youngsters have missed is the challenge of trying to make something out of wood. We can recall the home-made bows and arrows which gave us more pleasure and took more time in the making than in the using. And we have thought for some time it would be a real challenge to try to carve working duck decoys.

Aside from the challenge of working with wood, the appreciation of its utility and beauty should not go unrecognized. We liked this commentary on wood which appeared in a recent issue of the Norman County Index at Ada:

Plastic has replaced a lot of items originally made out of wood. Its a substitute but nothing really takes the place of wood. As we are in the midst of bicentennial years in America, we are reminded that America is a land of wood and born whittlers. In today's plastic age, there is a noticeable return to the use of wood to serve modern man's needs. Both in home building and in furniture making, wood use is making a comeback.

Wood may not be the most versatile material around, but for centuries it has been the most admired. Even if they wanted to, America's founders had no choice but to use wood to make the things they wanted and needed. America of 300 years ago was a land of trees. A squirrel with a yen for travel could have made it from the Jamestown colony in Virginia to the Great Lakes without ever touching ground.

Wood had a big part in the way of life for the early settlers. The cabinetmakers, the rail splitters, barn builders, carvers of ship's figureheads, the coopers, the wheelrights, the decoy shapers and the fashioners of country fiddles all became a part of the nation's character.

In those days, wood was nature's all-purpose material for the craftsman, almost regardless of what he made. Wooden heads displayed the wares of wig makers. Wooden frames held quilts for colonial needlework. Wooden looms and shuttles were a must for the weaver. Merry-go-round horses and little girls' dolls were all made of wood. In the kitchen, water dippers and bowls, butter churns and spoons and dozens of other tools of the cook were fashioned from wood.

Wood served as the silversmith's hammering block and as the blacksmith's charcoal. Architects and builders imitated stone blocks and marble pillars with wood. Farmers used it for almost everything, from oxen yokes to barn shingles. Today, as in the colonial years, there is a strong appeal just to watch someone working with wood.

According to one old story, a ring of bystanders watched Mark Twain working over a chunk of wood with a jackknife, until finally someone asked him what he was whittling—a walking stick . . . a statuette? "No," Twain answered, "a pile of shavings."

Measure of Service

Comment on Congressional pay hikes is contained in this editorial from the Wadena Pioneer Journal:

The U.S. Senate voted recently on a matter dear to the pocketbooks of all Americans. Fortunately for the nation's taxpayers, a majority of the Senate upheld President Ford's contention that pay increases for members of Congress and federal employees be limited to five per cent.

Minnesota's two senators, Hubert Humphrey and Walter Mondale, were on the other side of the fence, favoring a boost in salaries of 8.66 per cent. The difference between that and five per cent may not appear to be much, but it amounts to $1.6 billion a year. That is almost $8 in taxes for each man, woman and child in the nation.

We can't see how our two Minnesota elected representatives in the Senate can justify raises of nearly $4,000 for themselves when so many of their constituents are without jobs.

But we're even more concerned over the escalator clause contained in the pay bill which provides members of Congress with an anti-inflation lifebelt while they let the rest of the country drown.

This escalator clause should be one of the major issues in the 1976 election campaigns. Unless our elected solons are willing to repeal this clause and thus show they are willing to suffer the results of their policies along with most of the rest of us, they should not be returned to office.

If there is to be any automatic escalating of federal salaries—and those of state government employees as well—pay should rise as the cost of living goes down and fall as the cost of living goes up. Then, at least, the pay of Congress would be a measure of its service to the country.

Borrowed Nonsense

A census taker asked the woman at the door: "How many in your family?" "Five," snapped the answer. "Me, the old man, kid, cow and cat." "And the politics of your family?" "Mixed. I'm Republican, the old man's a Democrat, the kid's wet, the cow's dry and the cat's a communist."

"The Blue Mule", high-powered diesel rig driven by trucker Jan Michael Vincent, is harassed by a corrupt group's goon squad in "White Line Fever". Starts Sunday, Oct. 19 at the Galaxy Twin Theatre.

Humphrey Reports

To Minnesotans

The Joint Economic Committee, which I chair, released on October 1 its midyear review of the economy.

I am happy to report that we expect some good news for the economy for the rest of 1975. Thanks to the tax cuts which Congress enacted last spring, consumer spending probably will be strong and production can be expected to grow steadily through the end of this year.

The challenge for economic policy is to be sure that this growth will continue next year. This will not happen automatically.

The conclusion of our Committee after listening to many witnesses and after studying the situation carefully ourselves is that we must have prompt and decisive policy action this year if the recovery is to continue.

At this point in our history we do not have to choose between more inflation and continued high unemployment. The policies we recommend will both reduce unemployment and inflation.

Now let me tell you more specifically what our recommendations were.

First, jobs. We recommend an energy jobs program which will put 1.6 million people to work in 1976.

Our millions of unemployed are a valuable national resource. They should be put to work renovating housing, building parks, improving rural roads, providing the myriad of goods and services which our people need.

Our second recommendation was on taxes. The 1975 tax reduction should be extended through 1976. And, further, we recommended the enactment of an additional $8 to $10 billion tax cut for 1976, over and above the extension of the 1975 tax cut.

Why do we need a tax cut when the economy already is beginning to recover?

We need it for the simple reason that we want to keep the recovery going next year. This tax cut is needed to offset the effects of inflation and to maintain the status quo.

Our third recommendation had to do with monetary policy. Monetary policy must be sufficiently expansive to keep interest rates from going so high that they will interrupt the recovery. This is a very serious concern.

Lower interest rates are the only hope for more housing construction, and housing means jobs. Housing means economic recovery.

Our fourth recommendation was in the area of price-wage policy. We feel that the President must actively involve himself, with all the prestige and influence of his office, in a vigorous effort to obtain voluntary price restraint from major companies and voluntary wage restraint from the larger unions.

With our recommendations the deficit will be narrowing steadily from quarter to quarter. Without our recommendations, the deficit will be a little smaller at first, but it will grow steadily with each quarter — because a stagnant economy will not produce the tax receipts needed to balance the budget.

If you're thinking about buying your own phone system, ask the salesman these four questions.
His answers may change your mind.

1. Listen, you say my monthly cost would be a little less if I owned my equipment, but what about the total cost over the long run? Like maintenance—does your price include repair labor costs after the guarantee expires? And how long am I going to have to hold on to the system before it pays for itself? Do you really think it'll last that long?

2. If I should move my business to a new location, how long is it going to take you to hook up my phone system and get it working again? What am I supposed to do all that time without service?

3. If the size of my business should change and my phone system can't adapt to the new size, what will that cost? Is there really any market for an outgrown and used phone system?

4. What about taxes? Is your contract written so costs are fully deductible as an operating expense, or do they fall under capital investment? How about sales tax — wouldn't that wipe out my investment credit?

There are a lot of other important questions you should ask before you make your decision. Give us a call at 218-847-3142 and we'll be glad to fill you in on all of them.

Joint Purchase Of Kiewel's Considered

Thief River Falls city council, the board of education and the Pennington county board of commissioners will be deciding in separate sessions this week whether to enter a joint agreement for the purchase of the 175 x 140 foot section of Kiewel property located west of the new law enforcement center on Main avenue and First street.

The school board has scheduled a meeting Monday and the council and county board will conduct adjourned meetings Tuesday. If all three groups vote to enter into an agreement to divide the purchase cost equally, members from each group will be selected for a negotiating committee. Cost of the property has been tentatively set at $93,000.

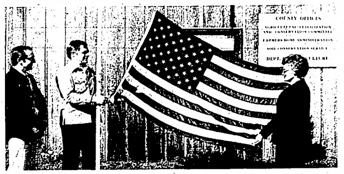
At a joint meeting Wednesday night which included members of the three groups, Gene Beito, a representative at the Chamber of Commerce downtown development committee, said the property was a desirable investment because it presented an opportunity for future expansion in a prime public use area of the city. Interim uses for the property could include rental of the 75 x 76 foot main building as an office facility.

However, according to county auditor C. W. Rodekuhr (who spoke at the meeting), the land would be very useful for the additional parking spaces it would provide to alleviate the shortage that currently exists in the area of the courthouse and the law enforcement center.

The auditor said there aren't enough spaces available to accommodate regular courthouse employees, let alone visitors. He estimated that although there are 16 slots available at the courthouse, between 50 and 55 are needed; and when the law enforcement center opens there will be only five slots for the minimum of 25 employees working there.

Although there seemed fairly unanimous agreement at the meeting that, if purchased, the property must be used for parking on at least an interim basis, some officials present balked at the prospect of committing such a sizeable investment to property that would be exclusively used for parking, and insisted the option of future expansion be included in any agreement.

The opportunity to purchase the property resulted from a desire by the new ownership of the Kiewel property to change from a manufacturing to a warehouse operation. Instead of remodelling the present location to suit the changeover, the new ownership expressed an interest in transferring to a more spacious location. A Jobs Incorporated building on the airport road is currently under consideration by the firm.



A NEW FLAG is now flying over the federal office building located on Dale St. N. off highway 59. Loren Luschen (left), county supervisor for the Farmers Home administration, and Wallace Sparby, executive director of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, are shown accepting the flag from Mrs. James Cuppett, Americanism chairman for the American Legion auxiliary.

Jenson Looks Back Into TR Falls Past

TIMES BICENTENNIAL 1776 ★ 1976 FEATURE

Ability to look back clearly into the past in light of present conditions is an ability reserved for only a few people. One of those is Adolph Jenson, now a young 85 years of age, whose memory of Thief River Falls and area around the turn of the century sparkles like a proverbial new penny.

Adolph and his brothers Anton, Henry and Rudolph were in business with their father, Jens P. Jenson, in the Jenson & Sons livery stable here in 1906. Anton, now 95, is presently a resident of Oakland Park nursing home.

Adolph's memory spans many activities of the early years, from trailing horses through town to pasture in the present Oakland Park area, to hauling materials for dredging companies working along the large drainage ditches northeast of Thief River Falls, to watching the hack that hauled lumberjacks from the bars to the town's rather extensive and active red light district.

That hack had an established reputation for its destination late in the evening and nobody rode it except for the purpose in question, Jenson said. The sawmill attracted a considerable amount of transient trade to the community and the community provided whatever goods and services it could sell.

The early 1900's were the heyday of numerous saloons with such nostalgic names as William's, the First and Last Chance, Morgan's, Pat Rorik's and others. Each of the saloons did a heavy business and a gambling hall also attracted its share of trade.

The Jenson & Sons livery was located at the corner of Knight avenue and Third street where the Tastee Freeze store presently stands. It started with only a few horses and expanded to have as many as 40, including eight draft horses used in commercial hauling. The stable also had seven hunting dogs which it rented for use in hunting the numerous prairie chickens and ducks which abounded in the area.

The Jenson family had lived about 15 miles from Moorhead, five miles from the Red river. A massive flood hit the area in 1898, bringing water up to the third step of the second floor stairs in the Jenson house. In 1900 the family moved to Germantown, northeast of Thief River Falls. People travelling from Thief River Falls to Grygla, Malcolm and Liner often stopped there overnight.

The livery business in Thief River Falls was started in 1906 and was an almost instant success. Horses were rented to salesmen calling in the area, to persons who could not afford to keep their own teams and rigs when they wanted to go visiting, and to homesteaders who had to stay on their homesteads for a certain amount of time to retain their claims.

Jens Jenson believed in caring for his horses and would stand for no nonsense with them. Adolph remembers that one man who had rented a team returned with them showing signs of abuse. In nothing flat the driver was "laid out" as a result of his impropriety.

Rental rates were a dollar an hour for the first hour and 50 cents for each additional hour that a team was used, Adolph recalls. Going rate for a team and driver to Grygla was $8 plus expenses (the trip meant an overnight stop and meals) and the trip to Germantown commanded a $4 fee. During the county fair the livery ran a horse-

Correction

Due to erroneous information, it was incorrectly reported in the Wednesday October 15 edition of the Times that Delwin J. Schob, 29, of Thief River Falls was apprehended by the police department on a previous charge of taking live turkeys from the Land O'Lakes processing plant.

He was actually charged for taking one live turkey which he found on Soo Line property after it had gotten loose from the plant. The Times regrets the error and any inconvenience which may have been caused by the mistake.

Don't Smoke Day Being Observed Here On Tues.

Tuesday will be observed as "Don't Smoke Day" in Minnesota. Fifteen state organizations sponsored the initial event last year and the same organizations are sponsoring it again this year.

Cigarette smoking has been described as "the greatest single cause of preventable deaths in the United States today". Smokers are asked to quit for one day and it is hoped that many will quit permanently".

Future Farmers of America chapter and the vocational health class will be participating in the sign-up as they did last year. Pledge cards will also be available at local banks. Present smokers are urged to sign, then refrain from smoking on October 21.

"We hope you will like it well enough to kick the habit for keeps. It could be a life saver, too," states Raymond V. Ptacek, president of the Pennington county unit of the American Cancer society.

County Farmers Union Meeting Here October 29

Dennis Forsell, Minnesota Farmers Union director of organization, will be the featured speaker at the Pennington county Farmers Union annual convention.

Carl Anderson, county president from rural Red Lake Falls, said the meeting will be held October 29 starting at 8 p.m. in the Civic and commerce room, city auditorium, Thief River Falls.

Other convention highlights include election of officers, door prize drawings, lunch, adoption of resolutions and entertainment, according to Anderson.

Program Slated On Breast And Uterine Cancer

A special program on breast and uterine cancer will be conducted at the Lincoln high school cafeteria beginning at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Uterine cancer, although reduced, could be nearly eliminated as a cause of death among women today. Breast cancer, now the leading cause of cancer death among women and major cause of all deaths among women from 44 to 50, could be greatly reduced just by applying what is known today. There will be explanations, films and verbal discussion.

Special coverage of the role of mamography, xeroradiography and thermography will be covered by Dr. Robert G. Carter of Northwestern hospital services, Thief River Falls. A program on breast self-examination using the breast self-examination model will be conducted by members of the nursing community. The program is free and open to both men and women.

Area SCD Meet Here Wednesday At Northland CC

Annual meeting of the Area I association of soil and water conservation districts will be held Wednesday at Northland community college auditorium beginning at 9:30 a.m. Leonard Skaar of Thief River Falls is Area I director and president of the state association.

Reports will be given by Harry Major, state conservationist from St. Paul; Jerry Young, area conservationist from Thief River Falls; Merlin Wesloh and Gene Hallenstein, representing the department of natural resources; and Darol Melby, rural and community development.

Election of area director, co-director, secretary and treasurer will be held. Included in the program will be presentations by area speech and poster contest winners.

More Enrollees Needed In Stop Smoking Program

Additional enrollees are wanted for the five-day plan to stop smoking which began last night at the Seventh-day Adventist community service center located at 1004 Tindolph av. S.

Although the first session was held Sunday, additional members will be accepted at the meeting tonight at 8 p.m. The usual charge for the plan is being waived for this particular course which is being conducted in cooperation with Minnesota D-Day on Tuesday. That day is being observed officially as don't smoke day in Minnesota.

The five-day plan is a group thereapy type of program conducted by professional personnel on five consecutive nights.

Wayne Odegaard Resigns Post As Associate Agent

Wayne Odegaard, associate extension agent in Pennington county, resigned his position effective November 15 to accept a position as county agent at Alexandria in Douglas county.

Odegaard was acting extension agent here in 1972 while Terry Courneya was on leave of absence for additional education and became associate agent with emphasis on youth programs upon Courneya's return. A replacement is now being sought for the local position.

A native of Crookston and graduate of the Northwest school of agriculture there, Odegaard received his college degree from the University of Minnesota in St. Paul in 1969. He served in Jamaica for a year and two years in Nicollet county before coming to Thief River Falls. His educational background is in dairying and dairy husbandry and Douglas county is a heavy dairy area.

Odegaard said he regrets leaving the local program and will miss the associations he has formed with the people here, but views the new job as an opportunity for advancement in his chosen field.

Membership drive for Northern Blood bank, Inc. will be held Thursday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Northland community college and from 3 to 9 p.m. at the city auditorium. The drive, sponsored by Thief River Falls Business and Professional women's club is being held to encourage more normally healthy persons, ages 17 to 65 to become blood donors.

Blood donations will not be taken on that day. New members registering will simply stay long enough to sign an application, for a blood sample to be drawn and to pay a two dollar fee. There will be a 30-day holding period before the new member is subject to call.

The fee covers membership for life, as long as the member agrees to donate blood when requested by the blood bank. Benefits include free blood for the member, his or her spouse, parents and grandparents over 60 and dependent children under 17. Non-members must pay $35 or more for every pint of blood when transfusions are necessary. If an applicant does not fall within the age limits, or if his blood is unacceptable, he may arrange for someone else to donate in his place and still receive the organization benefits.

According to Dan Shafland, Northwestern hospital lab supervisor, more donors are needed because of a new regulation from the federal food and drug administration which requires more sophisticated testing for hepatitis. Shafland said that because of the new tests, which are longer and more expensive to conduct, it takes longer for newly donated blood to be approved for use. For this reason, the supply of available blood on reserve must be increased.

The lab supervisor added that the amount of blood used at the hospital has increased this year. To date 750 more units (pints) of blood have been used than the same time a year ago.

The donated blood is generally used within six to eight days after it is received. It is retained as whole blood, or the fluid is drained and the packed red blood cells are kept for availability on a number of diseases.

Donors with all existing blood types are sought, but persons with rare types AB and B are particularly welcome. Calls for donations to individual members are normally not more than every two years and donations cannot be given more than every three months. If a member has not been called for a donation for more than two years the possibility of a clerical error exists, and he is requested to call the hospital laboratory to check his status. Persons unable to register for membership Thursday can sign up at the laboratory practically anytime.

Meals For Senior Citizens Start Locally In Nov.

Elderly adults in Thief River Falls and the surrounding area will soon be able to obtain low cost, nutritious hot meals at Northwestern hospital, according to Susan D. Abbott, director of a senior meals and activity program sponsored by the Tri-Valley Opportunity council. The meals will be offered Monday through Friday beginning early in November.

Mrs. Abbott said the program is designed to improve the diets of persons over 60 who are unable to prepare nutritionally sound meals for themselves because of a lack of adequate income, incentive or mobility. In addition, the program is seen as a way of ending the isolation of elderly residents and bringing them needed information on nutrition, health and other services.

Tri-Valley has requested that Thief River Falls provide a local site manager for the program. At a regular city council meeting Tuesday, the council finance committee recommended that the city assume the cost of providing a site manager for the remainder of this year, and explore the possibility of financing the position with revenue sharing funds in 1976 and United Way funds in 1977. The council decided, however, to attempt to obtain a federally

Barbara Flaten And Gary Anderson Wed At Oklee

Nazareth Lutheran church, a country church located northeast of Oklee, was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Barbara Jean Flaten and Gary Anderson.

The bride is the daughter of Carl Flaten of Thief River Falls and the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad of Oklee. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Anderson of Trail.

Rev. Carl Wosje of Thief River Falls officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by approximately 200 relatives and friends. Organist was Mrs. Dennis McGeary, a friend of the couple. Mrs. Lowell Enerson sang "Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

On each side of the altar were hurricane lamp candelabras graced with white daisies and greens. Marking the pews were green bows and a spray of white daisies.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her foster father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of solft polyester organza, lined with acetate taffeta. The gown, with lavish lace on the bodice, was styled in empire silhouette with bands of lace flowing down the front of the softly flared skirt forming an apron effect. Matching lace outlined the square neckline, formed a cap over the top of the long, sheer sleeves that were complemented by deep lace cuffs. A full, chapel-length train created back interest. Flowing from her open Camelot-styled lace headpiece was a two-tiered, nylon tulle, bouffant veil, attached by a white comb. She carried a white lace-covered Bible topped with a cluster of white daisy mums, carnations and a mist of babies' breath, accented by multi-colored streamers.

The bride's personal attendant was Cindy Johnson of Oklee, a friend.

Mrs. Betty Erickson of Thief River Falls, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Anderson of Trail, sister of the groom. Susan Johnsrud of Goodridge and Geline Stolaas of Oklee, friends of the bride. The matron of honor was attired in a medium blue polyester knit A-line gown with white banding trim. Her slightly shirred bodice featured a back banded belt with button closure. Similar gowns in medium green were worn by the bridesmaids. To complete their attire, the attendants wore wide picture hats featuring multi-colored satin ribbon streamers and a cluster of flowers to match their gowns.

They carried baskets of white daisy mums, greens and babies' breath with matching ribbon streamers.

Larry Anderson of Trail attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Gale Anderson, another brother of the groom, Douglas Olson of Thief River Falls, a cousin of the groom, and Vincent Lundeen of Trail, a friend. All wore white tuxedo jackets with black trousers, green ruffled shirts and carnation boutonnieres, tinted to match the bridesmaids' gowns.

Serving as ushers were Robert Flaten, brother of the bride, and Gary Rolandson of Erskine, a cousin of the groom. Acolytes were Roger Flaten of Oklee, brother of the bride, and Tilman Anderson.

For her foster daughter's wedding, Mrs. Chervestad wore a floor-length gown featuring a polyester knit, blue polka dot top with long sheer sleeves with wide cuffs. Matching pleated trim accented the center pleat of her white A-line skirt and encircled the hemline. Her corsage was of white daisy mums and green carnations. A similar corsage was worn by the mother of the groom, who was attired in a medium blue floor-length gown.

Special guests at the wedding were Carl Flaten of Thief River Falls, father of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Helge Johnson, also of Thief River Falls, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted in the church parlors by the Orlando Chervestads. A four-tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Chervestad, centered the serving table. Topping the cake were a miniature bride and groom encircled by white daisy mums. Other miniature members of the wedding party, together with green daisy mums, white roses and wedding bells, graced the other tiers. Mrs. Helge Johnson and Mrs. Douglas Olson, Sr., of Thief River Falls, aunt of the groom, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Orville Rolandson of Thief River Falls, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Burnell Myrum of Pengilly.

Serving as reception host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Korydon Chervestad of Oklee, foster brother and sister-in-law of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rolandson of Erskine. Mrs. Brad Nelson of Oklee, the bride's foster sister, registered the guests as Mrs. Brenda Anderson of Thief River Falls, cousin of the groom, and Mary Lynn Mandt, a friend of the bride, served the punch.

Waitresses were Valerie Wiseth of Goodridge and Tami Chervestad and Susan Johnson of Oklee. In charge of the gift table were Paulette Parkins of Thief River Falls, Colleen Johnson of Oklee and Debbie Sigerud of Goodridge, friends of the bride. The bride's brother, Carl Flaten, Jr., of Effie, distributed the thank-you notes. In charge of serving the reception were Mrs. Juell Chervestad, Mrs. Glenn Tasa, Mrs. Lyle Mandt and Mrs. Merald Halvorson.

All the flowers at the wedding were arranged by the bride's foster mother.

A wedding supper followed at the Chervestad home where the gifts were opened and viewed. Serving as host and hostess were Dennis McGeary and Mrs. Virgil Radnitecki. Mrs. Juell Chervestad poured.

The newly-weds are now at home in a mobile home near Thief River Falls. The groom is employed in this city by Land O'Lakes, Inc. Photo, Roger Tveiten.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Thoughts while planting tulips in the wind and rain . . . why is it that tulip orders never arrive until the weather becomes miserable? The only compensation for working in Tuesday's disagreeable weather is the prospects of tulip blossoms along the stone wall. It was amazing to see the number of people that were out in the rain. Among them was a minister.

Wonder what compells a man to stay in the ministry. Of all vocations, his must, at times, be the most discouraging. He is almost always at a disadvantage—even before he accepts the call to serve a new parish. Consider some of his problems. When a parish calls a pastor, someone suggests that Rev. Talker at Townville is a terrific speaker and the congregations sends a delegation to hear him deliver a sermon. They arrive unannounced the morning after the parson had been called out of bed twice, once to sit at the bedside of a dying teenager, and the other time to settle a family brawl. To add to his problems, he has a splitting headache and his throat is raw. Upon seeing the strange group in church, he instantly recognizes their purpose and becomes rattled.

Some parishes requests that the parson visits the congregation and gives a sermon. That would be like applying for a job as stenographer and having to type a perfect letter with the officers of the firm standing by the typewriter.

After the pastor announces his resignation to his old congregation, the reasons for his leaving are soon heard throughout the community. Mrs. Johnson says that the new parish is offering him more money, Mrs. Peterson said that the parsonage is new, Albertson claims it's because he'll be getting a helper and the deacon stated it's because the new congregation is more prestigious.

Before the pastor accepts the call, the new congregation is very explicit about his duties. His primary duty is to preach the word of God, regardless of whose toes he steps on. Financial matters are not his concern. Yet pastors have been asked to leave because they were too religious, preached against drinking ("We didn't ask you to come here to preach temperance, we leave that up to the WCTU",) his wife talked too much or she was too stand-offish and wouldn't let anyone into their home; he spoke too much or not enough about sex, or his children were a disgrace (he can tell others how to raise their children, but look at his own,") or he didn't bring in enough money into the treasury—as is a pastor can magically reach into a person's billfold and draw out the rightful 10 per cent.

Yet in spite of criticisms, discouragements and problems, ministers continue spreading the story of repentance, forgiveness and peace. Without that story, life would have no meaning. Like the tulip bulb, that story contains the hope of a brighter tomorrow.

Today's recipe for Fluffy Coconut cupcakes comes from Mrs. Ray Bakken of rural Grygla. The Bakken family attends St. Petri Lutheran church. In addition to caring for her family, Mrs. Bakken stated that her most enjoyable pasttime was embroidering.

Chris Cuppett Receives Award At Concordia

Chris Cuppett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cuppett of Thief River Falls, was among four seniors honored with Don awards recently at homecoming at Concordia college in Moorhead.

Chosen for the awards by their classmates, the students were judged on their awareness of college, community, state, national and global concerns. Leadership, personality and participation in college activities were other factors to be considered.

Miss Cuppett is majoring in music and speech. She has been very active at Concordia, participating in chapel choir, speech, debate, Mu Phi Epsilon, and KCCM radio. She also has been a dorm counselor and a Girl scout leader.

Presented to each student was a plaque and $50 to be donated to the concern of the student's choice. Chris plans to donate the money to either KFNW radio or to the radio talking network. She stated that she is having a difficult time deciding where the money should go.

The Don awards started at Concordia last year after the tradition of the homecoming queen was ended.

Don award candidates were chosen from the senior class by a series of three elections. The second election narrowed the choice to 10 candidates who were introduced at the awards ceremony on October 10, and the final four were chosen in the last election.

The other Don award recipients are Carolyn Anderson, Moorhead; Sherman Bishop, Kathryn, N.D.; and Lee Warner, Edina.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGES and injuries resulted from a one vehicle rollover in Sanders township southwest of the city at approximately 1 a.m. Thursday. Joseph R. Adamski Jr. of Thief River Falls was driving north on county road 15 in a 1967 Ford van when he lost control, crossed the road and rolled into a ditch, where the van came to rest in an upright position (pictured above). Adamski was taken to Northwestern hospital and was listed in good condition Friday morning. Donavon Erlandson, TRF, a passenger, was checked at the hospital and released. An estimated $800 damage was reported on the vehicle, which is owned by Douglas T. Smart of Bemidji.

North Central Airlines Here Notes Decrease

North Central Airlines carried 377,957 passengers in September, marking the third consecutive month that passenger traffic has improved over last year.

Locally, however, the airlines has reported a slight decrease in air traffic with September boardings at 645 and passengers arriving at 628.

September boardings for the airlines as a whole were up three per cent from 367,449 in 1974, and passenger miles rose two per cent from 85.7 million to 87.6 million. Cargo ton miles also increased two per cent, moving to 1.06 million from 1.04 million.

"Traffic reflects the upward movement of the national economy and the company's ability to attract a greater share of business in competitive markets," according to David E. Moran, vice president of traffic and sales.

Outstanding operating performance also contributed to September gains, Moran said. The airline completed 99.8 per cent of its 2.4 million scheduled miles and 90 per cent of the 18,308 scheduled arrivals were on time.

Boardings and passenger miles for the first nine months of 1975 moved within two per cent of the record pace a year ago, when traffic was favorably affected by the automobile fuel shortage. Through September of this year, 3.4 million passengers have flown over 791 million passenger miles. Cargo ton miles are off 12 per cent.

North Central serves 90 cities in 13 states and Canada over a 10,200-mile route system. The airline annually carries 4.5 million passengers and flies a billion passenger miles.

Area Girls Now Teach In TRF, Remer-Longville

Roselyn Berg of Thief River Falls has been employed as an instructor in Remer-Longville, and Mary Andrus of Gonvick is teaching in Thief River Falls for the 1975-76 school year, according to Bemidji state university placement director, Dr. Richard R. Haugo.

Berg is an elementary education major, while Andrus majored in social studies. Both are recent graduates of Bemidji state.

Haugo also said the placement of beginning teachers compares favorably with that of a year ago.

Oakland Park Residents Are Given Hard Hats

Hard hats, blazed with "Honorary Superintendents of O.P.N.H.," have recently been added to the out-door attire worn by the residents at Oakland Park Nursing home. These hats, provided by John Madson of Patch, Erickson and Madson, Architects, are worn by the residents as they watch the construction of their new residence.

Several other activities during the month of September added interest to the lives of the residents. The monthly birthday party held at the home was hosted by the United Methodist Women with Dorothy Lawrence in charge. Joe Vallet presided at the piano. A film was shown and lunch, featuring angel food cake, was served.

Honor guests at the birthday party were Marie Rehm, Rudolph Lindberg and Emma Christianson. All observed birthdays during the month of September.

Women of the church who assisted with the party were Mrs. Joe Vallet, Bonnie Ballon, Violet Muzzy, Rosie Westlund, Luella DuChamp, Huldah Ripley, Margaret Race, Marge Green, Velma Armstrong, Marge Ihle, and Catherine Spengler.

Minn. Honored For Control Of Poultry Diseases

Cooperative efforts by farmers and two state regulatory agencies have achieved Minnesota's fifth major recognition by the U.S. department of agriculture for the control of poultry and livestock diseases that have been costly both for farmers and consumers.

Minnesota is one of the first 13 states certified as U.S. pullorum-typhoid clean, a new top designation added under the national poultry improvement plan to recognize states that have had no outbreaks of pullorum or fowl typhoid diseases in commercial chicken and turkey breeding flocks during the past year.

Certificates have been formally presented to the Minnesota livestock sanitary board and the Minnesota department of agriculture. The state's poultry breeders and cooperating hatcheries are now authorized to use the new federal designation on their products and advertising.

Continuing inspections and blood testing will ensure effective future control.

Dr. J. G. Flint, secretary and executive officer of the livestock sanitary board, and Roy D. Carlson, director of the poultry division of the Minnesota department of agriculture, agreed the official recognition of achievement should enhance the market expansion potential for Minnesota's important poultry industry.

Customers for Minnesota's national champion turkey industry have had federal reassurance of the health and high quality of this state's turkey poults and hatching eggs for the past six years. A significant number of the state's commercial chicken breeding flocks and the majority of the state's commercial egg hatchery production have also maintained federal pullorum-typhoid clean certification for many years on an individual basis.

Previously, Minnesota had earned federal certification as free of brucellosis in both cattle and hogs, cholera in hogs and typhoid-pullorum diseases in turkeys.

While the pullorum-typhoid diseases in poultry are caused by salmonellae, these diseases have not been considered a direct health hazard to humans, unlike the other livestock diseases Minnesota has earlier controlled during 36 years of cooperative efforts.

But pullorum-typhoid diseases have had a major impact upon poultry farming income and upon consumer prices. Past experience with the disease has destroyed entire flocks of chickens and turkeys, a disastrous financial loss for the farmers. Destruction of major flocks has reduced both egg and poultry meat supplies, and on occasions has influenced price increases at the consumer level.

Crime Control Council To Meet

The total is up 381 from the preceding week.

Initial claims filed during the week for the regular program totaled 4,115, up 39 (one per cent) from the previous week and up 990 (32 per cent) from the corresponding week a year ago. Total number of active regular claims was 46,064, down 57 (.1 per cent) from the previous week.

Initial claims for extended benefits (paid when regular benefits are exhausted) totaled 1,076; for federal supplemental benefits (paid when regular and extended benefits are exhausted), 772; for additional federal supplemental benefits (paid when regular federal supplemental benefits are exhausted), 539; and for special unemployment assistance (paid to workers not ordinarily covered by unemployment insurance), 67.

For the week of October 3, the latest for which figures are available, the total amount of benefits paid under all programs was $3,781,222. Included in those benefits were $2,206,865 in regular benefits, up $1,210,943 (122 per cent) over the corresponding week a year ago. The average weekly benefit amount was $69.24, up $8.56 from a year ago.

Farm Chemical Act Changed By U.S. House

U.S. House of representatives recently extended and amended the Federal insecticide, fungicide and rodenticide act (FIFRA) to give farmers "greater leeway" in the handling of dangerous farm chemicals, according to Minnesota's 7th district congressman Bob Bergland.

Under an amendment, offered by Bergland and approved by a vote of 250 to 155, farmers who apply chemicals on their own crops will be eligible to use pesticide by completing a certification form. The form will require a farmer to affirm he has completed an approved training program but will not require a written examination for certification.

After discussions between Bergland and the U.S. environmental protection agency, the EPA withdrew its original objections to Bergland's proposal.

With this amendment, Bergland said, Minnesota farmers who gave completed state requirements for the handling of pesticide should be fully in compliance with federal regulations.

The bill also requires EPA to give a 60 day notice to the House and Senate agriculture committees as well as the U.S. department of agriculture before publishing regulations or canceling approval of a chemical "allowing," Bergland said, "those most affected by EPA's actions a chance to review their decisions."

Commenting on the extension and changes in the pesticide legislation Bergland said: "The farmer and the environmentalist have found the common ground necessary to assure quantity food production of high quality without endangering our environment."

BSU Enrollment Shows Growth Over '74 Totals

Bemidji state university has experienced a growth in student enrollment for the 1975 fall quarter, BSU president Dr. R.D. Decker announced recently.

The university, which had an on-campus headcount of 4,062 last fall, has seen that number rise to 4,177 for the current quarter. The increase of 115 represents a 2.8 per cent enrollment boost over 1974.

The on-campus headcount figure is the exact number of students participating in courses offered on the main campus of Bemidji state university. Most notable gains were the number of freshmen, up from 936 in 1974 to 973 this year, and transfer students, which rose to 299 from the figure of 231 last fall.

"I'm pleased with the general enrollment picture," Dr. Decker commented. "The fact that we have more incoming freshmen and transfer students is indicitive of the work done by the faculty, BSU foundation, and administration in letting people know how educationally sound Bemidji state is."

While the on-campus headcount advanced, the estimated off-campus headcount grew as well, moving from 1,163 last fall to 1,273. Off-campus students are those participating in courses offered through such as the external studies program, evening extension courses, or at the Bald eagle center.

Combining the increase of the 115 on-campus figure with the 110 off-campus estimate, the total headcount figure expanded from its 1974 level of 5,225 to 5,450 in 1975, an increase of 4.3 per cent. Although more students appear to be participating in the educational processes, the full time equivalency (FTE) fugures show a slight decline from 1974, yet not as large a decline as was expected.

FTE is the State university board's formula for determining the number of full time student equivalents generated from the total number of course credits taken. The total credit hours are divided by 15, which is the board's measuring stick for FTE students, to determine the FTE number.

Bemidji state university, which had projected a drop in FTE from 4,139 to 4,027, actually ended with an on-campus FTE of 4,116 for fall of 1975. Off-campus FTE increased 17 to balance some of the decline, giving BSU a final FTE figure of 4,413 this year compared to 4,419 a year ago.

"We know that we have more students enrolled in programs associated with Bemidji state university," Dr. Decker added, "but it looks as though those students are taking fewer courses. Yet I am pleased with the final FTE figure since it is larger than we had anticipated last spring when we prepared our preliminary estimations."

FTE is important to Bemidji state university since the State university board allocates the budgets according to FTE figures. Bemidji state, while anticipating a decline months ago, will be budgeted on a similar level of 1974 and higher than had been expected.

Not shown in the totals are the additions of senior citizens, who were admitted to BSU courses this year at no cost. Fifteen senior citizens enrolled in courses, raising the final headcount to 5,465. The FTE generated would increase by five.

Bergland Backs Bill On "Truth In Government"

Minnesota's 7th district congressman Bob Bergland joined this week a bi-partisan group of 50 U.S. representatives in co-sponsoring legislation making it a federal crime for government officials to lie to the public.

In a statement released by his Washington office Bergland said: "As incredible as it may seem, it is now a crime for a private citizen to lie to a government official, but not a crime for a government official to lie to the people."

The legislation, according to Bergland, would hold "any officer or employee of the federal government, including elected officials legally accountable for knowingly making a false statement." Up to a $10,000 fine, five years in jail, or both could be imposed for violations.

Bergland noted that "the widespread belief that any word spoken by a government official or a politician is automatically a lie" is not as true as many have come to expect, but added: "Congress cannot make sound judgments on the basis of false information from government officials and a voter cannot make sound judgments at election time unless there are some assurances that those judgments are based on fact."

Jenson Recalls Early Days In TR Falls Area

drawn bus to the fairgrounds for a 25-cent fee.

The Jenson livery expanded into contract hauling, which eventually proved to be its undoing. Equipment for the Porter Dredge company and other companies were hauled to Malcolm with four-horse teams. Bridge materials and culverts were common items hauled.

Jensons then received a contract to gravel 18 miles of highway 1 east of Thief River Falls. The longest haul was about four miles with the wagon carrying three and one-half yards of gravel. But money was short and the county paid its obligations in warrants which could be redeemed for only about half their value. The reduced value contributed heavily to the stable going broke.

Always alert to potential means of building the volume, the Jenson livery held a mail contract during its relatively short lifespan. It hauled mail from Thief River Falls to area post offices such as Strip, Stone, Halma and Llewellyn on an every-other-day basis. Mail was taken to Kratka daily with another driver carrying it on to Highlanding. Another driver made trips to Germantown and Thorvick, delivering to farmers along the way.

Adolph's grandfather rode with Buffalo Bill Cody in South Dakota as freight hauler and scout for the army. He also traded horses in that area.

Adolph remembers going to a Buffalo Bill wild west show in Moorhead in 1889, and having his grandfather send along a note for Buffalo Bill. "I can still see him sitting on that white horse, writing a note for us to take back to grandpa," Adolph said. He said the show was a thrilling one with shooting exhibitions by Annie Oakley and Buffalo Bill being especially impressive.

After the livery business went broke, Adolph homesteaded a quarter of land at Germantown and rented a farm nearby. In 1918 he went into service in World War I, seeing a year of front line duty in Scotland, England and France. He later farmed in North Dakota, then owned two carloads of horses which he took from place to place to rent out for a period of about five years.

During the depression he worked at farm chores at Grygla for $5 a month and board. Later he policed dances at the Henry Clausen barn, living mostly on eggs which could be bought for eight cents a dozen, plus a bit of bacon.

He moved to International Falls where he worked as a lumberjack, drove a beer wagon, started a cab stand, did custom plowing with a span of horses and held a mail route contract for a dozen years. He moved to San Bernardino, Calif., where his wife died six years ago after 25 years of marriage. Five years ago he moved to Bemidji to live with his sister. He recently spent a couple of weeks visiting his old home town.

Halloween holds a special magic for children and it's hard to keep them from their trick-or-treat rounds. One way to keep them happy at home is by giving them their own party . . . a simple affair with a few festive touches to make it a "wizard" evening. Pizza is a can't-miss dish and The Lipton Kitchens suggests a quick-to-fix version using English muffins and a sauce made with instant tomato soup mix. Use sausage slices for "eyes" and "mouth," and parsley for "hair." For a delicious dessert, serve Good Humor "No Drip" ice-cream-on-a-stick. Styrofoam inserted into a bucket will hold the ice cream sticks very well. And give them little favors filled with candies for treats.

Halloween Party Pizzas

- 2 envelopes Lipton Tomato Cup-a-Soup
- ¾ cup boiling water
- 3 English muffins
- ½ cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- Oregano
- Brown and serve sausages, cooked and sliced
- Parsley sprigs

In small bowl, combine instant tomato soup and water; spoon tomato sauce on each muffin half. Top with cheese and sprinkle with oregano; broil 3 minutes or until cheese is melted.

To make pumpkin face, garnish each pizza with 2 sausage slices for eyes and ½ slice for mouth; arrange parsley for hair. Makes 6 pizzas.

subsidized CETA employee for the post.

If the council does not provide a manager, Tri-Valley will finance one from the funds that were allocated for the daily meals. If this alternative is necessary, there will, of course, be fewer meals available.

Each participant in the program will be asked to contribute to the cost of the meals, but no one will be turned away simply because they are unable to pay, according to Mrs. Abbott. The meals are expected to include at least one-third of the daily recommended dietary allowances.

"Nutrition has a direct bearing on how well you feel and what you feel like doing," Mrs. Abbott said. "We hope that this will help the older adult continue to be active in the community by improving how he feels."

Volunteers will be needed to help serve, to be drivers and escorts for the participants when needed and to assist in recreational and informational programs. Interested persons are invited to contact Mrs. Abbott at the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, 114 South Main street, Crookston, 281-6832, or Northwestern hospital for more information.

New Driving Range Opens In Minnesota

Minnesota highway safety center's (MHSC) new advanced and emergency driving techniques range in St. Cloud was officially dedicated during ceremonies last Thursday, officials of the MHSC announced recently.

The 46-acre facility, operated under the auspices of St. Cloud state university, is designed to meet the training needs of police, fire, ambulance and school bus drivers in the state by providing a test track and training area for teaching handling techniques such as skid control, collision avoidance and controlled braking.

Constructed through the use of state and federal highway safety funds, the facility also holds future potential as a test area for vehicle noise and emission research, tire and pavement testing, or other forms of transportation and safety research.

Additional information on scheduled driving demonstrations and the dedication ceremony may be obtained by contacting the MHSC in St. Cloud.

Vocational Training Is Work-Oriented

With an increased interest in vocational education, great numbers of career-minded Americans are turning to thousands of specialized vocational schools for training in a variety of occupations from auto repair to X-ray technology.

Unlike other forms of education, career education is exclusively employment-oriented, offering concentrated courses in a skills without frills setting. The number of schools—and the occupations they teach—is mindboggling. About 10,000 vocational schools offer hundreds of occupations, and in order to make a good choice, the chairman of the federal trade commission advises students to look before they leap.

"American consumers are becoming increasingly attracted to the promising value of a vocational education. Along with this growing popularity there is an increasing need for prospective students to make a careful evaluation of a specific vocational course or school before they make any financial commitment. The essential criterion for that evaluation should be the value of the school's training in helping students get a good job," according to federal trade commission chairman Lewis A. Engman.

The process of selecting the right career can be an exciting bargain hunt, well worth careful effort. After all, it's probably the most important purchase a person makes in his or her lifetime. The following information suggests a path that is bound to help you succeed.

First, choose a career which is suitable to your likes or hobbies. If you've always like to work around the house fixing the toaster, take a repair course. Perhaps you like animals—think about veterinarian assisting. There are hundreds of attractive career choices to consider.

For a complete list of possible careers, consult your local library for the U.S. department of labor's "Occupational Outlook Handbook." This handbook is an invaluable source of information, covering 800 different careers. For example, it predicts if the demand in these careers will rise, remain stable or decline through the 1970's. It describes the duties and average earnings of each job and indicates what sort of training is required for entry level positions.

Next look into schools. Go to your library for the U.S. office of education's directory of "Postsecondary Schools with Occupational Programs" which lists schools by occupational categories. For a free "Directory of Accredited Private Trade and Technical Schools," write to the National association of trade and technical schools, 2021 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. This directory lists about 430 accredited schools teaching over 100 different careers including auto repair, catering, data processing, diamond cutting, dog grooming, heavy equipment operation, gunsmithing, watchmaking, veterinarian assisting, and others.

Write to four or five schools for catalogues which will give you important facts such as cost, a description of the courses and facilities, and other pertinent bits of information.

Look for the school's accreditation since this is an important factor. There are many accrediting bodies recognized by the U.S. office of education. Is the school approved by one of them?

While accreditation, which is a voluntary process, should not be the only factor in making a choice, a school which has been accredited has undergone an exhaustive and vigorous "Looking over" by experts in the occupational area it teaches.

According to the national association of trade and technical schools, the major accrediting body in this vocational area, it accredits only those schools which prepare a graduate for the job market.

Some schools will also provide lists of employers who hire the school's graduates. Put this list to work. Ask the employers for their evaluation of the school's teaching ability. Are they satisfied with the school's graduates. Will they continue to hire them?

The best test is to visit the school yourself, even if it involves money, time and trouble—it's worth it. At the school you can compare the catalogue with the real thing. Was the catalogue accurate in its description? Talk to students and teachers. What's their opinion of the school? Ask for a list of graduates and talk to some of them also. Are they working in jobs related to their training? Would they do it over again?

Finally, write to your state's school licensing agency which is usually in the state education department. What information can they provide about the school?

Scout Council Approves Scouts For Lifesaving

Northern Lights council, Boy Scouts of America has recommended three scouts to the national council court of honor for lifesaving awards. The scouts are Daniel Nash, Hillsboro, N.D.; Harold Holt, Pelican Rapids; and David Ahlquist, Alexandria.

Daniel Nash is 13 years old and a member of Troop 263 sponsored by the Hillsboro Veterans of Foreign Wars post. He rescued Arthur Berg during a water skiing emergency.

Berg was wearing a hard rubber vest type life preserver while water skiing and found that the two top straps of the preserver were loose when he fell off his skis into the water. This forced the vest over his head and the lower strap, which was tied, lodged under his armpits. As a result, Berg's arms were extended over his head and his head was forced under the water.

Nash held Berg's head above the water after jumping in from a nearby boat when he noticed Berg's distress. The boat which had been towing Berg returned and the people in it assisted in pulling him into the boat. Nash was under the water a good deal of the time in the struggle to keep Berg's head above water.

Harold Holt, an 18-year-old Eagle scout, is a member of Troop 313 sponsored by Trinity Lutheran church of Pelican Rapids. Holt rescued 2½-year-old Andrea Drager who fell over a cliff into 10 feet of water at Olaf lake. Holt jumped into the water and freed Andrea from the weedy and snag covered bottom of the lake and pulled her to the shore. He revived her with a sharp blow between her shoulder blades while holding her upside down to free her air passages.

David Ahlquist is a 15-year-old scout in Troop 412 sponsored by the Calvary Lutheran church in Alexandria. Scout Jim Trenne, of the same troop, put his hand through a pane of glass in a door during a snowball fight prior to a troop meeting. He cut an artery and Ahlquist applied direct pressure to the sound using his handkerchief as a pad.

Ahlquist then took Trenne to the hospital using a car that just brought another scout to the meeting. Extensive damage was done to tendons, nerves and blood vessels in Jim Trenne's wrist and the doctor at the hospital commended Ahlquist for his quick work in first aid which considerably lessened the medical problem for Trenne.

Safer Halloween If Costumes Are Retro-Reflective

When kids take to the neighborhood streets on Halloween, caution often flies away on a witch's broom but parents can help bring it back down to earth, states the Minnesota optometric association.

A few simple costume decorating tricks can do a lot to help protect trick-or-treaters from accidental injury or even death.

"The greatest potential Halloween danger is the pedestrian-automobile accident," Dr. Gary Gross, president of the Minnesota optometric association, said. "Even the most careful driver may not see an excited child dart into his path in time to stop. But parents can make their child highly visible to drivers at great distances without interfering with costume design by adding retro-reflective material to the costume."

According to optometric studies at Indiana University, retro-reflective material on shoes and clothing makes pedestrians safely visible to drivers even at speeds of 70 and 80 m.p.h. Nothing else, not even white clothing, can top it.

The Minnesota optometrist explained that retro-reflective material is usually either prismatic or beaded. "Whenever a beam of light is directed toward this material, the light is bounced back to the source with much brilliance," he said.

Dr. Gross said retro-reflective material can be purchased in iron-on, sew-on and stick-on varieties in most hardware and department stores.

"Let the kids make up their own designs with the material," he said. "Just be sure they will be visible from front, back and sides."

As an added precaution, Dr. Gross urged parents to caution their children not to walk in the street (to use yards if there are no sidewalks), to look carefully before crossing a street and to cross at a corner with a street light if at all possible.

"The other side of Halloween safety is to see safely," the optometrist said. "A poorly-fitted mask which can easily slip out of position, or one with small eye slits poses a potential danger because it can block a child's view of oncoming cars, objects in his path, a hole, a step or the curb."

Dr. Gross suggested using makeup instead of masks for Halloween disguises. He cautioned, however, that the makeup should be of the non-allergic variety and applied with care by adults to keep makeup particles and applicators out of a child's eyes.

As an additional safety step, Dr. Gross suggested home owners turn on all porch and yard lights and clear their yards and sidewalks of all toys and garden tools. Youngsters can help by carrying flashlights or battery-operated lanterns to see ahead.

Halloween safety measures are easy and inexpensive to do and they go a long way in helping to make the holiday a happier and safer one. "I'm hoping we see many retro-reflective costumes at our door this year," Dr. Gross said.

FACTUAL NEWS REPORTING EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

The Real Dangers

Following editorial is from the Grant County Review:

But the real dangers are forces from within which on the surface may not seen sinister at all. For example, there are the efforts of government agencies on all levels to operate secretly, censoring what may or may not be reported to the people. By classifying as "top secret" documents which should be made public, officials are able to function as they please, cover up their blunders and increase their power.

There is currently in some states a move to limit information on criminal court proceedings by closing records to reporters. The argument is that the right of the accused must be protected. But what of the right of the public to know? In recent months, newsmen in this state have been told by judges what they can and cannot report in criminal trials.

These attacks on the free press, guaranteed in the Bill of Rights, are going on with little opposition from the general public. A recent poll of businessmen by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting showed they rated freedom of the press last among their nine chief concerns or values and freedom of speech seventh. Their No. 1 concern was the future of the "private economic system". They seem to have forgotten that without freedom of speech and the press, the private economic system has little chance of surviving.

There are those, however, who understand well how important these freedoms are. Among them is Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India. Defending her emergency decree which resulted in jailing her political opponents and imposing strict press censorship, she said: "When there are no papers, there is no agitation. That is why we imposed censorship. We found how right we were".

There have been in the 199 years of our nation's history, many who have given their lives to insure that such kind of censorship never happens here.

We hope that the Bicentennial will help us all to realize what steps must be taken in 1975 and 1976 to protect our liberty, our right to know and our right to speak out in defense of our beliefs as well as our right to make an honest dollar in the present market.

Open Meetings, But . . .

Following editorial is from the Red Wing Republican Eagle:

A fair-sized cold war is shaping up across Minnesota between newspapers and local governmental officials on the subject of open meetings. Let's fill in the background:

For 17 years Minnesota law has declared that "all meetings, including executive sessions . . . of the governing body of any school district . . . county, city, village, town, borough or other public body, and of any committee, subcommittee, board, department or commission thereof, shall be open to the public . . ."

Under this law, local democracy in Minnesota has fared reasonably well.

Then along came the 1972 legislative campaign, with DFLers making "openness" a major theme, and 1973 amendments to the above law, which made public officials guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to fine and removal from office if they disobeyed.

Attorney General Warren Spannaus was subsequently forced to rule on a picky question about public officials having coffee together, and soon the fat was in the fire. Public officials began to see a need for closed or secret meetings for all sorts of purposes: to consult with attorneys, take up "sensitive" personnel matters, plot bargaining strategy with the aggressive public-worker unions, discuss proposals to buy property, etc., etc.

A flurry of lawsuits began: Cloquet, Spring Valley, Duluth, Minneapolis. Owatonna's mayor suspended his own Park and Recreation Board for meeting in private. The municipalities and school boards went to the Legislature with a bill to legalize shutting the public out in a range of specified circumstances.

It's on this bill, to drive large holes in the 17-year open-meeting law, that a House committee under Rep. Harry Sieben of Hastings is now holding hearings around the state.

The Pipestone hearing Aug. 1 was probably typical. A newspaperman there reported that "one public official after another—most of them educators or school-board members—would start their statements with, "I believe in open meetings all the way, BUT . . .' "

The public, we suggest, should be very wary about falling into this "Yes, BUT" trap.

Many earnest, well-meaning citizens serving in local government adopt the closed-meeting viewpoint, but they simply haven't made the transition in their thinking from handling private affairs, which has been their life-long experience, to handling public affairs.

Sure, it's easier for government people to do things privately. They don't have to be bothered with vexing questions on the street. But the public's right to know what its elected representatives are doing and thinking about public business has to take precedence over the ease and convenience of those public officials.

The latter need to inform and to lead public opinion, not be safeguarded from sometimes unjust criticism. If officials will think it through and honestly try, they'll find that public business they believe "can't" be handled in public indeed can, and to the public's greater good.

Newsmen recognize that sometimes it doesn't serve the public interest to report everything immediately. But generally speaking, the public suffers not from knowing too much, but from knowing too little, and not in time enough.

And newsmen know also a practical fact of human governmental nature: Once legalize a closing of the doors with the public outside, and officials inside will conduct all manner of business that should be public. The official mind can construct infinite rationales for secrecy.

We see the open-meeting law as somewhat like a speed limit on the road. Violations will inevitably occur—one alderman will telephone another before the meeting—but what's important is the principle and putting the necessary legal tools into the hands of press and public when headstrong officials go on an unwarranted, public-be-damned secrecy binge.

The state's legal and moral force needs to be on the side of openness, without exception. Minnesota need not retreat from what's been law for 17 years. Once that legal wall is breached, the permissive secrecy gap will become wider and wider and wider.

Don't, Mr. Legislator, be a "Yes, BUTer."

Less Legislature . . .

October issue of the Minnesota Farm Bureau News contains the following editorial entitled: "Wanted: Less Legislature":

Some sage—or wag, depending upon one's point of view—has said that we ought to be grateful that we do not get all the government we pay for.

Debatable though that astute observation might be, we have a haunting suspicion that the rank and file would be much more appreciative if it weren't "shelling out" a king's ransom for whatever government is its lot.

As the 1975 session drew to a close, the Minnesota House leadership decided on 3-day mini-sessions in each of the months of August through January. While the Senate nixed such an exercise, it leaders, too, have been holding frequent committee meetings in the interim.

Mini-sessions or expanded interim activity, everything unmistakably points to the state legislature moving more and more in the direction of a full-time body. Farm Bureau, as a matter of policy, neither advocates nor supports this concept and, quite frankly, has some serious reservations as to the actual need for the flurry—and related cost—of numerous legislator get-togethers on Capital Hill between regular sessions.

The expense factor of late has been producing some rumblings among lawmakers of both political parties. Reliable sources peg the cost to Minnesota taxpayers for the so-called House "mini-sessions" at $26,000 per day. (These same sources note that the August mini-session "studied" and "discussed" such matters as legalizing prostitution, the canning jar lid shortage and banning the steel leg hold trap.)

The 1974-75 legislature's cost was in the area of $19 million. Before adjournment last May, the legislature approved a $21.2 million appropriation for its 1976-77 operations. In terms of outlay, this means about $40,000 per day will be required to fund legislative sessions in 1976-77. Add to this another $2 million yearly for financing the legislative reference library, the office of the Revisor of Statutes and legislative research during the 1976-77 biennium.

Next year, as we know, is an election year. Among other public officeholders, we'll be choosing our state Senators and House members.

Perhaps the citizenry should, as that time approaches, insist that the candidates of their respective parties include in their platforms one plank clearly labeled:

"Less Legislature . . . Less Cost . . . Fewer Tax Dollars!"

Borrowed Nonsense

A north Dakotan was driving an easterner across the plains of North Dakota. All that could be seen from horizon to horizon was bleak treeless prairie. Suddenly, a splendid-feathered game bird appeared from behind a hillock and raced across the road in front of the car. "What kind of bird is that?" inquired the easterner. "Bird of paradise," replied the Dakotan. The easterner watched the bird retreating through the alkali. "Might long way from home, isn't he?" he commented.

notes from the governor

Wendell R. Anderson

The delightful weather we've been enjoying this fall makes all of us reluctant to think about the cold winter weather that lies ahead. However, last week's hearings in Minneapolis of Senator Humphrey's Joint Economic Committee on Energy should serve as a grim reminder that with winter fast approaching we all need to become energy wise.

A number of experts at that hearing pointed to some of the problems that may soon confront our energy dependent region. In addition to ever higher prices for energy, we may well have to cope with natural gas shortages of 5 per cent or even more if our weather is unusually cold. Propane gas, a substitute for natural gas that is widely used for home heating in rural Minnesota and is essential for some of our agri-business industries, may also be in short supply. Supplies of heating oil are likely to be tight, especially if some of Minnesota's allocation is diverted to the Eastern states where severe natural gas shortages are anticipated.

There are some things which all of us can do now before the really cold weather arrives to conserve our scarce energy resources and your money.

Adequate insulation could save you at least 10 per cent and as much as 40 per cent on heating costs.

Check the weather stripping and doors and the caulking around windows to be sure your heat stays inside where you need it.

Fortunately most Minnesota homes have storm windows. However, their effectiveness can be significantly improved by taping shut the edges of those storm windows you're not likely to open during the winter. A new kind of tape for this purpose can be purchased in most hardware stores. For those homes without storm windows, kits to make plastic storm windows are available at most hardware stores or supermarkets.

Change your furnace filter if it is dirty. A dirty filter reduces the flow of warm air to your home and makes your furnace run more.

And remember to keep your thermostat as low as you can comfortably tolerate. Each degree you can lower that thermostat should save you about 3 per cent in heating costs.

These simple measures will save money and they may assure that our homes and factories are supplied with the energy they need to make it through this winter.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

October 20, 1975
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
October 7, 1975

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, October 7, 1975.

Members present: Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa, Commissioner Hanson was unable to be present.

Stanley Hruby and Kenneth Sanders appeared requesting clean out of Branch B of Jud. Ditch 18 as it extends south of the main ditch between sections 17 and 18 in Clover Leaf Township and then East for 2½ miles. The Board agreed that the project should be placed on the schedule.

John Hoffman and others appeared regarding clean out of Jud. Ditch 18 along its entire length and especially Branch E which lies on the Town line between Clover Leaf and Goodridge Township and running East on the North side of the City of Goodridge and also as it runs East on the South side of the City. The delegation asked that the outlet and 'down stream' areas be taken care of first as soon as possible so that those people down stream would not be flooded because of an inadequate outlet for the water. The Board agreed that the clean out would be scheduled.

Members of North Township Board of Supervisors and Rudy Rude appeared with a drainage problem in the area north of Sec. 17 in North Township. A problem exists in a drainage ditch where a culvert allows water to drain out of County Ditch 64 instead of East to the river. The matter was to be looked at at the earliest opportunity.

At 11:30 A.M. the Board proceeded to open bids as duly advertised and called for Road Marking and Striping. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Traffic Marking Services, Buffalo, Mn.	$12,859.95
Border States Paving, Inc., Fargo, N. Dak.	15,633.38

Moved by Naplin seconded by Stenberg that the bid of Traffic Marking Services be accepted as the lowest and best bid and the Auditor and Chairman were authorized and instructed to enter into Contract with said low bidder. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Christianson that Bob Kosel be appointed to the Agassiz Health Council replacing Ken Onken who has resigned. Motion carried.

Terry Madson, City Planner appeared and discussed the probability of the County participating with the City and School District in acquiring the Kiewel property for future public use. The property is presently available and it was argued that the property should be purchased for a better continuing public area. If the Public area as outlined in the overall City Plan is to be followed this property too should be Public. The matter was taken under advisement to be discussed at a joint meeting with the City and School on Oct. 15th at 7:30 P.M. in the 1st Floor Meeting Room in the Courthouse.

Norman Peterson, Administrator of Northwestern Hospital appeared with a request that the County assist the Hospital in acquiring new Ambulance and emergency radio equipment as outlined by the Minn. Dept. of Health and financed in part by the Federal Government.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington County Auditor be authorized and instructed to enter into a cooperative purchasing agreement in behalf of Pennington County, with the State of Minnesota, in accordance with M.S. 471.59 Laws of 1969 for the purpose of purchasing and acquiring radio communications equipment. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin and declared unanimously carried.

Mrs. Owens then appeared with a request that the County make provision for shoveling sidewalks for the elderly during the coming winter. After considerable discussion—no action was taken.

Moved by Christianson seconded by Stenberg that $1,000. be transferred from Revenue to the Civil Defense Fund according to provisions of the budget. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Naplin seconded by Christianson that the Road & Bridge Committee inspect roads, bridges and culverts at 10:00 A.M., Oct. 23, 1975. Motion carried.

Charles Richards appeared and discussed proposed changes in the Law Enforcement Building contracts. After some clarification of the proposals, Commissioner Stenberg moved approval of the following changes which was seconded by Commissioner Naplin and declared carried by unanimous vote of those present.

Change Order G-1 Minor door changes and wall treatment in Room 168 with total deduction of $1,082.00. Change Order E-1 Additional suggestion for standby generator and installation of the standby equipment in the garage area. Changes were approved with the exception of the generator itself with the exact adjustment to be determined at a later date. Change Order E-2 Provides for add back in the negotiated communications equipment that were accepted in the original contract but not priced until now showing an addition of $6,695.76.

The Auditor then advised the Board of a Court Order received from Judge Jorgenson of the Pennington County Court which ordered the Board and-or City Council to provide the Court (County and District Court Judges) two reserved parking stalls and to mark them to signify their reserved status.

The Board instructed the Auditor to proceed with obtaining signs for marking the parking lot and to provide one parking stall for each County Office in the Courthouse. This provision would necessitate removal of the two hour provision in the parking lot immediately adjacent to the Courthouse. A preliminary estimate indicated that this procedure makes a reserved status for all but two parking stalls on County owned property.

Moved by Christianson seconded by Naplin that Northwestern Bell Telephone be given approval for burying cable on Highway right-of-way according to the following Job orders and subject to approval of the Highway Engineer: Job Order 32358—bury cable along CSAH 15, 7, 59 and 61 and C.R. 70 and 71; Job Order 32406—bury cable along CSAH 16; Job Order 32436—bury cable along CSAH 7. Motion unanimously carried.

VOTE JOYCE PETERSON FOR 3rd WARD ALDERMAN In The City Election Nov. 4, 1975

Pol. Adv. Prepared and paid for by Joyce Peterson in her own behalf.

Dismisses Third Party Option For Conservatives

"At a time when many people are dissatisfied with both parties, the idea of a third party seems very attractive," Mrs. Ward (Carolyn) Ring noted recently. "However, history has proved third party movements in this country impotent in terms of exerting substantial influence on policy decisions."

In a speech delivered to the Republican women's club, Mrs. Ring, who is Republican state chairwoman, said, "Studies by political scientists outline two basic fates for third parties. Elected third party members generally comprise such a small minority that their voice is not effectively heard in the legislative body. Third party executives contend with a basically two-party legislature and can not effectively implement their programs.

"If a third party movement strikes massive popular support, one of the existing parties takes the hint a change is needed to serve the people and realigns itself. This effectively knocks the wind from third party support and the movement is short-lived.

"Interest in a third party is currently among conservative voters. I believe conservative voters need not go outside the Republican party," Mrs. Ring said. "The conservative voter must be recognized within the two-party system. It is time for us as Rupublicans to raise a standard and declare what we believe. I think what the conservative voter wants is what we as a party stand for.

"Too many people conservative and liberal feel the party is too conservative or liberal and use that as an excuse for not becoming involved. I would remind such people that not many elections can be won by not becoming involved." Mrs. Ring concluded.

Minnesota D-Day Recognized For Dramatic Effect

Minnesota D-Day last year demonstrated what a single state could do in dramatizing the health hazards of smoking through a concerted health educational campaign. The event drew national acclaim, and even worldwide recognition.

On October 21 of this year, Minnesota will once again have the opportunity to display its continued leadership among states in this unique endeavor. On that day thousands of Minnesotans will "take a day off from smoking," as the D-Day '75 theme suggests.

For most of these, D-Day may be only an exercise in self-discipline. Even that is valuable.

But many other Minnesotans will make the personal decision to kick the smoking habit for good on October 21—which could signal for them the beginning of a cleaner, healthier and longer life.

If you are an educator, a doctor, or any other community leader involved with youth—and are a smoker—you could by your decision to quit smoking October 21 begin to exert the effective leadership and guidance that your position calls for in safeguarding children from the health dangers of smoking.

If you are a parent with young children, D-Day should hold even greater significance for you if you're a smoker. Because your decision to free yourself from the smoking habit at this time would assure your own children of a healthier indoor environment: A tobacco smoke-free home to grow up in.

Seventh Dist. Libertarians Organize Sun.

Seventh District Libertarian party will formally organize Sunday at 3 p.m. at Edie's Cafe in Staples. The seventh district is the last of the Minnesota congressional districts to organize a branch in the four-year-old party.

The Libertarian party creed states that it is the only political organization which, without qualification, defends the right of the individual to the freedom to live his own life as he wishes. The party welcomes those who wish to become members and those who, while not wishing to become members, would like to assist in party goals.

The meeting will open with a short introduction to libertarianism led by Claudia Jensen, the Libertarian party candidate for lieutenant governor in 1974. Following this will be the organizational meeting, election of officers and a business meeting.

Persons unable to attend the meeting but wishing more information may write the Libertarian party, box 774, Minneapolis 55440 or contact Stan Carlson, rt. 2, Staples, 56479 (218-894-1899).

SHOP AND SAVE IN THIEF RIVER FALLS

Salvaging Famous Shipwreck Is 1976 Project

A plan to salvage artifacts from John Paul Jones' flagship, the Bon Homme Richard, has been granted national recognition by the American revolution bicentennial administration (ARBA).

The project, organized by the Atlantic charter maritime archaeological foundation (ACMAF), will begin operations next summer in conjunction with the commemoration of the nation's Bicentennial.

In announcing the designation, John W. Warner, administrator of the ARBA, said: "This ambitious project is unique in that it not only symbolizes the ingenuity that has traditionally characterized the American people, but also exemplifies the international flavor of the Bicentennial celebration."

Though the thought of finding the remains of the sunken frigate has captured the imagination of maritime historians for generations, this project was conceived only 13 years ago.

The expedition is now forming. It will be staffed by faculty members, graduates and students of seven American and British universities. It is expected that participants will also come from France and West Germany.

The U.S. Navy will cooperate in the venture. There is a possibility that midshipmen participating in the project will receive academic credit.

The expedition will be based on the Yorkshire coast of England, a short distance from the scene of the 1779 battle off Flamborough Head in which John Paul Jones, in the Bon Homme Richard, captured the English frigate Serapis, and where the Bon Homme Richard subsequently sank.

It was during this battle that John Paul Jones uttered his now famous reply to a challenge to surrender, "I have not yet begun to fight."

The expedition will use two survey vessels, each equipped with sophisticated sonar mechanisms, which will be used to probe the ocean floor.

This area of the ocean floor is considered ideal for undersea salvage operations because of its rocky composition. The degree of wreck immersion (in the bedrock) should be minimal. The water in this area is less than 200 feet deep.

It is planned to lift all artillery from the wreck by the end of 1976. The remainder of the salvage operation will take another two or three years.

One question still to be resolved is exactly who owns the Bon Homme Richard. According to the ACMAF, the hull may belong to France. Some of the artillery was purchased by John Paul Jones using American funds. Under English law, all individual items of personal property, such as navigational instruments and tools, would be American and not French property.

With the cooperation of France and England, the remains from the ship will be brought to the United States and possibly displayed at the Navy museum in Washington, D.C.

The excavation is scheduled to continue into 1979, the year of the Bicentennial of the action off Flamborough Head. A book will be published, and a television documentary produced, in conjunction with the project.

Congratulations, Brian Johnston

Congratulations go out today to Brian Johnston, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Johnston of Thief River Falls.

Brian advanced another step in the Ford motor company's punt, pass and kick competition Saturday by winning first place honors at a district level in Moorhead. Brian had earlier claimed first place wins in Thief River Falls area and Grand Forks zone events.

The Thief River Falls youngster will now appear at the November 9 Minnesota Vikings-Atlanta Falcons NFL game at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington where he'll perform at halftime in the Vikings' area punt, pass and kick competition. A win November 9 would advance Brian to the division level in mid-December.

Brian, his parents and representatives from Tunberg motor company, sponsor of the punt, pass and kick contest in Thief River Falls, will be guests of the Vikings and the Ford motor company November 9.

Wally Tunberg, supervisor of the local competition, reports this is the furthest any Thief River Falls youngster has advanced in the punt, pass and kick competition. A local boy has never before made it past the Grand Forks level.

Congratulations Brian, and good luck November 9!

Sioux Loaded With Region 8 Players

Six former Region Eight hockey players were among 22 players dressed with the University of North Dakota varsity Saturday when the Sioux hosted the University of Minnesota in a 1975-76 season-opening hockey game that will not count in the WCHA standings.

Among the one-time Region Eight stars now skating with the Sioux is junior right wing Tom Goddard of Thief River Falls.

Dickey Begins UND Career

In another local development at the University of North Dakota, Northland community college graduate David Dickey began basketball drills Wednesday with the Sioux.

Fifteen players are working out with the Sioux who are two-time defending North Central Conference champions, defending NCAA Division II midwest regional champions and Division II national tournament quarterfinalists a year ago enroute to a 22-7 season record.

Dickey is battling senior lettermen Jim Goodrich and Rick Fischer for a starting guard spot with coach Dave Gunther's Sioux.

Miscellaneous

+University of North Dakota football scout Jay Gustafson, in his scouting report on North Dakota State University prior to Saturday's big UND-NDSU rivalry game noted "center Rande Smith and right guard Curt Mosher were the top Bison offensive linemen." Smith is a 1972 Lincoln high school graduate.

+Northland community college graduate Jim Strandemo, a member of the Bemidji State University golf team, tied for medalist honors in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference (NIC) golf tournament recently, but lost to Dave Reichel of St. Cloud State in playoff activity. St. Cloud won team honors with a 779 score while Bemidji finished second at 786. Mark Metusalem of Thief River Falls is also a Bemidji team member.

+Warren, a ball club that impressed football fans here way back in August during the Prowler Pigskin Preview, hosts perennial power Mahnomen Friday in a climactic season-ending Pine to Prairie Conference clash. Warren is 7-1 for the year with seven straight wins after a season-opening loss to North Dakota Class B power Mayville-Portland. The Ponies are 6-0 in PTP play. Mahnomen is 8-0 overall and 6-0 in the PTP. The Indians have given up but five points all season—a safety and a field goal.

+Minnesota Fighting Saints of the World Hockey Association (WHA) will play the Winnipeg Jets in Winnipeg twice during the 1975-76 season. The Saints will be at the Winnipeg arena Sun., Nov. 30, and again on Sun., Dec. 31. Both games have 7:30 p.m. starting times.

Prowlers Run Over Green Wave 33-18

Thief River Falls unleashed an awesome running game that amassed a whopping 433 yards Friday, keying a 33-18 Prowler Northwest Conference football win over East Grand Forks.

In an amazing display of balance, three Prowler runningbacks rushed for over 100 yards against a porous Green Wave defense. Sophomore halfback Doug Dallmann led the Prowler charge with 177 yards on 15 carriers. Senior fullback Bryan Olson rushed for 164 yards on just 11 tries and junior halfback Jay Kverno added 101 yards on 14 trips. Dallmann and Olson scored two touchdowns each and Kverno scored once as the Prowlers went ahead 14-6 at the first quarter break, made it 20-12 at halftime and added 13 fourth quarter points.

Almost over-shadowed by the thunderous Thief River Falls attack was a sensational performance by East Grand Forks runningback Rick Beck who bettered even the staggering totals of Dallmann and Olson by rushing for an unbelievable 199 yards on a busy 17 carry night. However, East Grand Forks did not come close to mounting a balanced attack as Beck's rushing total represented all but 10 yards of the Green Wave ground game.

In a game dominated by runningbacks, East Grand Forks coach Gary Berg cited a pair of Prowler defensive players as the key to the game's final outcome. "Our inside game hurt us," said Berg. "I was real impressed by their (Prowlers) nose guard and middle linebacker. They destroyed our inside game."

Thief River Falls coach Jim Sims agreed with Berg that his nose guard Chris Biegner and middle linebacker Kent Ehrenstrom did a fine job. "Our whole defense, outside of our secondary, did a nice job," said Sims. "I'm real happy with the win."

Thief River Falls took the opening kickoff and marched smartly downfield to jump in front 7-0 with just 2:40 elapsed. Dallmann capped a seven-play, 64-yard drive by slicing off right tackle from nine yards out. Dallmann carried tackles into the end zone as he began his dazzling performance. Dallmann also place kicked the extra point.

Minutes later a fumble recovery by Biegner killed a strong East Grand Forks drive at the Thief River Falls 19 yard line, and at the same time instigated a second Prowler scoring march.

It wasn't much of a march, though, because Olson exploded on a 72-yard touchdown gallop just three plays into the drive. Olson's scoring play was a real eye-opener. The play was designed as a simple dive through the middle, but after appearing to be stopped cold at the line of scrimmage, Olson bounced off the would-be tacklers and continued downfield. Dallmann again made the placement for a 14-0 cushion with 6:37 left.

The wild first quarter developments continued when East Grand Forks took the ensuing kickoff and promptly pierced together a eight-play, 72-yard scoring drive. Beck naturally starred on the march. The Green Wave senior made a nifty catch in heavy traffic for a big 25-yard gain on third-and-12 and on the very next play sliced off right tackle for a 43-yard run to the Prowler six. Three plays later he scored from three yards out to slice the Prowler lead to 14-6. Prowler linebacker Duane Gonsorowski blocked the conversion kick.

Kverno burst upon the scene in the second quarter when the Prowlers expanded their lead to 20-6. A short Green Wave punt gave Thief River Falls excellent field position at the East Grand Forks 35. Kverno carried three times for 47 yards on the eight-play touchdown drive. He scored on a nice inside cut after starting out wide from the six.

East Grand Forks responded just two plays later, however, when Beck burst 66 yards through a huge hole in the middle of the Prowler defense. Beck broke into the open, cut back against the grain and scored with 4:27 remaining to trim the deficit to 20-12.

The race-horse pace slowed down, at least scoring-wise, until the latter stages of the fourth quarter when Dallmann sprinted around the right side for a startling 74-yard touchdown romp. He added the conversion kick for a 27-12 game with 5:51 left.

Once again East Grand Forks matched the Thief River Falls offense with a quick-answer touchdown. Just five plays and 1:49 after the Prowlers scored, Beck skirted his left end and went 16 yards into the end zone, untouched. The two-point conversion try on a fake kick met with failure, however, to leave the Prowler lead at a difficult-to-match nine point spread, 27-18.

Thief River Falls finally wrapped up the decision by marching the ensuing kickoff downfield for a game-clinching touchdown. Another tackle-breaking charge by Olson through the middle resulted in a 54-yard touchdown romp for the starry ball carrier with 1:08 remaining.

"We didn't do anything different," offered Sims after the game which represented the first Prowler victory in nearly a month. "We just held onto the ball for a change; we didn't turn it over everytime we got our hands on it."

The win lifted the Prowler season record to 3-4 for the year. Thief River Falls will close out its 1975 season Friday when arch-rival Crookston visits for Prowler athletic for a 7:30 p.m. ball game.

Bemidji 14, Crookston 8

A pair of punt plays were decisive in Bemidji's 14-8 championship-deciding win over Crookston.

A 42-yard punt return by Wayne Marty set up Bemidji's first touchdown midway through the third quarter. Marty scored the touchdown on a four-yard run to cap the seven-play, 28-yard Lumberjack scoring drive with 7:16 remaining in the period. Gary Hazelton place kicked the conversion point as the Lumberjacks snapped a scoreless defensive struggle.

Another punt situation led to Bemidji's second touchdown of the third quarter when a bad snap from center sailed over Pirate punter Jeff Pester's head at the Crookston 39. Bemidji quarterback Jeff Eidsmoe scrambled on a passing situation to score on a weaving 11-yard run. Hazelton added the conversion kick.

Crookston made the final score closer than the game actually was by scoring with 52 seconds remaining when quarterback Joel Rood scored on a one-yard plunge.

The game's statistics were nearly even as Crookston totaled 196 yards on offense while Bemidji posted 184.

TRF 33, EGF 18

In a game highlighted by spectacular running plays, Thief River Falls downed East Grand Forks 33-18, assuring the Green Wave of a last-place finish in the NWAC this fall.

EAST GRAND Forks star Rick Beck made an unbelievable catch in heavy traffic during Friday's Prowler-Green Wave football game at East Grand Forks. Beck stretched for the catch above teammate Dave Burke and Thief River Falls defenders Mike Wigness (54) and Mike Wiebolt. The play picked up a first down for the Green Wave and Beck scored his team's first touchdown four plays later. Thief River Falls won the game, however, 33-18.

MCC Passing Game Stars In 26-6 Victory Over Stephen

Bruce Rokke caught five passes for 96 yards and scored three touchdowns Friday to spark Marshall County Central high school to a 26-6 Top of the State Conference football win over visiting Stephen.

The win lifted the Nordic season record to 3-5 heading into the final game of the 1975 season scheduled Friday when Newfolden hosts a strong Hallock ballclub in a 7:30 p.m. Top of the State Conference clash.

Newfolden quarterback Jeff Sorenson passed five yards to Rokke in the first quarter and runningback Scott Magner added a two-point conversion for an 8-0 Nordic lead.

Coach Sam Gebhart's Nordics made it 14-0 by halftime when Magner bulled over from a yard out in the second quarter.

Newfolden's lead jumped to 20-0 at the end of the third quarter as Rokke hauled in a 46-yard touchdown pass from Sorenson.

The home-standing Nordics enlarged their lead to a 26-0 bulge at the start of the fourth quarter when Kevin Sethre hit Rokke with a 20-yard scoring pass.

Stephen averaged a shutout when Todd Henrickson scored on a 62-yard pass play from Rod Pawloski in the fourth quarter.

Gebhart described the contest as "one of the better games we've played this year." The first-year Nordic coach added, "We've been improving game by game. We controlled (this game) right from the start."

Newfolden finished the game with a sizeable statistical advantage. The Nordics rushed for 142 yards and gained a whopping 184 yards through the air. Duane Floberg paced the Nordic ground game with 50 yards rushing while Sorenson did most of the passing as the Nordics finished with 12 completions in 17 attempts.

Stephen, meanwhile, managed only 81 yards rushing and 88 yards passing on six completions in 15 attempts. Newfolden held a huge 326-169 total yardage edge.

Newfolden topped the first down charts 12-6 and gained control of two Stephen turnovers as Mike Fincher recovered a fumble and Rokke intercepted a pass. The Nordics were hurt by penalties, however, with three Newfolden touchdowns wiped out by infractions.

"We played real well," said Gebhart. "Rokke and Sorenson played good games on offense and the whole defensive unit did a good job."

Grygla Defense Stars In 26-0 Shutout Over Mentor

Grygla scored 20 points in the first quarter Wednesday enroute to a 26-0 North Tri County Conference football win over visiting Mentor.

Rocky Hagen, Arlo Hagen and Tom Olson scored first quarter touchdowns for the Eagles who improved their 1975 season record to 3-5 with the mid-week afternoon triumph.

Grygla jumped in front 8-0 when Wayne Thomas broke through to block a Mentor punt and Rocky Hagen, a linebacker, scooped the ball up and ran 23 yards for a touchdown. Olson added the two-point conversion.

Quarterback Gary Satre passed 16 yards to Arlo Hagen for the second Grygla touchdown.

Olson capped a sustained Eagle drive by skirting around right end from six yards out for a 20-0 first quarter bulge.

Grygla finished the game's scoring in the second quarter when Thomas again broke through to block a punt to set up a short four-yard touchdown pass from Satre to Arlo Hagen.

Penalties bogged down the Grygla offense in the second half, but the Eagle defense played well, earning its first shutout of the year. The Eagles stopped Mentor with just 88 yards total offense. Grygla recovered four Mentor fumbles and intercepted four Trojan passes.

Grygla finished the game with 168 yards rushing, with Olson supplying the bulk of that amount with a fine 110-yard effort. Satre completed four of 17 pass attempts for 37 yards. Mentor rushed for only 47 yards and added just 41 yards through the air on four completions in 15 attempts.

Grygla posted a 12-6 first down edge, but also topped the penalty yardage charts 45-30. The Eagles lost one fumble and had one pass intercepted.

"We had the momentum in the first half," said Grygla coach Jerry Lindstrom, "but penalties really stopped us in the second half."

Lindstrom cited Olson for a strong offensive game while praising the defensive play of Rocky Hagen and Thomas.

Grygla will close out its 1975 season schedule by playing a 1:30 p.m. North Tri County Conference game at Gonvick Friday.

PROWLER HALFBACK Jay Kverno was brought down by two Green Wave defenders after a sizeable gain during Friday night's Thief River Falls-East Grand Forks football game. Green Wave players Rick Galstad (20) and Tim Cash (76) combined to make the tackle on the play. Kverno rushed for 101 yards to help the Prowlers earn a 33-18 triumph.

Greater Snow Goose Numbers Increase Throughout The U.S.

Greater snow geese which winter only along the middle Atlantic coast are expected to show up in numbers so abundant this fall that the U.S. fish and wildlife service has lifted its ban on hunting this species which has been in effect since 1931.

The Interior department agency estimates the fall flight of greater snow geese should approach 200,000 birds. This contrasts with a population of about 7,000 when the ban was invoked. Credit for the recovery is attributable to years of favorable breeding ground conditions, the biological factors influencing production and the understanding and support of hunters during the decades of closed seasons.

The seasonal movement of birds, long a mystery to man, conflicts with the steady disappearance of suitable wild living space for geese like the greater snow because they are indelibly marked with the natural urge to winter in traditional locations. Cotton Mather, 17th century New England minister, unfortunately did not have the migration mystery solved when he proclaimed, "The wild pigeons on leaving us repair to some undiscovered satellite accompanying the earth at a near distance."

The U.S. fish and wildlife service's office of migratory bird management has a unique opportunity to study the greater snow geese. Unlike Aristotle, who taught that birds slept under the mud in marshes during the winter, the precise breeding areas, staging areas, migration routes and wintering areas of these species are well known because of studies conducted by the service and Canadian wildlife agencies. Spring and fall staging area population estimates based on aerial photography and ground surveys cover approximately 95 per cent of the total population. Satellite photography of the Arctic breeding grounds now provides an early indication of the year's habitat conditions and probable production success. So, a comprehensive evaluation of the annual status of the greater snow goose population is readily available.

The species restricts itself to east coast salt marshes where it prefers to eat cordgrass. The snow goose has a tendency to pull the plant out by the roots. Because snow geese often feed in flocks of several thousand birds they can denude an area in a relatively short time and create salt pans where grass will not grow again for many years. Since 1970 salt marsh cordgrass habitat has been damaged extensively in New Jersey wintering areas by feeding greater snow geese. In Virginia and North Carolina greater snow geese have taken to feeding in fields of winter wheat crops. In Canada when the greater snow geese assemble along a 100-mile stretch if the St. Lawrence River each fall before their migration south, wildlife officials fear that the natural food supply in the river staging area is not capable of supporting a larger goose population.

Greater snow geese nest in the Arctic and subarctic area of northern Baffin Island, Ellesmere Island and adjacent Greenland. Their migration south each fall, triggered by shortening days, sees them leapfrog from the Arctic region to the St. Lawrence River area of Canada in mid-September. Then as colder weather sets in and the food supply dwindles along the river the birds follow their instinctive urge to winter in the same spot their parents guided them to as young birds. In early November they fly to the salt marshes stretching along the east coast from New Jersey to North Carolina.

Management of greater snow geese consists primarily of acquiring and setting aside natural tracts of salt marshes for the wintering geese and then insuring that this natural space is not disturbed. The Pea Island national wildlife refuge in North Carolina, for example, was established specifically for greater snow geese. A total of ten national wildlife refuges dot the coast from New Jersey to North Carolina.

The greater snow goose has been hunted continuously in Canada since the migratory bird treaty convention of 1916. All hunting occurs on a 100-mile stretch of the St. Lawrence River northeast of Quebec City where the species gather prior to migration. The total Canadian annual harvest has never exceeded 7,000 birds.

The 1975 U.S. harvest is not expected to exceed 5,000 birds, with a 10,000 bird harvest considered an extreme estimate. The combined Canada-U.S. greater snow goose harvest, therefore, will not exceed ten per cent of the fall flight population. No significant limiting effects on the greater snow goose population are expected by this magnitude of harvest.

The 1975 season regulations refer to snow geese generally, because some lesser snow geese, including blue geese, gather with greater snow goose flocks on the wintering grounds. However, the lesser snow goose is the most numerous goose on the North American continent.

BOB FORBERG stretched to haul in a Mike Wiebolt pass early in the first quarter of Friday night's Thief River Falls-East Grand Forks football game. Forberg's pass reception, good for 16 yards and a first down, was only the tenth pass completion all year for the ground-orientated Prowlers who racked up 443 yards rushing enroute to a 33-18 win over the host Green Wave.

Hearings Slated On Banning Use Of Fish Finders

Senator Ed Schrom, Albany, chairman of the game and fish subcommittee of the Senate natural resources and agricultural committee, has announced two public hearings that his committee has scheduled for October 13 and 14.

Purpose of the open hearings is to hear first hand from citizens of Minnesota on the subject of banning the use of graph recorders in the state. The leghold trap bill will also be covered during these hearings to be held Monday, October 13 at Detroit Lakes' Erie Jr. restaurant, 6 to 10 p.m., and Tuesday, October 14, Walker American Legion hall, 6 to 10 p.m.

All persons interested are urged to attend. Hearings will be an open forum and those wishing to express themselves will be given an opportunity to do so.

Members of the subcommittee who will be taking part in these hearings are Senators Roger Hanson, Gerald Willet, Robert Dunn, Clarence Purfeerst, Earl Renneke and Peter Stumpf.

Senator Schrom's office has asked that Vexilar provide equipment for the hearings and demonstrations. Instruments will be provided by the company along with similar units manufactured by other firms. Prior to the hearings at Walker, actual on-the-water demonstration under fishing conditions is being arranged by Senator Schrom's office. Members of the press are invited to participate in this demonstration.

Minn. Wild Rice Production Has Good Increase

Agricultural paddy wild rice production in Minnesota this year is estimated at 1.2 million pounds of final consumer product, an increase of nearly 20 per cent and assures this state's continued domination of the North America market for wild rice.

George Moriarty, executive director of the Minnesota paddy wild rice research and promotion board, reported to the state agriculture department that this year's crop is the third largest on record for paddy production, behind 1972 and 1973 which were bumper years for all agricultural crops in Minnesota.

He estimated this year's Minnesota paddy wild rice harvest is over 90 per cent of the continental total.

Minnesota's 1975 paddy wild rice crop is valued at $3,900,000, based on the current wholesale price of $3 to $3.50 per pound for processed wild rice.

Moriarty reported that at least 25 per cent of this year's potential paddy wild rice crop was destroyed by huge flocks of redwing blackbirds that occupied most of the 12,000 acres of irrigated stands prior to and during the harvest.

He said that paddy rice farmers spent a tremendous amount of money for blackbird shoo-away activities, on top of the estimated $1.3 million loss experienced. Moriarty said one farmer spent $1,200 for blank ammunition for a repeating cannon device, and another spent $4,000 on hiring aircraft in attempts to drive the birds from the ripening rice fields.

Producer supported research is aimed at increasing yields from the present Minnesota industry average of only about 100 pounds of processed rice (from 290 pounds of field harvested "green" rice), to at least 300 pounds of final product per acre, and hopefully to an eventual 500 pounds per acre.

According to Moriarty, paddy wild rice production costs this season averaged upwards of $250 per acre, not including labor or investment factors.

The research and promotion board spokesman said that no major expansion is in prospect for Minnesota's wild rice paddy industry in 1976, due to sharply increasing costs for land, actual production and harvesting, and the lack of economic, environmentally acceptable and successful methods for reducing losses to the fall blackbird migration.

Actors To Lead Workshops For High Schoolers

Several actors traveling with the Milwaukee theater company will present workshops for area high school students on November 3 to give them some background information about theater and acting.

Members of the cast of "The School for Wives," which the company will present in Crookston at 8 p.m. on November 2, will break into groups of two or three actors per group, and will work with high school students. The actors will discuss such items as characterization and the action and reactions required of an actor, stage movement, and perhaps something on mime.

The group will meet with the students at 1 p.m. at both Crookston high school and Mt. St. Benedict. Plans are being finalized to travel to other high schools in the adjacent area as well.

Red River Valley Dairymen Ass'n. To Meet Oct. 28

Annual convention of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association will be held October 28 at the Erie Junior, Detroit Lakes, beginning with a men's and ladies' milk judging contest at 5:30 p.m., according to executive secretary-treasurer, Alma Evenson.

Dinner will be at 7 p.m. with entertainment, door prizes will be given away and a social evening will follow. All past and present dairymen are welcome to attend.

Halloween Party More Safe Than "Trick-Or-Treat"

Spooks at Halloween parties are safer than those trick-or-treating outdoors, said health commissioner Dr. Warren R. Lawson recently. Trick-or-treating hazards not only include cars and fires, but pins, razor blades, slivers of glass, drugs and poison placed in Halloween candy.

Halloween parties can be an enjoyable, and safe, alternative. The prizes and refreshments dull that sweet-tooth urge that normally drives children to raid blocks and blocks of unknown homes. Games such as bobbing for apples, pin the hat on the witch, and costume or pumpkin judging contests could fill the evening with fun.

Or check at your children's school. Some schools now plan their own Halloween carnivals.

If your children still want to trick-or-treat, take them early in the evening (before the party begins) to homes where you know the residents. The children can then be dropped off at the party on the way home. However, if driving, watch out for other trick-or-treaters.

To keep the party happy and safe for your children, keep costumes short to prevent tripping. If any trick-or-treating is done, the costumes should also be light in color and contain some reflecting tape.

Before buying commercial wigs, masks and costumes make sure they are marked flameproof. Homemade costumes can also be fire-proofed by dipping them into 16 ounces of borax, four ounces of boric acid and a quart of water. Repeat process if costumes are washed. Commercial fire-proofing preparations are also available.

Masks aren't as scary, or as safe, as real made-up faces. Use charcoal and commercial make-up to really create a witch or ghost. And flashlights, instead of candles, should be used to light up pumpkins. Candle-lit pumpkins, accidently brushed against, make good torches.

If your children do go trick-or-treating, inspect each piece of candy carefully before any is eaten. Throw away all unwrapped pieces. Dr. Lawson reminds parents that witches and ghosts are not the real terror of Halloween; modern-day ghouls passing candy out to your children can be.

A NEW TWIST on an old fund-raising idea has been developed by these members of the TRFinettes drum and bugle corps. Cindy Kjensrud, Christie Irvine and Kathy Myrold (left to right) are shown washing an airplane as a fund-raising project to purchase new bugles for the group. The TRFinettes have a new group of specialists as instructors and plan to enlarge by contacting area schools for recruitment. Three girls from St. Cloud marched with the group last year and plan to participate again this year. Girls interested in joining the drum and bugle corps should contact Mike Lehrer at Franklin middle school. A trip west is being planned for this summer on the TR-Finettes' appearance schedule.

Two Local Girls Enrolled At Oak Hills Institute

Teresa Nygard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nygard, and Leigh Ann Harris, daughter of Mrs. Joan H. Harris, all of this city have enrolled as first year students at Oak Hills Bible institute of Bemidji.

Classes began September 15 under the direction of Dean of education Frank A. Russell. The student body numbers 159, according to registrar Marian Stelling. Most are enrolled in the two-year Bible course. Eight graduate students are in the third-year program of training for vocational Christian ministries.

The students represent 13 states, Africa, France, Ireland, Norway, Japan and Colombia, South America. About 27 are following other members of their families in attending the Bible institute.

The school is non-denominational and its students' church backgrounds are in 16 or more different denominations and many independent churches. Several are the children of pastors and foreign missionaries.

Hunter And Cook Must Cooperate For Good Eating

With proper care in the field and cooking methods designed to enhance distinctive flavors, you can add good eating to the pleasures of hunting, says Richard Epley, extension meats specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Four basic rules apply to the handling of any game to prevent spoilage and off flavors: Remove entrails as soon as possible after shooting; allow air to circulate in the body cavity; cool the carcass quickly and thoroughly; and keep the meat cold until it is cooked.

One of the principles of field dressing game, particularly large animals, is to get the body heat out as fast as possible. If the air temperature is above 40 degrees, it's especially crucial to cool the body quickly by exposing it to cool air. Skinning an animal dehydrates the meat, but may be necessary to cool a large animal during mild weather.

Smear a skinned eviscerated animal with black pepper to repel insects, and wrap the meat in cheesecloth. Transport an animal on a cartop carrier or in the trunk with the door partly open, Epley suggests. Never drape big game over the hood of a car because heat from the engine can hasten spoilage.

The best cooking method for game depends on the type of animal, its age, and the part of its anatomy from which the meat comes. Most people, however, prefer game well done and served hot. Meat from animals that had fish or browse diets may require marinating to cover disagreeable flavor, Eplay says.

Bear always should be cooked to at least 140 degrees internal temperature because infected bear meat is a potential source of human trichinosis, and the trichinae are destroyed at that temperature.

Tough bear meat may be tenderized by cooking in a pressure sauce pan for two hours at ten pounds pressure or by marinating thin slices for one to three days in the refrigerator.

Johnson Attends PCA Conference In Illinois

Harlow Johnson, representing the Thief River Falls Production Credit association, spent two days at the North American lender's conference on agricultural loans held in Rockford, Ill. The topic was "Working Together for a Better Agriculture". The conference was attended by 700 lenders from 30 states and Canada.

Ten speakers emphasized the national and international importance of crop and animal agriculture. They discussed the changes in types of financing in the past 10 years. Dr. Hiram Drache, professor of economic history at Concordia college in Morrhead, graphically described the future farmer and his monetary needs.

It was pointed out that today's farmer is paying more for his supplies. Prices for his product have not increased proportionately. Farmers must decrease the cost of producing his product through labor saving and extending capital investemnts.

Jerry Parnham Competes In St. Cloud Air Meet

Jerry Parnham of this city was among the four students majoring in agricultural aviation at the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston (UMC) who recently competed at the Intercollegiate regional air meet held in St. Cloud.

Parnham placed first in both precision landing and in aircraft pre-flight, and fourth in the flight simulator contest.

There were four ground events and four flying events in the contest. Students from both two-year and four-year colleges from a four-state area participated in the annual meet, with the winning team qualifying for national competition in Daytona, Fla. UMC's team placed third overall.

Cheryl Felling Enters Air Force

Cheryl Ann Felling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luverne Felling of Route 1, Brooks, entered the United States air force delayed enlistment program on October 14, according to technical sergeant Clancy Johannesson, the air force recruiter in Grand Forks.

Airman Felling selected the air traffic control for job training and will attend a six week basic military training course at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex. beginning in March.

Community Can Help To Solve Alcohol Problem

You can help your community provide help to people with alcohol probelms. The need is there. Of the nearly 100 million Americans who have chosen to drink alcoholic beverages, more than nine million have trouble resulting from their drinking, notes the Northwestern mental health center at Crookston.

Those who have alcohol problems or suffer from alcoholism can be treated if they seek help. Further generations can be spared from needless suffering if community alcoholism prevention and education programs begin now.

How can you help? The national institute on alcohol abuse and alcoholism (NIAAA), a component of HEW's alcohol, drug abuse, and mental health administration, says in a new leaflet, "How to Help", that an important first step is to learn all you can about alcohol use, alcohol mususe and alcoholism in your home community.

Some local sources for alcohol information are mental health clinics, physicians, alsoholism treatment centers, hospitals, clergymen and members of local Alcoholics anonymous chapters. Numerous national agencies, such as NIAAA and the national council on alcoholism, can also provide factural information.

You can help build community support for alcoholism treatment services by joining citizens' groups and organizations already active in such work.

If good treatment services are available, help them to reach the alcoholic people who need them! Check on how alcoholism is handled at your place of work; publicize the phone numbers and locations where help may be found; help someone who is close to you and needs help seek treatment.

Find out how alcoholism is handled by local law enforcement agencies. A model law called the uniform alcoholism and intoxication treatment act has served as a catalyst for many states to pass laws which recognize public drunkenness as an illness, not as a criminal offence.

Although treatment is the only method of helping, today's alcoholics, prevention is the only way the alcoholism epidemic can be stopped. You can help prevent alcoholism and some of its consequences by being a good host or hostess—don't "push" drinks. . .provide food with alcohol at all times. . .provide transportation for those guests who are unable to drive safely.

Prevention programs might also be started or expanded in local schools, church groups or community groups, especially those involving young people.

For further information on how you can help your community fight alcoholism, send for a free single copy of the booklet, "How To Help." Write to: NIAAA, p.o. box 2345, Rockville, Md. 20852, or contact the Northwestern mental health center, Crookston, 281-3940.

Fire Prevention Code Adopted By Minnesota

A major step forward in the field of fire prevention and protection was provided to Minnesotans when Edward G. Novak, commissioner of the Department of public safety approved the state's first complete uniform fire code.

Under the provisions of the regulation, the State fire marshal's office has obtained a uniform and all encompassing fire code which may be universally applied to the state.

While the adoption of the state code is in itself a boon to fire safety, according to State fire marshal Wes Werner, an even more important impact of the regulation will be felt in future months when the code is adopted by individual municipalities across the state.

By approving a model-adopting ordinance available on request from the State fire marshal's office, cities and towns in Minnesota can make the provisions of the Uniform fire code applicable and enforceable to the individual community by local authority.

One of the main benefits of the code, according to Werner, is that it aligns the state with the National commission on fire prevention and control in emphasizing fire department activity on the prevention of fires rather than just the traditional role of putting out fires once they have started.

"Minnesota sustained nearly $57 million in damage and the loss of 94 lives because of fires during 1974," Werner said, "and we believe that those figures can be substantially reduced with increased emphasis on prevention, backed, of course, by adequate fire control capability.

"Extinguishing fires has been considered the primary purpose of fire departments for many years," he stated, "but full fire protection service to citizens today will require that as much attention be paid to preventing fires as putting them out. The adoption of the Uniform fire code by the state is a tremendous step forward in fire prevention and its further adoption by individual communities will prove even more beneficial in terms of enforcement."

The code, as adopted in Minnesota, is an adaptation of a model code written by the Western fire chiefs association and international conference of building officials. Amendments added by the State fire marshal's office and the Minnesota fire chiefs association localize it to the specific needs of the state.

Driving Hazards: Frost On Bridges And Windows

While it may be some time before the first snowfall brings slippery driving conditions to the state, early morning frosts are already providing Minnesota motorists with driving hazards to contend with, state patrol chief James C. Crawford warned recently.

"Early morning frost on highway bridges is a hazard that drivers experience long before the first snowfall," he said. "We mention bridges specifically because frost and condensation form on them quite easily while other sections of highway remain dry. Under these conditions a motorist can drive for miles on dry road and then suddenly encounter a very slippery condition when crossing a bridge."

The condition is particularly evident in the early morning and most hazardous to drivers who leave for work before the sun has had a chance to eliminate the problem.

Chief Crawford also reminded motorists that it is against the law to operate a vehicle with the windshield or front side windows covered with frost or condensation, a problem encountered by many drivers who leave their cars parked outside overnight.

"Frosted windows are a much greater hazard than many other defects that a vehicle may have," he stated, "since maximum visibility is a must for today's driving. Combined with a low sun in the morning or evening, even a light covering of frost or condensation on the window can produce a glare that will nearly blind a driver."

Easton Wins Bicentennial Event

Stephen D. Easton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alex Easton, has been selected as Lincoln high school winner in the Bicentennial Seniors scholarship competition, according to Whitey Olson, guidance counselor at the school.

The Lincoln competition is part of a nationwide scholarship program for high school seniors currently being conducted by the national association of secondary school principals. Runners-up in the competition are LeAnn Halvorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Halvorson, and Cheryl Wassink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wassink.

Easton's winning composition consists of a "Bicentennial Minute" and a commentary discussing the relevance of this "minute" for today and for America's future. He also scored high on a current events test given in coordination with the competition.

Steve will now compete with other high school winners to become one of two state representatives to the national competition. Two winners from each state and the District of Columbia will receive a scholarship of $1,000 and an all expense paid trip to Williamsburg, Va., from January 16-19, 1976, to attend seminars on educational and social issues and to be on hand for the selection of the national winner.

The grand prize winner receives a $10,000 scholarship and will have his "Bicentennial Minute" presented on national television.

Comprising the selection committee were Nancy Mosbeck, Lincoln junior; Marvin Lundin, Times editor; Al Remple, school district business manager; and James Kotz, Lincoln speech director.

Easton's winning entry included the following narrative for the Bicentennial Minute:

Two hundred years ago today, the Second Continental Congress in Philadelphia was locked in a bitter argument.

"The debate centered around a resolution introduced by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia and John Adams of Massachusetts. The resolution recommended that the thirteen colonial assemblies

TIMES BICENTENNIAL FEATURE

BICENTENNIAL SENIORS scholarship competition at Lincoln senior high school was won last week by Stephen D. Easton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alex Easton of Thief River Falls. Runners-up are LeAnn S. Halvorson (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Halvorson, and Cheryl A. Wassink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wassink. Steve will now compete with other school winners to become one of the two state representatives in national competition.

Two Arrested Following High Speed Pursuit

A spectacular high speed chase early Wednesday morning involving a stolen car and police, sheriff's department and state patrol vehicles began in Thief River Falls, extended 15 miles south, and ended with a crash at 417 west Third street, police chief Kenneth Froschheiser reported today.

The driver of the stolen vehicle fled the scene of the crash but was apprehended by police at approximately 12:45 Wednesday afternoon. He is described as a 17 year old juvenile from Thief River Falls. A passenger in the vehicle, Gregory W. Holmes, 18, of the city was arrested at the scene.

The incident began at 12:05 a.m., when Lloyd Knutson of the city reported that his car had been taken from his residence. A police patrol car soon spotted the vehicle at Fifth street and Horace avenue. The suspects fled at a high rate of speed and police pursued.

The car turned east on Fifth street, south on Atlantic av., west on Fourth st. and north on LaBree av. As he attempted to turn west into Third street the driver lost control, skidded across the street and struck a parked car owned by John Feragen of the city. He then proceeded west.

Vehicles from the sheriff's department and the state patrol joined the chase as the cars headed down highway one at speeds exceeding 100 miles per hour. The state patrol car caught up with the suspect about 15 miles west of town and turned in front of him to block his path. But the driver of the stolen car quickly stopped, reversed direction and headed back to the city, passing the other officers, who were afraid of causing a collision.

The high speed chase finally ended in the vicinity of Greendale Manor and Washington school, when the speeding car struck a tree and a parked car owned by Jane Oberg of the city.

Estimated damages include $1,500 to the Knutson vehicle, $1,200 to the Oberg vehicle and $600 to the Feragen car. Charges already pending against the juvenile include reckless driving, failure to stop for an officer, leaving the scene of an accident and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Commission Acts On Zoning Change

Thief River Falls planning commission met Monday evening in the city auditorium with 69-70 area residents to offer recommendations on two requests for rezoning and a request for a special use permit. Action on the commission recommendations will probably be taken at the regular city council meeting October 28.

The commission recommended approval of a zoning change brought by residents in Oakville addition in the southeast area of the city. Included in the proposed change are lots 6-28 on block one in the Belleville court area, which were a mixture of low, medium and high density zones but would be incorporated into a low density, single family dwelling zone. Lots 1-6 on block 2 would be classified as a high density zone to accommodate property owner Kenneth Berg, who has indicated plans to construct apartment units in this area.

Also recommended for approval was a zoning change requested by Burlington Northern. The railroad property between Kinney and Brooks avenues from Third to Sixth street would be converted from a public zone to a commerce-industry zone. The property had been previously classified an industrial zone, but in 1969, apparently without the railroad's consent, the area was changed to a public zone.

The commission moved to recommend rejection of a request for a special use permit which would have enabled a dwelling at 102 Markley avenue south, formerly a church, to be used as a multiple family unit despite normal restrictions imposed in a medium density zone, where the dwelling is located.

The request was brought before the commission by Pennington county sheriff Charles R. Richards on behalf of the county committee on alcohol and drug problems, which sought to develop the unit for use as a half-way house for alcoholics and drug addicts. Residents in the neighborhood presented a petition opposing the permit request.

Need Candidates For ASCS Office

With an October 28 deadline for nominations of candidates for county ASCS committeemen, names of additional candidates are needed by Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake county ASCS offices.

According to Wallace Sparby, Rodney Soderstrom, and James Holen, executive directors of the Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake county offices respectively, the names of four eligible nominees will be received at their offices until October 28. After that date the county committee will select names of eligible nominees to complete the slate.

Valid petitions must be signed by three eligible voters, must be limited to one nominee each and must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected. There will be no community committee election this year with all eligible voters in each county voting by mail for one county committeeman.

Two candidates have been nominated in each of the three counties. Incumbent Olaf Olson of Trail and Vernon Anderson of route 5, Thief River Falls, have been nominated in Pennington. Incumbent Einar Strandquist of Argyle, present chairman of the Marshall county committee, and Leonard Yutrzenka of Argyle have been nominated in Mar-

DST To End Sun. Morning

Daylight saving time will officially come to a close on Sunday at 2 a.m. and area residents are reminded to set their clocks back one hour before retiring on Saturday night. The dilemma of trying to remember which way to set clocks for the time change can best be solved by remembering the phrase, "Spring ahead and fall back". DST will go into effect again next spring under federal statute.

Arbitration On Step Increment Held This Week

Arbitration session regarding teaching contracts in the Thief River Falls school district was held Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning at the school district service center.

At issue in the grievance filed by the Thief River Falls education association is whether teachers on the faculty for the 1974-75 school year should receive step increments for the current school year. A contract agreement for the 1975-76 school term is now going into arbitration.

Attorney John Novacek for the school board and A.H. Sollom, executive director of the MEA Kramer-Brown Uniserv unit who represented the TRFEA, will have until early November to file briefs with the arbitrator who will then take the matter under advisement and issue an order which will be binding on both parties.

Board Approves Contract With Teamsters Union

Thief River Falls board of education gave approval to a negotiated contract with the Teamsters union subject to several minor adjustments at its meeting held Monday evening in the school district service center. The adjustments are being cleared with the union this week.

The contract would be for two years with the salary set for 1975-76 and re-opened for modifications for 1976-77.

In other action the board tentatively agreed to a proposal for joint purchase of the Kiewel property by the school district, city of Thief River Falls and county of Pennington, subject to report of the joint committee appointed by the three governing bodies.

John Novacek, school attorney, was designated representative at the arbitration sessions with the condition that as many board members as possible attend work sessions and hearings.

Payment of dues and fair share to the Thief River Falls Education association, designated representative of the district's teachers, was authorized by the board.

A request by Mike Lehrer, instrumental music instructor at Franklin school, to use the band room Wednesday evening from 6 to 7:15 p.m. for scheduled instruction of girls in the TR-Finettes horn section was denied. School policy states that activities should not be scheduled on Wednesday evening which is designated as church night. Lehrer stated in his request that he would encourage any student to attend church activities whenever there may be a conflict, but that the Wednesday use would facilitate his scheduling difficulties.

Resignations were received from Kathy Walter, clerical aide in the guidance department; Gene Peterson, custodian at Lincoln; and Jerome Swenson, school bus driver. Retirement was also approved for Frank Schmitz, custodian.

Hired were Mark Caputo, social studies teacher at Lincoln; Georgene Beck, guidance counselor at Lincoln; Myrna Schroeder, secretary at AVTI; Gerald Pinsonneault, custodian at the school district service center; Lori Dahle, clerical aide at the Lincoln guidance office; Mrs. Jeannette Stoltman, cook's helper at Lincoln; Arthur Brown, Gary Ellingson, Harlan Hestad, Wayne Johaneson, Pauline Johnson, Joel Kezar, Arthur Larson and Lois Philipp, school bus drivers.

Resignation was also accepted from Linda Bentson, CETA swimming pool daytime guard and authorization was given to advertise for and employ a replacement.

Kay Anderson was hired as a purchasing agent for the district.

Discussion Ends On Kiewel's Property

Persons interested in attending a stationary steam engineering course to prepare them for licensing with the state of Minnesota are encouraged to contact Dick Berry, associate director of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute at 681-5424.

The class would last from 13 to 17 weeks and a certified instructor is available to teach it if sufficient enrollment can be obtained, Berry said.

Dr. Louis Fussy

Dr. Fussy Joins Dr. Kaisler In Practice Here

Dr. Louis A. Fussy, chiropractor, has recently associated with Dr. W. P. Kaisler in his practice in Thief River Falls. Dr. Fussy was previously employed as clinic director at the Northwestern college of chiropractic in St. Paul.

Holder of a doctor's degree from the Northwestern college of chiropractic, Dr. Fussy also attended Brainerd community college, St. Cloud state college, the College of St. Thomas and the University of Minnesota. He and his wife Evelyn have a son, Michael, age 2½.

Opposition expressed by members of the Pennington county board of commissioners and the Thief River Falls city council in separate meetings Tuesday night apparently terminated all possibility for a joint agreement among the county board, city council and the board of education for the purchase of the 175 x 140 foot section of Kiewel property located west of the new law enforcement center being built on Main avenue and First street.

At a joint meeting Wednesday which included members of the three groups, it was proposed that a purchase agreement be developed for the purpose of providing a site for future expansion in a prime public use area of the city. Interim uses for the property would include office rental of the 75 x 76 foot main building and demolition of other buildings on the lot to provide spaces for city, county and possibly school parking.

Monday, the school board tentatively agreed to enter the joint agreement with the understanding that equitable terms for the purchase could be developed among the three parties.

However, at a meeting Tuesday night in the county courthouse, the commissioners rejected two resolutions on the matter. The first, which was similar to the resolution passed by the school board, died for lack of a seconding motion. Another resolution, which added another 50 feet of property south of Kiewels to the original proposal, failed by a 2-2 tie vote. Commissioners Otto Stenberg and Arthur Christianson voted in favor and Edgar Naplin and Glenn Tasa were opposed. Odin Hanson was absent.

County auditor C. W. Rodekuhr, who later visited the city council meeting in the city auditorium to inform Mayor Robert Carlson and the aldermen of the county's vote, said the commissioners didn't elaborate on their reasons for rejecting the proposal, but he indicated that the commissioners were concerned about the $93,000 cost of the property and the lack of a solid agreement regarding its future use.

The county's rejection was understood by the council members. Earlier in the council meeting, the mayor and alderman discussed similar doubts, and three aldermen, Ole Engelstad, Ambrose Wysoski and William Penning, said they wouldn't have voted in favor of the proposal if it had come to a council vote.

Engelstad and Wysoski cited considerable opposition to the proposal by residents in their wards. Engelstad said that if the three-way agreement were passed as it was then proposed, city residents would be taxed three times for the purchase cost of the property. Wysoski added that persons in his ward felt that if there was a shortage of parking in the area of the courthouse (as was reported at the Wednesday night meeting) it was primarily a county problem, and city funds should be utilized to alleviate parking shortages in the central downtown area.

Ben Franklin Store To Remain Open, Dee Says

An error in terminology used in a Times story Monday has caused confusion on the status of the present Ben Franklin store in Thief River Falls, according to owner Bill Dee.

It was reported at a city council meeting that November 1 would be the date to close the transaction involving sale of the Northern Motors building which will be remodeled for Ben Franklin store operation. The Times story indicated that November 1 would be closing date of the store in its present location.

Dee stated Tuesday that the store will remain open in its present location until sometime in April, at which time it is planned to move into remodeled facilities in the former Northern Motors building. He said the new quarters would be completely remodeled with new floor, ceiling, front and fixtures and would provide 10,400 square feet of display and sales area compared with 6,800 square feet at the present location.

Wendy L. Swanson And Thomas Goddard Wed Here

Candelabras with blue tapers, entwined with greens and ivory ribbons, formed the altar setting at Redeemer Lutheran church in this city for the afternoon wedding of Miss Wendy Leigh Swanson and Thomas Fredric Goddard.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swanson of Thief River Falls; and the groom is the son of Mrs. Avis Goddard, a former Thief River Falls resident who is now residing in Grand Forks, N.D.; and the late Morris Goddard.

Rev. John Hagberg of Strandquist officiated at the double ring ceremony. At the organ was Jody Bergland, a friend of the couple, who played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," for the processional. Brenda Laidley, accompanied by pianist Kristi Hendrickson, sang "Morning Has Broken," "You Are so Beautiful," and "Annie's Song." Lighting the candles were the bride's sisters, Jodell and Nancy Swanson.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory lace, in floral pattern, with ruffled lace on the pleated bodice, sweetheart neckline and around the cuffs of the bishop sleeves. Her only jewelry was her mother's heart-shaped locket which she wore at the neckline. Flowing from an ivory lace headpiece was a chapel-length veil topped by a double finger-tip veil. She carried a cascade of Yellow starburst mums, white daisies, stephanotis and foliage accented with dark blue wood flowers.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Susan LeMoine of Thief River Falls. Other attendants were Mrs. Julie Sullivan of Moorhead, Corlynne Swanson of this city, sisters of the bride, and Miss Sue Ann Goddard of Grand Forks, sister of the groom. They wore identical floor-length gowns of an off-white fabric featuring a floral pattern. The gowns were styled with bell sleeves, square necklines and fitted waistlines accented by a bow in the back. In their hair, they wore clusters of blue, pink and yellow carnations. Each carried a colonial nosegay of true blue carnations, pink and yellow daisies, babies breath and colored streamers. Their choker chains with pendants were gifts from the bride.

Tom Hanson, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Jon Jensen, a friend, Don Droppo of Moorhead, brother-in-law of the groom, and Bob DePiero of Thunder Bay, Ont., Canada, another friend. Serving as ushers were Danny Ray Sullivan of Moorhead, brother-in-law of the bride; Pete Sullivan, a friend of the groom; Joey Kompon of Thunder Bay, Ont., and Scott Marvin of Warroad, friend of the groom. For their attire, they selected navy blue tuxedos, light blue ruffled shirts, navy ties and true blue carnations.

Special guest at the ceremony was Mrs. Minnie Krause, a friend of the couple. She wore a floor-length gown featuring a white top and a floor-length gathered skirt of a floral print.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koop, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Swan of Rockwell, Iowa, uncle and aunt of the groom, as hosts and hostesses.

Mrs. Linda Droppo of Moorhead, sister of the groom, was at the guest book, punch was served by Jodell and Nancy Swanson.

The two-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and decorated with yellow and blue daisies, centered the serving table. Topping the cake was a cluster of fresh daisies in yellow, blue and pink, centered with a silver Christogram. On either side of the cake were heart shaped cakes, topped with white doves holding pink ribbon streamers. Mrs. Donna Manning and Doris Roewe, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Marie Erickson and Mrs. Karen Fowser, also aunts of the bride and groom.

The gifts were arranged by Miss Ruth Reed of Thief River Falls and Miss Lynda Lagergren of Thunder Bay, friends of the bride. Waitresses were Linette and Laurie Hoard and Mary and Sharon Koop, cousins of the bride.

The couple is now at home at Grand Forks, N.D., at 500 Tulane Drive, apartment 202. The bride is employed at St. Michael's and the groom is attending the University of North Dakota. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school. Photo, LeMar Photography, Crookston.

Blood Pressure Checks Available Free Of Charge

Minnesotans anywhere in the state can now find out if blood pressure checks are available without charge in their communities.

Two special telephones—one for the metropolitan free-calling area and another toll free line for outstate Minnesota—have been installed by the Minnesota department of health as part of its High blood pressure awareness campaign.

In the metropolitan free-calling area, the number is 296-5555. Outstate residents may call toll free 1-800-522-8720. The special lines will be handled by volunteers from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., seven days a week.

The High blood pressure awareness campaign was launched September 25 when Governor Wendell R. Anderson had his blood pressure checked by state health commissioner Dr. Warren R. Lawson. The campaign is directed toward the 125,000 adult Minnesotans who have high blood pressure and don't know it because there are usually no symptoms or warnings.

High blood pressure, undetected and uncontrolled, forces the heart to work harder in supplying blood to the body, according to Dr. Lawson. Over a period of time, this strain can damage the walls of the arteries and the heart, contributing to strokes and heart failure. The added pressure makes the person more likely to have heart attacks.

Although high blood pressure is not curable, it can be controlled once it is detected. When controlled, the risk of heart attacks and strokes is substantially reduced, Dr. Lawson noted. The simple blood pressure check takes only about 30 seconds.

If the Shoe Fits...
A good fitting shoe on a child or adult takes in many factors. One of the first factors for consideration is shoe length. Most parents are concerned whether there is enough toe room for growth. One of the most popular methods used is the rule of thumb measurement. Those using this method claim that if there is a thumb's width between the end of the large toe to the tip of the shoe, the shoe has adequate growing room. This method is really not too adequate for fitting shoes. After all not everyone has the same size thumb.
Others claim that you should have a half inch toe room. While this may be a little better guide, there is still just one best way to make sure of adequate toe room in a shoe. The following method is the one we use in our store for accurate fitting. That is, the use of the ball of the foot arch measure. The ball of the foot is the widest part of a normal foot and this should fit into the exact widest part of the shoe. Usually if the two coincide you have the start of a good fit with adequate growing room.

Wendy L. Swanson And Thomas Goddard Wed Here

Candelabras with blue tapers, entwined with greens and ivory ribbons, formed the altar setting at Redeemer Lutheran church in this city for the afternoon wedding of Miss Wendy Leigh Swanson and Thomas Fredric Goddard.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swanson of Thief River Falls; and the groom is the son of Mrs. Avis Goddard, a former Thief River Falls resident who is now residing in Grand Forks, N.D.; and the late Morris Goddard.

Rev. John Hagberg of Strandquist officiated at the double ring ceremony. At the organ was Jody Bergland, a friend of the couple, who played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," for the processional. Brenda Laidley, accompanied by pianist Kristi Hendrickson, sang "Morning Has Broken," "You Are so Beautiful," and "Annie's Song." Lighting the candles were the bride's sisters, Jodell and Nancy Swanson.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory lace, in floral pattern, with ruffled lace on the pleated bodice, sweetheart neckline and around the cuffs of the bishop sleeves. Her only jewelry was her mother's heart-shaped locket which she wore at the neckline. Flowing from an ivory lace headpiece was a chapel-length veil topped by a double finger-tip veil. She carried a cascade of Yellow starburst mums, white daisies, stephanotis and foliage accented with dark blue wood flowers.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Susan LeMoine of Thief River Falls. Other attendants were Mrs. Julie Sullivan of Moorhead, Corlynne Swanson of this city, sisters of the bride, and Miss Sue Ann Goddard of Grand Forks, sister of the groom. They wore identical floor-length gowns of an off-white fabric featuring a floral pattern. The gowns were styled with bell sleeves, square necklines and fitted waistlines accented by a bow in the back. In their hair, they wore clusters of blue, pink and yellow carnations. Each carried a colonial nosegay of true blue carnations, pink and yellow daisies, babies breath and colored streamers. Their choker chains with pendants were gifts from the bride.

Tom Hanson, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Jon Jensen, a friend, Don Droppo of Moorhead, brother-in-law of the groom, and Bob DePiero of Thunder Bay, Ont., Canada, another friend. Serving as ushers were Danny Ray Sullivan of Moorhead, brother-in-law of the bride; Pete Sullivan, a friend of the groom; Joey Kompon of Thunder Bay, Ont., and Scott Marvin of Warroad, friend of the groom. For their attire, they selected navy blue tuxedos, light blue ruffled shirts, navy ties and true blue carnations.

The mother of the bride was attired in a lime green polyester knit, floor-length gown. Complementing her gown was a blue and green floral chiffon floor-length coat fashioned with bell sleeves and a bow that tied in front. Her corsage was of lime carnations. The mother of the groom wore a light blue three-piece ensemble featuring a print floor-length A-line skirt and light blue shell and jacket, accented by a corsage of feathered true blue carnations, deep blue feathered carnations and deep blue star flowers.

Special guest at the ceremony was Mrs. Minnie Krause, a friend of the couple. She wore a floor-length gown featuring a white top and a floor-length gathered skirt of a floral print.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koop, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Swan of Rockwell, Iowa, uncle and aunt of the groom, as hosts and hostesses.

Mrs. Linda Droppo of Moorhead, sister of the groom, was at the guest book, punch was served by Jodell and Nancy Swanson.

The two-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and decorated with yellow and blue daisies, centered the serving table. Topping the cake was a cluster of fresh daisies in yellow, blue and pink, centered with a silver Christogram. On either side of the cake were heart shaped cakes, topped with white doves holding pink ribbon streamers. Mrs. Donna Manning and Doris Roewe, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Marie Erickson and Mrs. Karen Fowser, also aunts of the bride and groom.

The gifts were arranged by Miss Ruth Reed of Thief River Falls and Miss Lyndn Lagergren of Thunder Bay, friends of the bride. Waitresses were Linette and Laurie Hoard and Mary and Sharon Koop, cousins of the bride.

The couple is now at home at Grand Forks, N.D., at 500 Tulane Drive, apartment 202. The bride is employed at St. Michael's and the groom is attending the University of North Dakota. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school. — Photo, LeMar Photography, Crookston.

Blood Pressure Checks Available Free Of Charge

Minnesotans anywhere in the state can now find out if blood pressure checks are available without charge in their communities.

Two special telephones—one for the metropolitan free-calling area and another toll free line for outstate Minnesota—have been installed by the Minnesota department of health as part of its High blood pressure awareness campaign.

In the metropolitan free-calling area, the number is 296-5555. Outstate residents may call toll free 1-800-522-8720. The special lines will be handled by volunteers from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., seven days a week.

The High blood pressure awareness campaign was launched September 25 when Governor Wendell R. Anderson had his blood pressure checked by state health commissioner Dr. Warren R. Lawson. The campaign is directed toward the 125,000 adult Minnesotans who have high blood pressure and don't know it because there are usually no symptoms or warnings.

High blood pressure, undetected and uncontrolled, forces the heart to work harder in supplying blood to the body, according to Dr. Lawson. Over a period of time, this strain can damage the walls of the arteries and the heart, contributing to strokes and heart failure. The added pressure makes the person more likely to have heart attacks.

Although high blood pressure is not curable, it can be controlled once it is detected. When controlled, the risk of heart attacks and strokes is substantially reduced, Dr. Lawson noted. The simple blood pressure check takes only about 30 seconds.

If the Shoe Fits..

How do you achieve a good shoe fit?

A good fitting shoe on a child or adult takes in many factors. One of the first factors for consideration is shoe length. Most parents are concerned whether there is enough toe room for growth. One of the most popular methods used is the rule of thumb measurement. Those using this method claim that if there is a thumb's width between the end of the large toe to the tip of the shoe, the shoe has adequate growing room. This method is really not too adequate for fitting shoes. After all not everyone has the same size thumb.

Others claim that you should have a half inch toe room. While this may be a little better guide, there is still just one best way to make sure of adequate toe room in a shoe. The following method is the one we use in our store for accurate fitting. That is, the use of the ball of the foot arch measure. The ball of the foot is the widest part of a normal foot and this should fit into the exact widest part of the shoe. Usually if the two coincide you have the start of a good fit with adequate growing room.

4-H Commodity Marketing Meet Feb. 29 - Mar. 3

America's role in feeding a hungry world will get a lot of attention at the 25th national 4-H commodity marketing symposium to be held in Chicago February 29 through March 3.

The symposium is sponsored annually by the Chicago board of trade, donor of awards in the national 4-H commodity marketing program.

Top 4-H'ers from as many as 39 states are eligible for expense-paid trips to Chicago to attend the symposium. They will have an opportunity to see firsthand the action on the trading floor of CBT, the nation's oldest and largest commodity exchange. Also on the agenda will be visits to processing plants and marketing facilities, plus question-and-answer sessions with marketing and trading specialists.

Symposium participants are selected on the basis of their records of accomplishment in 4-H by the Cooperative extension service, which conducts the commodity marketing program.

In addition to expense-paid trips to Chicago for the winners and partial reimbursement for their chaperons, the Board of trade offers medals of honor to as many as four 4-H members in each county conducting commodity production and marketing activities. All awards are arranged and announced by the national 4-H service Committee.

Nearly 85,000 4-H members from 9 to 19 participate in learn-by-doing activities designed to give them an iside view of the marketplace. 4-H'ers explore basic marketing concepts as they apply to commodities sold in cash markets and traded in futures markets of major commodity exchanges. They apply their market know-how to ongoing 4-H projects in grain and crop production, forestry, livestock and poultry production, food-nutrition, farm management and consumer education.

STEVEN D. Petersen has been appointed manager of the Thorp Loan and Thrift company office according to Jean C. Broeren, executive vice president. He returned to his city as assistant manager, and was promoted to manager of the Hibbing branch earlier this year. He is the son of Mrs. Betty Laufman, while his wife, Teri, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ose, all of this city. The manager and his wife are the parents of one child, Keri.

Discussion On Kiewel Property Ends Tuesday

During the meeting, the council passed a resolution to provide more downtown parking spaces. The group voted to enter into a lease agreement with Sjoberg's to use the firm's lot for public parking. Cost for lease of the 50 x 140 foot lot was set at one dollar a year, with the city assuming the cost of painting signs, erecting barriers, removing snow and controlling with a two-hour limit. The agreement was recommended by the chamber of commerce downtown development committee.

The council also discussed possible increases in the salaries of the aldermen and mayor from $150 a month to $200 a month, with an extra $50 awarded to the mayor for serving as council chairman. The matter was passed to the council finance committee for a final recommendation, and the issue will be voted upon at the next council meeting October 28.

Carlson said the council, which has not received an adjustment in several terms, is seeking to achieve parity with the salaries of the school board members, who presently receive $200 per month. The mayor added that the salary increases would apply regardless of who sits on the council.

Pennington county sheriff Charles R. Richards served the council with an order from district judge Warren A. Saetre temporarily restraining a council resolution of October 14 which revoked the parking permit stickers of L. L. Hartley, district court reporter. The council had revoked the permits at the request of chief of police Kenneth Froschheiser, who had cited repeated permit abuses allegedly committed by Hartley. The judge further ordered that officials authorizing the revocation appear before the district court at 11 a.m. December 1 to show cause why the order should not be made permanent.

adopt governments representative of the people. The new governments were to protect the happiness and safety of Americans.

"Despite opposition from conservative members of the Congress, the resolution was approved.

"John Adams later called the approval 'an Epocha, a decisive event'.

'The stage was set for the Declaration of Independence."

His commentary was as follows:

We can learn many worthwhile lessons from the action of the Second Continental Congress on May 10, 1776.

We must remember that the Congress took great risks in requesting that the colonies establish new representative governments. If the Americans had lost the war, the delegates would have been tried for treason and probably executed.

This resolution, however, was needed. The majority of Congress realized this. So they took action despite possible risks. This is a lesson which can easily be applied to our times. Often we don't do something because of possible personal consequences. We hardly stop to think of whether or not it is needed.

This resolution set a precedent for the type of government the Americans would eventually accept. The resolution called for governments representative of the people. Government which represented the people was a relatively new idea. In 1776 Europe was controlled by monarchy. The Americans saw the need for representative government. This was crucial to the development of the political system as we now know it. In a large way we can thank this resolution for our democracy.

We can find still another valuable lesson in the passing of the resolution. Many opposed it, but those who saw the need for it stood up to them. No important idea is accepted without disagreement. When we know we are right, however, we should stick to our guns as the liberals in the Continental Congress did on May 10, 1776. We can't sit back and let others do our thinking for us.

The Congress realized one other important factor. They realized that government is established to protect the happiness and safety of it's constituents. They carried this theme into the Declaration of Independence. Often it seems that we tend to forget this important characteristic. We must remember that the purpose of our government is the protection of individual rights.

We have a lot to learn from the delegates to the Second Continental Congress which met in Philadelphia in May, 1776.

We also have a lot to thank them for.

In Red Lake county, Leslie Flage of Red Lake Falls has served three terms and is ineligible for reelection to the county committee. Ralph Berg of Brooks and Henry Wieland of Red Lake Falls have been nominated.

In prior years, community committeemen were elected in community meetings and they in turn elected the county committee. This year that procedure has been changed to permit all eligible voters to vote for the county committeeman. County committeeman terms run for three years with one member of the three-member committee having a term expire each year.

Sparby, Soderstrom and Holen noted that the opportunity to nominate, vote and be elected to office is guaranteed to fall farmers regardless of race, religion, sex, color or national origin. The restriction on age 70 as a maximum age has also been lifted this year.

Tuesday, October 14 at 4:27 p.m., Jeff McHam of Thief River Falls was driving north on Main avenue and crossing Second street when Debra Souto, 5, of the city ran into the side of the pickup and suffered fractures in her right leg.

Darlene Quamme of the city was identified as the driver of a vehicle which struck a light pole on the lot of the T-59 motel at 3 a.m. Thursday. Damages were estimated a $250 to her car and $175 to the pole.

Friday at 12:49 p.m., Grant Satre of Grygla was traveling west on Third street when he stopped to make a left turn into Barzen avenue and was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Paulette Bulger of the city. Estimated damages were $300 to the Bulger vehicle and $200 to the Satre car.

A vehicle driven by John Collins, TRF, was traveling through the alley behind the 800 block of Tindolph av. s. at 11:45 p.m. Saturday when he swerved to miss three dogs, lost control, struck a tree and knocked down about 10 feet of white picket fence owned by Knute Hegland of the city. Damages were estimated at $2,000 to the car and $50 to the fence.

Monday, Emil Hellquist of the city was traveling west on Sixth st. when his car struck a parked vehicle owned by Russell Culkins of the city which was parked on the north side of the street facing west.

In other cases, Mrs. Constance Driscoll reported Oct. 14 that someone had knocked down the mailboxes at 11th st. and Knight av. She added that on Oct. 4 she and a neighbor had seen two young boys going through mailboxes. The case is under investigation.

Wednesday, Oct. 15, Virgil Kohler of the city told police a tool box valued at $50 was taken from his van while it was parked either at the VFW lot or 511 Arnold av. n.

In one of several incidents reported Thursday, Mrs. Art Gutterud of the city said a car was driven around in circles on her lawn, causing ruts and knocking over a small apple tree. The case is under investigation. Sophie Osness of the city said two of her garage windows were broken, causing $15 damage. Willard Sletten of the city told police a rock had been thrown through one of his garage windows, causing $5 damage.

Upon investigation of a car theft reported by Romal Burtness Oct. 10, one of four male juveniles, 15, apprehended for the theft also admitted taking a pickup owned by Milton Battleson August 6. The Battleson pickup had been taken from behind the Soo Line depot and was found in a ditch near St. Hilaire.

In one of two incidents reported Friday, Northland Foods told police that some young boys were hauling wood in one of their shopping carts. After investigation three male juveniles, ages 13, 14 and 15, were apprehended for taking one gallon of oil, wrenches, nails and a nail apron, eight pieces of lumber and a speedometer from Wallace Leander. A local store apprehended Lillian Fournier, 57, of Red Lake Falls for allegedly taking meat items valued at $19.12.

Others in the group are Louis Nelson, 73, trombone; Joe Darensbourg, 69, clarinet; and Alton Purnell, 64, piano. Drummer is Barry Martyn, a young Englishman who brought the group together and is at least 40 years younger than the average age of his band. Land O'Lakes Cheese Plant To Open In Perham

An open house is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, November 1 at the newly expanded Land O'Lakes dairy production division plant in Perham.

A new—$5-million cheese manufacturing addition was completed this year after two years of construction. The 60,000 square foot plant is capable of handling 1.2 million pounds of milk daily from Land O'Lakes direct producers and member creameries in the Perham area and north to the Canadian border.

According to Land O'Lakes dairy production division manager Tom Haas, "The plant gives Land O'Lakes flexibility in that we are now capable of processing either nonfat dry milk or cheese and can channel our farmers' milk supply into whichever market yields the greatest return."

Managers of Land O'Lakes plants at Alexandria, Browerville, Fosston, Milaca, Roseau, Thief River Falls and Perham will attend the open house along with various voting unit and district board members and representatives of the cooperative's corporate and sales staffs.

Unique to the Perham plant is the Bell Siro II cheesemaker, a completely mechanized system which is one of the first of its kind in the United States. At no time in the entire cheese manufacturing process is product touched by hand.

To meet strict environmental standards, the Perham cheese plant is equipped with sewage handling facilities covering 256 acres. Waste material from the plant is pumped underground one mile to a 40-acre double lagoon with a holding capacity of 76 million gallons. At stipulated intervals, specific amounts of lagoon runoff are deposited over 112 acres of vegetation by means of a boom spray system.

"Pollution control," says Land O'Lakes Perham Plant Manager Ervin Vorgert, "is an important consideration with Land O'Lakes and constitutes a constant operational cost."

The new facility gives Land O'Lakes several manufacturing options for the milk received at its Perham location: Milk can be used in the manufacture of cheddar cheese which will be packed in either 40 pound blocks or barrel form. The residue from the cheese-making process—liquid whey—can be dried and converted into non-hydroscopic whey powder. —The milk can be skimmed and converted into nonfat dry milk or dairy blends. —The cream can be separated from the whole milk ane shipped to the Land O'Lakes Browerville plant for churning into butter and packaging.

Land O'Lakes is now building a feed manufacturing plant at Detroit Lakes which is scheduled for completion next wummer. Many producers in the area, thus, will receive their on-the-farm dairy feed rations from the Detroit Lakes mill and also will have a ready market for their milk at the Perham plant.

Roseau And Kittson Fires "Devastating"

The effect of 19 fires which burned over 27,500 acres of grass and forested area in Roseau and Kittson county during a five-day period were described this week by area forester Tom Adams, Warroad, as "devastating." "What is alarming is that nine of them were incendiary fires . . . set by people with deliberate intent to do harm," he told the Roseau Times-Region.

One of the deliberate fires actually endangered men and equipment, Adams revealed. This was in the Cedarbend area where some 2,000 acres were burned over.

The Cedarbend fire started on October 3. "Saturday and Sunday we would think we had it taken care of and it would pop up again. Monday we plowed furrows north of the Wilsie place for three-quarters mile and started burning toward another job. The men were doing a good job of getting it burned out when, as they burned, someone within a quarter-mile started another grass fire and endangered both men and equipment. They could see the guy going down Ditch 6 setting fires . . . they had to get out," Adams explained.

That same night, despite the strong Southeast wind and dry conditions, someone started a fire on the west side of the area which burned 2,000 acres. "There is no question about the intent. The fire was started deliberately," Adams emphasized.

The 19 fires burned a total of about 85 acres of what was considered commercial forest land. Six fires were started from land-clearing; two were debris-burning fires; nine incendiary; one was started by a hunter and one to burn off a marsh, Adams indicated.

After the big Cedarbend fire, another fire started by debris-burning threatened the Brandli farm. A combination of an available bulldozer and the Warroad Fire Department held the fire until more equipment arrived. An estimated 100 volunteers turned out to help fight this fire. Another fire near Greenbush also was controlled by a combination of volunteers and Forestry personnel.

Damage from the fires was estimated at $2,000. Of this an estimated $1,000 damage was done to a tractor near Strathcona which had tires burned off. Fire fighting costs were estimated by Adams at $2,000.

Three haystacks were lost in Enstrom township east of Salol at an estimated $300 loss. "That fire started while we were fighting the Cedarbend fire and really started taxing our efforts as we had to take men and equipment off one fire to go to another," Adams said.

He feels that quite a bit of timber may die as a result of the Brandli fire as some forested areas had considerable bad burning around the roots of the trees.

The largest fire started in Kittson County and swept over 22,000 acres and into Canada before it was brought under control. "The effects of this fire on wildlife are devastating," Adams told the Times-Region.

"The men saw lots of small animals burning. They saw deer run out of the fire and then run back in and vanish. It is such a large area we have no way of knowing how much wildlife was lost," he emphasized.

He said the full effects of that fire cannot be known since it also destroyed a vast amount of winter cover for wildlife. "There isn't enough left in some areas fur a bunting to hide behind."

Rain began to fall last Wednesday and from one-third to one-half inch fell throughout the area. "The high humidity and lack of wind as well as the low temperature eased the fire danger," Adams indicated.

He concluded that "you won't fined many days worse than last Wednesday. There were high winds, it was very dry and the temperatures were high too," he concluded.

Some of the areas have had a number of fires over the years and seem to be key problem areas, Adams added.

WELDING CLINIC!
Wednesday, Oct. 29th
— At — 8:00 P.M.

Here's a rare opportunity . . . a chance for farmers and others to learn how to save valuable time and money by doing their own welding.

With improved new Twentieth Century equipment, it's easy. We'll demonstrate it. Then we'll let you try your hand. You'll see how easily you can do a multitude of repair jobs with a versatile new Twentieth Century heavy-duty welder. Remember, it's the handy, low-cost welder with these 8 exclusive features . . .

1. Three welders in one.
2. A new AC-DC ...ting ground for faster and cleaner cutting, piercing and gouging.
3. Overhead and vertical welding easy as flat welding. Saves time.
4. Spot welding without attachements, with settings built in, for faster, stronger welds.
5. Soldering, also without attachments, with settings built in, for faster soldering without surface preparation.
6. Heavier construction — more copper and sturdier electrical steel protect against voltage loss, let you weld better, strike and hold an arc easier.
7. You get a "continuous welding" service guarantee — five years on parts, labor and repairs, twenty years on labor and repairs.
8. Battery charging with an inexpensive attachement for fast and slow charging of 6, 8, 12 and 24 volt batteries.

TRF-Crookston Meet For 56th Time

Long-time athletic rivals Thief River Falls and Crookston clash Friday at 7:30 p.m. on the Prowler athletic field in the final game of the 1975 football season for both teams.

The 56th meeting between the two football teams could prove to be one of the very best football games of the year for area fans. Crookston, 6-2 for the year, has to rate as a pre-game favorite over the 3-4 Prowlers.

However, Crookston will be coming off a tough 14-8 loss to Bemidji—a costly Pirate setback that ended the Bucs' Northwest Conference championship goal. How last week's loss will affect the Pirates' play this week is the topic of discussion for most football fans here.

Meanwhile, Thief River Falls gained some measure of "self pride and a twinge of respectability," as coach Jim Sims called it, with a solid 33-18 triumph over East Grand Forks Friday. The win over the Green Wave could very well supply enough renewed enthusiasm to lift the Prowlers over the favored Pirates.

The Thief River Falls-Crookston confrontation will be a classic match-up of a strong offense against an equally strong defense. The Prowlers present the offense while the Pirates offer the defense.

Thief River Falls has rushed for an impressive team total 1,718 yards this fall, tops in the Northwest Conference despite playing one less game than every other NWAC member because of a mid-season open date. The Prowlers average a sparkling 245 yards rushing per game and sport an eye-opening 6.3 average every time they carry the ball.

That high-powered Prowler offense is going to clash head-on with a stingy Pirate defense that has permitted only 697 yards on the ground in eight games, also tops in the NWAC. Opponents have averaged only 87 yards per game and just 2.7 yards per carry on the ground against the hard-hitting Pirate defense.

When you look at the statistics and at the same time remember that the Thief River Falls-Crookston rivalry is one of the oldest and probably one of the most intensely played series for both teams, and it adds up to one heck of a good football game. Better be there and catch some of the fireworks.

+Friday night's Thief River Falls-Crookston football game will be observed as "parent's night" here with parents of the Prowler football players being introduced at halftime. Prowler cheerleaders will be serving the parents coffee and doughnuts at the south end of the stands after the crowd introduction. "We thank all of the parents for their efforts and sacrifices they've made during the year," commented Sims.

Prowler Rushing Leaders Listed

When Lincoln high school sophomore runningback Doug Dallmann rushed for 177 yards on 15 carries during Friday night's 33-18 Prowler Northwest Conference win over East Grand Forks, his rushing total represented the fourth most productive game enjoyed by a Thief River Falls ball carrier since we began comprehensive game statistics in 1970.

Most yards ever gained by a Prowler back since our stay here was a big 182-yard game by Rob Swenson against Detroit Lakes in a 24-8 Thief River Falls win in 1970. Swenson turned the feat on just 13 carries.

Ranking second on our list is a 181-yard performance by Jerry Sandahl a year ago in a 21-12 Prowler win over Fergus Falls. He carried the ball 19 times.

Swenson also holds down third place in our single-game rushing charts with 178 yards on just 10 carries in a 45-0 rout of Park Rapids in 1971.

It was also interesting to note that East Grand Forks star Rick Beck's outstanding 199-yard effort against the Prowlers Friday ranks second on our top opponents' rushing charts.

Len Devos of Crookston leads the opposition figures with a sensational 217-yard effort in a 21-0 Pirate win here in 1973. He carried the ball 25 times.

TRF, Crookston Renew Rivalry

Thief River Falls will close out its 1975 football season Friday when the Prowlers tangle with arch rival Crookston in a 7:30 p.m. Northwest Conference game on the Prowler athletic field.

Although there are no conference titles or undefeated season on the line, Friday's game promises to be a highly competitive affair as the two intense rivals renew an ancient athletic fued that dates back to 1916.

Thief River Falls and Crookston football teams have tangled every year since 1920 and the traditional Prowler-Pirate season-closing affair has been in effect since 1953. The Prowlers hold a wide 37-15 edge over the Pirates since the age-old series began. Three Thief River Falls-Crookston games have ended in ties.

However, Crookston owns a current three-game winning streak over Thief River Falls with a 36-20 win in 1972, a 21-0 triumph in 1973 and a 34-20 decision a year ago. The current Pirate win streak in the series began after the Prowlers had reeled off eight straight wins over the Pirates from 1964 through 1971.

"This is a good, natural rivalry," volunteered Prowler coach Jim Sims. "Because of the closeness of the two communities we get in each other's hair more often, so it makes this rivalry one of the closest."

"I expect another typical Thief River Falls-Crookston game Friday," continued Sims who would like to snap the current Pirate win streak over his Prowlers. "They've played good football since (head coach Les) Drechsel has been there. We had injury problems three years ago; two years ago they had probably their finest football team; and last year the game could have gone either way—they just had more enthusiasm than we did."

Crookston is 6-2 in 1975. The Pirates lost a last-second 16-14 season-opening decision to Fargo South, but then racked up six straight wins over Grand Forks Central 6-0, West Fargo 28-0, Fergus Falls 8-7, Langdon 22-14, East Grand Forks 22-0 and Breckenridge 12-7 before losing to Bemidji 14-8 last week. The loss to the Lumberjacks ousted the Pirates from the Northwest Conference pennant chase.

Speedy Bob Ranum makes the Crookston offense move. The 5-10, 155-pound senior has rushed for 836 yards this fall and has scored eight touchdowns and 54 points. Hard-running Mike Radi, a 5-10, 175-pound senior, provides Crookston with a solid inside game.

Senior Joel Rood, 5-11, 166-pounds, quarterbacks the Pirates' T-formation offense. And Sims warns that "he can throw the football." Rood has completed 22 of 59 pass attempts this fall for 359 yards and four touchdowns.

Joel Friederichs, another senior and regarded as the Pirates' best football player at 6-2, 190-pounds, is Rood's favorite target. Friederichs has caught seven passes for 130 yards and three touchdowns. He'll also line up as a fullback and as a tackle.

"Their two halfbacks have good speed," said Sims, "and if given the opportunity they're capable of breaking one. It's just a matter of us tackling them before they get into our secondary."

Crookston prides itself in defense under Drechsel. The Pirates' ballyhooded 4-4 defense has surrendered just 58 points in eight games, a one-touchdown average. "They're very stingy on defense to say the least," said Sims. "They put eight people up front and they're real quick."

Friederichs, a tackle, also stars on defense for the Pirates. "He's a heck of a ball player," praised Sims.

Injuries have not affected the Prowlers' preparation for Crookston, pointed out Sims, although junior Mike Wiebolt will remain the Prowler quarterback in place of season-long starter Jeff Lindquist, a senior who has had ankle problems.

Wiebolt played well in his first starting assignment last week against East Grand Forks, earning the Prowler game ball as he directed the team to its highest offensive yardage production of the season—449 yards.

Thief River Falls is aiming for a .500 finish this year. The Prowlers are currently 3-4.

"We don't have anything to get tight about this week," said Sims in reference to his team's long-ago elimination from the NWAC title picture, "and neither do they. I expect a real old fashion, hard-hitting football game."

Plummer, Oklee Rivalry Decides Division Championship Friday

North Division champion in the North Tri County football conference will be decided Friday when Plummer visits Oklee for a crucial 7:30 p.m. clash between the two area rivals.

The Plummer-Oklee winner will represent the North Division against South Division champion McIntosh next week in the first annual North Tri County Conference championship playoff game. The North Tri County title contest will be played Fri., Oct. 31, at 7:30 p.m. at Oklee.

Oklee is the current North Division leader with a 7-1 record. Plummer is a close second at 6-2. A Plummer win Friday would tie the two teams atop the North Division standings, but the Cardinals would advance to the playoff game based on the win between the two teams. An Oklee win Friday would give the Bobcats outright possession of the North Division title.

"I think we'll be the underdogs," admitted Plummer coach Gary Brantl. "They've been in (important) games like this before so they probably get the nod on experience."

Despite labeling his own team an underdog, Brantl is emphatic in predicting a Plummer win. "We're going to get those guys," he insists.

"This will undoubtedly be the biggest game we've been in since I've been here," explained Brantl. "It's going to decide the division championship, and we're arch-rivals, anyway. People in both communities really back their teams."

Oklee's strong points, said Brantl include a very quick, very mobile defense, a versatile offense and a strong kicking game.

Mark Nelson quarterbacks the well-balanced Bobcat offense. John Larson, Mike LaCoursiere and Brent Strand are all solid runningbacks and Phil Fore is among the league's best receivers. Nelson also does his team's punting and "can really put you in a hole with his kicks," said Brantl.

Plummer, winner of six straight games to open the 1975 season, has lost its last two ball games to McIntosh 32-6 and Middle River 20-12. Brantl says his team can snap out of its "slump" if the Cardinals "eliminate mistakes and improve their passing game."

Hard-running senior Tom Martell leads the Plummer offensive attack that also features sophomore halfback John Greenwald and sophomore quarterback Jerry Fisher. Brantl praised the play of his offensive line, but admits "our timing is off in the backfield."

A key to Friday's game may be the health status of Plummer co-captains Dave Walter and Steve Rosten. Walter is nursing a sore elbow. Rosten has been hobbled by an ankle injury.

Other Times area games on tap Friday will find Grygla playing a 1:30 p.m. North Tri County Conference game at Gonvick, Goodridge will be at Clearbrook for a 7:30 p.m. North Tri County game and Newfolden will host Hallock in a 7:30 p.m. Top of the State Conference contest.

Late week scores from last week's MEA-interrupted area football schedule found Grygla beating Mentor 26-0 in the North Tri County on Wednesday while Roseau stopped Crookston Cathedral 14-6, Greenbush beat Warroad 21-8 and Karlstad won the Division I title by knocking off Hallock 12-0 in Wednesday Top of the State Conference action. Newfolden downed Stephen 26-6 and Argyle edged Kennedy 12-6 in Friday Top of the State games.

Prowlers First In Quadrangular Meet At Roseau

Coach Russ Smith's Lincoln high school cross country team closed out its 1975 regular season schedule Monday with a first place performance in a quadrangular meet at Roseau.

Thief River Falls won the event with a 17-point effort, followed by Crookston with 53 points, Roseau 65 and Bagley 107. The victory was the sixth Prowler win in 10 varsity meet appearances this fall.

Prowler runners swept the top three places as Dan Heieren ran a first place time of 17:17 over the three-mile course, followed by teammates Dan Kezar in 17:23 and John Albrecht in 17:45.

Andy Schnabel of Crookston placed fourth, followed by four more Prowlers as Tony Brosseau placed fifth in 17:59, Paul Phelps sixth in 17:59, Mike Nessen seventh in 18:00 and Steve Geatz 17th in 18:49.

Thief River Falls did not enter a minimum five runners to qualify for the B squad team title, but Kevin Culkin of the Prowlers finished second in the competition in 19:09, Dave Giauque was third in 19:12 and Jon Ballingrud placed eighth.

Roseau beat Thief River Falls by a 22-33 margin to win the junior high school portion of the meet.

Freshmen Edge Crookston 28-20 To Close Season

Lincoln high school freshman football team closed its 1975 season in dramatic fashion Tuesday by beating Crookston 28-20 on the Prowler athletic field.

Wayne Krueger and Jeff Kosel each scored twice for Thief River Falls. Krueger scored on runs of 23 and two yards while Kosel scored on runs of 32 and seven yards.

The Lincoln freshmen, coached by Whitey Olson and Vern Treat, closed their season with a 6-3 record. Freshmen wins were posted over Red Lake Falls 20-8, Newfolden 26-8, Roseau B squad 22-14, Middle River 38-14, Warren 14-0 and Crookston Central. Losses came at the hands of East Grand Forks 12-6, Bemidji 24-18 and the Roseau B squad 6-0.

Make-Up Testing For Skaters Set Friday, 4 to 8

Last opportunity for make-up testing under the Thief River Falls recreational skating program will be provided Friday from 4 to 8 p.m. at the city sports arena. Testing will be done on a first come, first served basis.

Make-up testing is for persons who were ill or out of town when the tests were given in classes earlier or for these who passed the beginner test early but were unable to take further testing.

Registration will be taken at the arena from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday so that skaters will know when during the 4-8 period they can expect to be tested.

Announcement was also made that a skating demonstration by the Border Blades figure skating club and the TRF amateur hockey association has been scheduled for November 8 at the sports arena.

Cross Country Saturday

Apollo Favored In Region Eight Meet

St. Cloud Apollo is heavily favored to take home championship honors Saturday when the 1975 Region Eight AA cross country meet is field at Alexandria beginning at 2 p.m.

The top five individuals and the top two teams in this week's region meet will advance to the 1975 Minnesota state cross country meet scheduled to be held Sat., Nov. 1, on the University of Minnesota golf course in Minneapolis.

The powerful Apollo Eagles are a unanimous pick for championship honors Saturday, but a five-team dog-fight is anticipated for the crucial runner-up spot.

Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Alexandria, Fergus Falls and Little Falls are expected to battle for second place.

"Nobody is going to challenge Apollo," warned Thief River Falls coach Russ Smith, "but five of us are going to battle for that second place spot, and all of us are capable of winning it."

The Prowler Region Eight AA squad members include seniors Dan Heleren, Dan Kezar and Mike Nessen; junior Tony Brosseau; and sophomores John Albrecht, Paul Phelps and Steve Geatz.

To gain a second place finish, Smith cited several deciding factors. "We've got to have Heleren grouped real solid to have a chance."

Smith expects Heleren and Kezar to do well Saturday, and he points to the final placement of Albrecht, Brosseau, Nessen and Phelps as the key to his team's success.

"Anyone who drops their fifth man back will be out of it," he warned. Five of the team's six runners count in the final team score.

Tom Poliseno of Little Falls is regarded by most observers as the top individual in Region Eight AA and he will carry the favorite roll Saturday. Apollo has three top notch runners and Little Falls boasts one individual star. However, Smith feels that Heleren is capable of cracking the state meet-qualifying top five "if he has an exceptional day."

Swimmers Win Two Meets At St. Cloud Tech

Thief River Falls won both ends of a double dual swim meet at St. Cloud Tuesday, beating host St. Cloud Tech 66-31 and splashing Milaca 74-22.

Prowler swimmers shattered nine Tech pool records enroute to their two wins which represented the team's tenth victory in 11 meets this fall.

Marci Pluth and Beth Nichols both established a pair of Tech pool records. Pluth won the 200-yard freestyle in a record 2:18.4 and took the 50-yard butterfly in a record 31.2. Nichols captured the 50-yard backstroke in a record 31.8 and won the 100-yard backstroke in a record 1:10.

Other Prowler record setting performances in the Tech pool included first place efforts by Georgi Desrocher with a 2:43.1 in the 200-yard individual medley, Deb Williams with a 37.1 in the 50-yard breaststroke and Joan Jury with a 4:46.0 in the 400-yard freestyle, along with wins by both relay teams.

The Prowler 200-yard medley relay unit of Nichols, Williams, Desrocher and Kathy Omdahl was clocked in a record 2:09.2. The Prowler 400-yard freestyle relay team of Shelly Lund, Joy Grant, Pluth and Jury was timed in a record 4:17.5.

Thief River Falls will be back in action Saturday when the Prowlers host rival Fergus Falls in a 3 p.m. dual meet in the Franklin middle school pool.

Prowler coach John Hustad expects a highly competitive meet Saturday against the Otters. "We took their championship trophy away from them in their invitational, so I'm sure they'll want revenge," warned Hustad. "They've got some very strong individual swimmers, but maybe not quite as much depth as we've got. It should be a real good meet."

Thief River Falls closes out its 1975 regular season schedule when the Prowlers host Detroit Lakes at 4 p.m. Tues., Oct. 28.

Rams, Hornets Are Favored In Region 8A Race

Crookston will be the host site for the 1975 Region Eight A cross country meet scheduled to be run tomorrow (Thursday).

Prowlers Challenge For NWAC Statistical Titles

Final games of the 1975 football season will be played Friday by four Northwest Conference teams as Thief River Falls hosts Crookston, Fergus Falls entertains Breckenridge and East Grand Forks is at home against Langdon, N.D.

Bemidji will also be in action Friday as the Lumberjacks play host to Brainerd, but unlike the other NWAC members, Bemidji will not close out its season this week.

The Lumberjacks, crowned 1975 Northwest Conference champions last week following a 14-8 win over Crookston, will represent the Northwest Conference against Montevideo of the West Central Conference Fri., Oct. 31, at Montevideo in the annual Northwest-West Central post-season conference playoff game.

Bemidji is also harboring hopes of landing a Class A state playoff berth. Wins over Brainerd and Montevideo during the next two weeks should put the Lumberjacks into the state playoff system beginning Fri., Nov. 7.

The season's final Northwest Conference game this week matching Thief River Falls and Crookston might be an important factor in the league's individual statistical winners.

+Bemidji teammates Wayne Marty and Lee Hanson continue to lead the Northwest Conference scoring charts with 36 and 30 points, respectively. However, Doug Dallmann of Thief River Falls has moved into a challenging position for the league's most coveted individual crown with 27 points. Marty is the scoring leader in all games by a wide margin with 88 points. Bob Ranum of Crookston has 54 points in all games.

+Hanson and Marty also rank one-two in the NWAC rushing charts with 376 and 323 yards, respectively. Rick Beck of East Grand Forks has climbed to third with 312 yards. However, another Thief River Falls ball carrier—Bryan Olson—has climbed into title contention with 306 yards. Ranum is the overall leader with 836 yards. Beck has 767 yards in all games and Marty has 748.

+Scott Selk of East Grand Forks has taken over the conference leadership in passing yardage. The Green Wave quarterback has completed 19 of 45 attempts for 294 yards. Jeff Eidsmoe of Bemidji has hit 19 of 38 tries for 291 yards. Eidsmoe is the overall leader with 37 completions in 63 attempts for 582 yards. Chuck Welle of East Grand Forks has 24 completions in 46 tries for 385 yards.

+Jack Schwartz of Bemidji leads the conference in pass receiving yardage with nine receptions for 141 yards. Beck has caught five passes for 131 yards. Cameron Kolle is the overall leader with 15 catches for 327 yards. Schwartz has 18 receptions for 311 yards.

+Brian Peterson of Thief River Falls continues to lead the Northwest Conference in punting with seven punts for a 38.6 yard average. Bryan Nelson of Fergus Falls has punted 11 times for a 36.5 average. Schwartz is the overall leader with 18 punts for a 34.3 average. Peterson has punted 17 times for a 34.1 average and Jeff Pester of Crookston has punted 28 times for a 34.1 average.

+Marty is the NWAC leader in punt return yardage with seven returns for 87 yards and a 12.4 yard average. Jon Erickson of Fergus Falls ranks second with three returns for 40 yards and a 13.3 average. Marty is an easy leader in all games with 16 returns for a whopping 257 yards and a glittering 16 yard average. Erickson has returned nine punts in all games for 94 yards and a 10.4 average.

+Dallmann has taken over the conference leadership in kickoff return yardage with six returns for 185 yards and a 30.7 yard average. Erickson ranks behind Dallmann with six returns for 128 yards and a 21.3 average. Erickson is the overall leader with 16 returns for 277 yards and a 17.3 average. Dallmann ranks second with 10 returns for 254 yards and a 25.4 average.

Mike Wiebolt Is Winner Of LHS Game Ball Award

Quarterback Mike Wiebolt, in his first varsity starting role Friday, was awarded the game ball by the Lincoln high school football coaching staff for his role in directing the Prowlers' 33-18 win over East Grand Forks.

Three Prowler ball players earned spots in the team's "100 yard club" against the Green Wave as Doug Dallmann rushed for 177 yards, Bryan Olson gained 164 and Jay Kverno added 101. All three ball carriers also added additional yardage on kickoff returns, headed by Dallmann's two returns for 61 yards.

Several other weekly award presentations were also announced as Dallmann, Olson and Kverno were all recognized for scoring touchdowns, a feat Dallmann and Olson accomplished twice; Kent Ehrenstrom was cited for outstanding coverage on one play; Chris Biegner and Kevin Anderson were both lauded for fumble recoveries and for sacking the passer; and Duane Gonsorowski was credited with blocking a conversion kick.

Biegner and Anderson shared the top sopt in the Prowler defensive point scoring charts against East Grand Forks. Both ball players were credited with a fumble recovery, a quarterback sack, one unassisted tackle and six assisted tackles for 30 points.

Terry Sullivan totaled 22 defensive points; Brian Peterson, Ehrenstrom and Tim Rude 20 each; Gonsorowski 18; Mike Kosel 14; and Wiebolt, Olson and Mike Wigness 12 each.

In another development, it was learned that Kosel's name was inadvertently omitted from last week's list of award winners when he was presented with the game ball following the Prowlers' 33-14 loss to Fergus Falls.

NOBODY IN THE FIRST WARD LIKES TAX INCREASES.

THE QUESTION IS, HOW DO YOU PREVENT IT?

Roger Worth says that the way to start is by watching what we spend now so we don't have to raise the money later.

He says we can do that by examining each city project on its own merits. By utilizing existing space and resources rather than creating new ones.

Roger Worth calls it "Fiscal Responsibility." Other people call it "good sense."

That's why Roger Worth should remain the City's First Ward Alderman.

1975 Minnesota Pheasant Season Starts Saturday

Minnesota's pheasant season gets underway Saturday, the department of natural resources reminded hunters but prospects are far from good.

State-wide, the fall pheasant population is down about 50 per cent from 1974. But severe winter weather early this year resulted in considerably greater losses in the southwest and western part of the state; the decline in the central, east central and southeast pheasant range was less drastic.

Limits are two roosters per day and four in possession. Hens are completely protected from the gun. Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset.

The DNR reminds hunters that they must secure permission from private landowners before entering any fields growing crops or stocked with cattle.

Several hundred state wildlife management areas are located within the pheasant range and are open to public hunting unless otherwise posted. In many area, such sites offer the best pheasant hunting available since they support virtually the only remaining natural cover in some intensively cultivated counties.

Once Minnesota's "king of game birds", the pheasant has declined in numbers drastically during recent years, primarily due to changes in farming practices resulting in loss of habitat.

Another problem recently has been the weather with severe winters and wet cold springs affecting pheasant survival and reproduction.

The DNR has tried various measures to improve the pheasant situation such as encouraging private landowners to set aside a few acres of cover for nesting areas. The latest program is aimed at management of roadsides which produce up to 50 per cent of all pheasants now being hatched in the wild.

Such programs have enjoyed only limited success due to high prices being received for farm crops and demands from some farmers that they be allowed to cut hay from the roadsides and spray them to kill "weeds."

Although DNR wildlife managers haven't given up on the pheasant, they admit the outlook is bleak so long as row crops like corn and soybeans are planted to such an extent that little farmland remains for hay and small grains.

"Our single worst habitat problem is next cover," said Roger Holmes, DNR wildlife supervisor, "and there just aren't any nesting sites in soybeans or corn."

Department enforcement officials reminded hunters that Douglas county is closed to pheasant hunting again this year.

Women comprise 1.9 per cent of the nation's veteran population. Of the 562,000 female veterans of the Armed Forces, 117,000 are Vietnam-era veterans. About 15,000 have entered civil life during the past year. The total number includes 300,000 World War II veterans, 75,000 from the Korean conflict, 13,000 from World War I and the Spanish-American War, and 57,000 who were in service between the end of the Korean conflict and the beginning of the Vietnam-era. About 505,000 served during wartime periods; 428,000 are married, and 58,000 are heads of households. By age, the largest grouping (111,000) is in the 50 to 54 years range.

READY FOR USE is the new elevator built by the St. Hilaire Cooperative Elevator association. Plans were made to use the elevator for the first time on Monday but an electrical problem in operation of the grain movement equipment forced postponement of unloading the first load of grain. The elevator includes new offices and a feed storage room in addition to the grain storage and handling area.

Vatsaas Herd Is Tops In DHIA Test For July

Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the Pennington county dairy herd improvement association, places the following herds at the top in the association of the month of July, with average daily pounds of milk and butterfat per cow listed respectively: Duane Vatsaas, 43.8 and 1.58; Hamrick Bros. 43.1 and 1.68; Donald Erickson 42.3 and 1.57; Duane Krohn 41.5 and 1.52; Chester Gast 40.4 and 1.48; Mylo Carlson 39.5 and 1.58; Gene Nelson 39.4 and 1.55; Marlan Augustine 39.4 and 1.54; Clyde Swenson 37.8 and 1.34; and Darrow Lundeen 36.9 and 1.32.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd since the amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for the month may be low, even though the cows which are milking have high production.

There were 35 herds on test in July with a total of 1,452 cows in the Pennington association.

Five cows finished lactation in July with over 600 pounds of butterfat produced during the testing year in a 305-day or less lactation. They were from the following herds: Martin Hanson, 18,110 lbs. milk and 699 lbs. butterfat; Martin Hanson 17,160 and 618; and Martin Hanson 17,980 and 652; Mylo Carlson 14,080 and 628; and Duane Vatsaas, 17,010 and 633.

MAKING PLANS

Do you like to build things . . . a bird house or a skyscraper? If you are such a person, you know that plans are involved, often difficult ones. Usually we use the drawing board before we start building.

Making plans may be called foresight or looking ahead — and we all know that this is necessary whether building an object or building your life.

As you make plans for the future, don't overlook one of the most effective and time-honored aids in building a strong character — your church! Like millions before you, you may find just what you need to make your plans succeed.

Achieve success? This is what we all want and what we plan for. Start your planning now by going to church next Sunday.

TRICK OR TREAT?
Every year we seem to read of some tragic accident or hostile act involving young children out trick 'n treating on Halloween night. Poisonings are the most common situations. For any problem (real or suspected) you should seek emergency aid immediately.
It is our sincere hope that these unfortunate occurrences can be avoided. One important way is not allowing your children to eat anything that does not come in a manufacturers sealed package. Unwrapped candy, fruit, gum or any other edibles should be disposed of promptly. Don't guess!
